TOO MUCH BRIDGE AT THE SEASHORE CAUSES "BRIDGITIS"

Society Matron Picks Up Knitting Needles in Self-Defense—Weekly Dinner-Dance at Cape May Yacht Club—Doings in Wildwood and Avalon

SEASHORE fashionables have a new ailment. They call it "bridgitis," and, as its name implies, it is caused by an overindulgence in the unempirical game of bridge. Some of the matrons who have been entertained a great deal this summer have given up card playing for a week or two and have gone in for knitting, because the manipulation of the knitting needles is considered so restful. As one of the most popular hostesses expressed it: "You don't have to concentrate and you don't need to count."
