MEIGS ARRAIGNS TRADERS FOR NOT SUPPORTING PORT

Hopes of Making It One of Greatest in Vain if Shipping Goes Elsewhere

ADVANTAGES ARE KNOWN

Chamber of Commerce Will Work for Co-operation of City and State

Marchants and manufacturers of Penisylvania and Philadelphia must be aroused to the necessity of importing and exporting their goods through their "home" port. If they are not all hopes of making this one of the greatest ports in the world will be vain, and all of the vast improvements under way and contemplated will be for naught, according to Director Meigs, of the Department of Wharves, Docks and Ferries.

Director Meigs expressed these senti-

Director Melga expressed these senti-ments in a letter he sent today to Ed-ward F. McSweeney, chairman of the Port Directors of Boston, in answer to the latter's request for the "greatest im-mediate problem" confronting the port authorities of this city.

Mr. Meigs also sounded a clarion call for the various trades to begin an active campaign to obtain freight to be shipped through Philadelphia. More freight, he contended, means more ships and better and faster service. He severely arraigned business men who verbally sounded the praises of the port and city and then shipped out of New York.

The letter was submitted to the Chamof Commerce for its approval, and N. Kelley, speaking for the Executive Committee of that body, said that unjust ratiroad discrimination and fear of biz corporations restrained new lines and drove other lines out. He piedsed the support of the Chamber of Commerce to in any movement that would assist port.

MUST PUT FAITH IN PORT After showing the physical needs of ne ports and praising the support given the authorities in the improvements, Director Melgs wrote:

"The one greatest problem before us. however, is to make our own citizens, both of the City of Philadelphia and the State of Pennsylvania, realize these ad-vantages, and to persuade them to put their faith in the port and transact their maritime business through it. There is a constantly and automatically growing maritime commerce coming to our shores which is bound to continue to increase enormously every year—except during such periods of unparal-eled commercial disturbance as we are now passing through-the administrative agents of which freight movement must find physi-cal accommodations for handling the same. On the principle of the old saw. that 'nothing succeeds like success' most of this growth in the marine freight ment gravitates automatically tyork, instead of to other Atlant coast ports where-considered with reference to its origin or its destination in the back country—it might more properly belong.

TERMINAL COSTS LESS HERE. "Much of this freight is subject to con-siderably larger terminal costs in New York than it would be here, but this af-fects mainly the transportation com-panies rather than the shippers, as the combined occan and rall freight rates are the same to most European course of the the same to most European porte either through this city or through New York. The service from New York is now to incontestably better in respect to both speed of passage of steamers, and frequency of sallings, for which reason a very large percentage of our own merchants prefer to ship exclusively through that city. As a typical example, one of the ing, and business connections, full of local patriotism and verbal enthusiasm, neither of them handle many pounds of their enormous import and export business through their own home port; New York is too convenient

The New York habit is very strong in the minds of both shippers and transportation companies, and its prestige as the world's greatest scaport is such that tremendous quantities of freight are routed via New York for no better reason that that New York for no better reason that that New York occurs first in mind when ocean shipments are under consideration. It seems reasonable to believe that the ocean transportation companies would not needlessly subject themselves to the large operating, expenses incidental to the large operating expenses incidental of the maintenance of New York terninals over those that they might estabten at Philadelphia, provided they could obtain the same amount of freight here that is offered in New York.

THIS IS LOGICAL PORT.

"Philadelphia is the logical ocean outlet for a very large producing and consuming territory, and if the goods produced or consumed in this territory were handled over Philadelphia's wharves its foreign commerce would be doubled. Our most immediate problem is to persuade producers and consumers in this territory to use their natural home port, and to see to it personally that their goods are shipped through it. It is not to be expected that any appeal to their feelings of local patriotism in this connection would have any effect if the giving way to such a sentiment would affect their pocketbooks. Corporations are proverbially soulless; in business matters the individual is equally so; and it would be too much to ask of them to actually risk the sacrifice of customers and dividends by patronising poor stammship service for the benefit of the mero upbuilding of the port; but Philadelphia's steamship service is not poor and under proper urgins these shippers should be willing to agree to book all ordinary freight, for which extreme expedition of movement, such as can only be had through expressabilp service, is not a primary desideratum, by their home port.

"By a vigorous campaign through Philadelphia" is the support of the port. THIS IS LOGICAL PORT.

'By a vigorous campaign through Philadelphia's newly reorganized Chamber of Commerce and other commercial organisations, it is hoped to be able to make a personal appeal for port support to every manufacturer and large or small shipper in Pennsylvania and adjacent states who can be reached. This should result in the prompt increase of freight offered to lines which how have service through this port, and, naturally, when this increase is large enough, will be followed by the placing of more ships in service in the present established lines and the initiation of new lines as soon as the growth of business would make competition profitable.

"ON EVE OF EXPANSION." "ON EVE OF EXPANSION."
"I firmly believe that if a modicum of memoretal intelligence is devoted to a snacientious campaign of this kind Philipelphia is on the eve of a tremendous spansion of its maritime commerce. And his is our most preasing problem, to taken in the individual citiann his repussibility in the upbuilding of the port."
In reply to Mr. Meige' request that the humber of Commerce should be foretraters in the compaign in spage ted. N. H. Celly said:

"I heartly approve of what you have as may be inaugurated, even though the service is not equal to that of New York, so that said service can be built up and extended.

CORPORATIONS RILL SERVICE.

"Philadelphia, of course, is seriously handleapped because of the fact that there handlenpped because of the fact that there are many ports that cannot be reached direct by steamer from Philadelphia. Another factor which prevents the building up of steamship lines from the port of Philadelphia is that as soon as you get some firm or corporation interested in the satablishment of a line, the larger corporations, smiling from New York, with ratiroad affiliations, do everything possible to kill the service from the port, either by reducing rates or putting on more steamers.

"A good illustration of the conditions existing in Philadelphia might be gathered from the withdrawal of the Amerlcan-Hawatian Steamship Line. has been carrying cargo to Philadelphia from San Francisco, thence going to New York to discharge the balance of its cargo, Because of the fact that they have compelled to discontinue the service to Philadelphia, yet continue a service to Charleston and Norfolk-both ports being far inferior to Philadelphia from a cargo standpoint, either east or west bound. Norfolk takes a lower differential than Philadelphia, which therefore would per-haps induce business through that port. but on local tonnage between the two parts there would be practically nothing, while between Philadelphia and San Fran-cisco there is an immense tonnage.

"There are a number of other reasons that I could quote that would perhaps tire you in so doing. I therefore shall close by saying that the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce has been, and will continue to do, everything possible to secure the co-operation of business through the city and State to patronize steamers sailing from the port of Philadelphia as sailing from the port of Philadelphia, as well as taking up any discriminations that may exist on the part of the rail-roads in making rates through the port of Philadelphia in competition with an other seaboard city on the Atlanti-coast."

LA GUERRA IMMINENTE

Continuano le Operazioni Offensive del Generale Cadorna Contro Gorizia e Tolmino

ROMA, 20 Agosto. Continua e progredisce il movimento di avanzata delle truppe italiane verso le fortezza di Gorizia e di Tolmino, che difendono la forte linea dell'Isonzo. mentre gli aviatori austriaci cercano di spiegare una maggiore attivita', senza riuscire nel loro scopo perche' la loro azione e' sufficientemente neutraliszata daile artiglierie italiane.

Ecco il testo dei rapporto del generale Cadorna come esso fu pubblicato ieri sera dal Ministero della Guerra:

"Nel settore di Tonale (Tirolo occidentale) la nostra artiglieria ha gravemente danneggiato il austriaco

Mentre il generale Cadorna cerca di venire ad una conclusione per quanto riguarda la lotta sul fiume Isongo, in questi circoli bene informati si ritiene essure imminente e certa la partecipa-zione dell'Italia alla campagna contro la Turchia. Questa opplique e' conferente. Turchia. Questa opinione e' confermata del resto dal fatto che sono in corso preparativi che non possone che essere diretti contro la Turchia. Si sa infatti che nelle Puglie si trovano, pronti a pren-dere imbarco ben cinque corpi di armata. Essi si tengono pronti a partire per ignota destinazione. Si tratta di 200,000 uomini equipazgiati ed armati di tutto punto, come informano dispacci giunti qui da Brindigi.

Telegrammi giunti da Taranto dicono pure che in quella base navale e' stata concentrata una forte squadra di incro-ciatori veloci, che sitiene pronta a parchatori veicci, che sitiene pronta a par-tire immediatamente dopo averne rice-vuto l'ordine da Roma. Si crede che questa squadra sara' inviata contro la Turchia nel casso che questa rifuti di dar-sodisfazione alle domande dell'Italia e lasciar liberi di partire i sudditi italiani che si trovane tuttora nel territorio dell'-limpero ottomane.

Il Giornale d'Italia e la Tribuna pubbli-cano dispacci da Salonicco nei quali e' datto che le autorità' turche, oltre a pro-ibire agli italiani che gi trovano a Smirne di partire alla volta dell'Italia hanne imposto su tutti gli atranieri, e conse-guentemente anche sugli italiani, una fazza di guerra che casi non avevano mai prima avuto il devere di pagare. Italian Troops Make Further Progress in Offensive Against Tolmino. Advance in Western Tyrol Turkey at once Five army corps (200,000 men) concentrated in Apulia (southern Italy), have been ordered to be prepared to leave for an unknown destination.

A strong squadron of fast cruisers is being held in readiness to steam from here at a moment's notice. It is expected that the warships will be sent against Turkey if that country declines to satisfy Italy's demands for the release of Italian subjects held in the Ottoman Empire.

The refusal of Turkey to allow 8000 Italians inhabiting the Smyrna district to leave has caused boundless indignation throughout Italy.

Despite the strict press censorship it is known that the situation in Tripoil is critical and that the revolt of the Arabs Government. After the Cabinet council tomorrow it is expected that the Turkish Ambassador will be given his passports and t at war will be declared.

GASOLINE UP A CENT: COST TO MOTORISTS. $912,500 PER YEAR Increased Price Due to Advance in Crude Oil at Fields.

Caused by Scarcity of Fuel

HOPE FOR FRESH WELLS

Rate on Raw Product Mounts Forty to Sixty Cents a Barrel

Following an increase in the price of gasoline of one cent a gallon, automobile owners of this city and its suburbs are paying more than $500 daily to distributers of the fluid over what they have been paying in the past.

The new rate went into effect Monday, when the Atlantic Refining Company announced an increase in price to 14 cents a gallon. Other companies of the city followed immediately, and by Tuesday night all the larger distributers had established the one-cent increase on all grades of the product. According to W. D. Anderson, secretary of the Atlantic Refining Company, the increase is effective in all parts of eastern Pennsylvania, and is due to a very decided increase in the price of crude oil at the Midcontinental, Pennsylvania and Ohio oil fields. He explained that the first increase at the fields occurred about two weeks age and originated at the Midcontinental field in a rise of from 40 to 80 cents on each barrel of crude oil (about 42 gallons) and was caused by a scarcity of the fluid. The Pennsylvania fields, owing to the increase in demand, announced an increased price of 20 cents on the barrel and the Ohio fields an increase of 5 cents.

fields an increase of 5 cents.

"We stood the burden for two weeks," Mr. Anderson sald, "but were finally obliged to protect ourselves. The crude oil output was diminished by 150,000 barrels a day, and it is impossible to say how long the condition will last. Possibly a rich well will be struck in the near future which would increase the supply and lower the price."

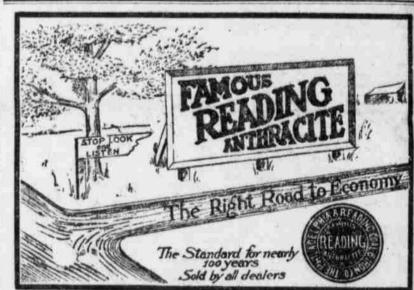

At the office of the city statistician it was said today that more than 20,000 automobiles are owned and operated in this city, each consuming at a conservative.

city, each consuming at a conservative estimate five gallons of gasoline daily. This would show that automobile owners living in the city are affected by the in-crease to the extent of $1000 daily.

It was also estimated that 30,000 automobiles are owned and operated in the immediate vicinity of the city, many of them using the city streets. On the same basis such owners are affected to the extent of $1500 daily by the increase. The total yearly cost for the consumption of $1,250,000 gallons over the previous cost will be $912,500.

THE FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH

"Ponce de Leon is the little fellow who didn't want to grow old." said a friend, wishing to correct last week's reference to De Soto and the Fountain of Youth. The critic's knowledge was limited. The search for the Fountain, which restored vigor and gave fortune and fame, was a sixteenth century craze; Ponce de Leon, De Soto and many others went on the quest. * * Their fountain in Florida existed only in fabulous rumor. There are, nevertheless, actual fountains of youth wherever there are means to refresh the mind and restore to old folks the child's capacity for sheer pleasure.
