NEXT MEXICO CONFERENCE SCHEDULED FOR TOMORROW

Latin-Americans Expected to Demand Recognition of Carranza Claims

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 .- Secretary of State Lansing and the six Latin-American envoys will resume their conferences on Mexico here tomorrow. Ambassador Naon, of Argentina, conferred with Sec-retary Lansing today. They decided on the time of the meeting. Word was at once sent forth to the several envoys. Opinion in Washington official circles divided as to what action will be en at tomorrow's conference. The majority believe most of the Latin-American envoys will demand that Carranza be nized and allowed to work out Mexico's salvation. Secretary Lansing is known to have discussed this matter with the President at their conference today, No word could be obtained as to their decision. Secretary Lansing would not

THE WEATHER

Official Forecast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. For eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey-Fair tonight and probably Tuesday; not much change in temperature; light variable winds, mostly south.

The Western cool area drifted across the Lake region and is over New Brunswick this morning, having passed so far to the northward that its influence was barely noticeable in Philadelphia. High temperatures prevail in the Middle At-lantic States and the Ohio basin, with a half of the country. The only immediate hope for a breaking up of the oppressive heat lies in the possibility of an increase of barometric pressure to the northeast, a condition that is extremely difficult to anticipate.

Fair and Track Events Open Attell, Coffey and Ritchie Say Chicagoan Won-Gibbons Leaves for Home With $16,000

> NEW YORK, Sept. 13 -- The McFarland-Gibbons fight was still the chief topic of conversation in Gotham sporting circles. and if anything was even a more popular theme than it was Saturday. The consensus co opinion was wnolcheartedly that the Chicago man deserved the decision, although there was not much inclination to give Packey great gobs of credit, because of his light punching. Few, however, questioned the fact that Packey landed two blows to Mike's one. light as they were.

that Packey won, sports writers and critics were virtually unanimous in the belief that Gibbons can attribute his de-feat to making 147 pounds. Gibbons looked drawn in the ring-there wasn't an ounce of fat on him, while McFar-land was sleek and smooth.

Opinions of fighters themselves who witnessed the match were in favor of Mc-Farland. Abe Attell, former featherweight champion, thought McFarland won, as did Jim Coffey, the Dublin giant, and others. W.Jie Ritchie, American lightweight champion, thought it was 'abour a draw, with the shade, if any, to McFarland."

Gibbons left for his St. Paul home yesterday over $16,000 richer for his 30-min-utes' work. His share of the purse was $15,000, and added to that was $1200 for moving picture rights. McFarland's takedown was $17,500 for his work and about $1200 for the pictures.

DRAFTING BEGINS WEDNESDAY

Major Leagues Will Claim Players From Minors This Week

The major league drafting season will open on Wednesday, and while all the big circuit clubs will try their luck in the draw, the various ball scouts declare that the cream of the minor organizations has been secured by sale or other arrangements.

The opening and closing dates for the minor leagues are as follows: Class AA, September 22-27; Class A, September 30-October 5; Class B, October 7-12; Class C. October 15-20.

The major leagues will pay from $2500 down to $500 a player, according to the class of league from which he is drawn. Class AA clubs and those below this rating also have the privilege of drafting from the leagues of still lower standing at a similar descending scale of prices.

BLUM STORE ATTRACTIONS

Smart Selections of Fall Millinery Await Visitors

A smart selection of attractive French millinery is being shown today at the Blum store, 1319 Chestnut street, and hats of all shapes and sizes are in evidence The large hats are principally for even ing wear, while the smaller shapes do duty for the street.

Black velvet is the most popular, while dark African brown and midnight blue hold their own. Directoire shapes in all beaver will have a very ready sale, for silk beaver enhances the appearance of any woman.

One exquisite model on exhibition at this store is of French design and fash-ioned of gold lace with a fluted edging of beaver. The crown is of black panne velvet, encircled by a stiff white ribbon and a heavy gold cord. The beaver gives an added touch of richness to the Beaver and opposum will be much used as trimings on millinery this fall, for the edging of hats and also for the fashion-ing of those dainty little pompons one aces everywhere.

Another exquisite model was of tri-come shape, with a double brim, and circled by a beautiful silver cord with heavy tassels. A little mandarin hat of silk beaver noked exceedingly original, with large beaded tassels hanging from the side. All the hats were remarkably good looking, and their variety exceptional.

GEORGE ALLEN STORE

An interesting opening is held today at George Allen's, 1214 Chestnut street, where hats in infinite variety of goods are on view. Most of these are French, and smart black velvet hats, trimmed with stiff wings, occupy a prominent position in the store.

One wonderful chapeau from Vasselin Vittetard is of taupe plush velvet, with a bird to match. The shape is large and with a sailor tendency.

Another charming French hat is of sliver lace, trimmed with Paradise plumes. This would be the very thing for the afternoon bridge or for evening

Gold lace is also very popular for the making of the new millinery. It has a very dressy look and wears well. One large model is of gold lace, trimmed with Paradise and edged with heavy black bound with black velvet and trimmed with gold roses. Fur also orna-mented the hat with great effect. Mangin Maurice has created a lovely little black velvet toque, bound around the crown and edge with ostrich feathers Another lovely model is from Jeanne Laurin—a large white satin sailor, suitebed with black thread and faced with black satin. A white heron adorned the front of the crown.

BLACK AND WHITE SHOP

Elegance, Originality and Beauty Pervade Opening

Today's opening at the Black and White Shop, 125 South 18th street, is exceedingly attractive, and the millinery is exceptionat. Large hats are offered for evening wear and all dressy occasions, while small shapes are considered "de rigeur" for the street.

A specialty is made of the small hats for older women and the smart little turbans which are so becoming to the Simple trimming is the keynote of most of the hats here, richness in material and originality of line being prominent fea-tures of the opening. Silk beaver is shown in every size and slik beaver is shown in every size and shape. Many of the models are of gold and sliver, and these have a light and airy appearance. Touches of fur on these models lend a charming aid to the whole and give them the right note of richness and elegance.

Police Court Chronicles

There is nothing better to drink in the norning than nice fresh cream, at least Hattle Rodrigues thinks so. she halls from sunny Spain, a land where wine and coffee are more in demand than ordinary cream, Hattle declares that than ordinary cream, Hattie declares that nothing excels a sip of cream, especially when it comes from a bottle which has just been opened. Her mania for cream led the pretty Spanish girl to sample that which was left on door steps along Federal street, near 23d. She put two bottles inside her waist and two mere in a large pocket in her skirt, made for nearby lot, after taking a loaf of bread to make a meal.

But Hattle was unaware of the fact that she was being trailed by three milkmen. One of them saw her remove a bottle of milk from a step and told the others. As all three had lost many quarts of milk, and incidentally had frequent quarrels with customers because of the disappearances, they were equally interested in the capture of Hattle.

"The moraing milk raiders cause more trouble and profanity than anything else I know of," said the "judge."

Hattle turned her liquid eyes toward him, and for the moment she was the picture of innocence. Then her lips parted in a half smile when she saw a look of sympathy on the face of the "judge."

But she smiled too soon, for looking straight at her, he said: "You need rest and quiet, which are as good for the nerves as milk, and I will let you heard at the County Frison for five days."

LONG SERVICE HONORED

Hat Man at Union League Celebrates 38 Years of Service Charles Henry Dorsey, familiarly known as "Deacon" Dorsey to hundreds of mem-bers of the Union League, is wearing a particularly broad smile today. The reason is that just 38 years ago he was installed as hat guardian in the corner under the main stairway of the League's home on South Broad street. Members dropping into the club today gracted "Deacon" cordially and congratulated "Deacon" cordially and congratulated him upon his long term of service.

He has handled more than a half a lion hats during all these years and his proudest boast is that he never made a mistake. He has been personally thanked by 12 Presidents and former Presidents and has exchanged greetings with scores of Governors, Senators and Congressmen, Dorsey is 64 years old and lives at 1807 Olive street. One of his hobbles is roque, and when he is not at his stand in the the roque courts in the city.

"The Broad Highway" By Jeffery Farnol

-a good, rollicking story of the days of old. It is a full-flavored tale of brave men and worthy deeds, and as the title indicates, its action has to do with that broad highway which bred so many, fine old Englishmen. Remember the story, "The Broad Highway." It begins-
