

PORTER HOTLY DENIES CHARGE OF McNICHOLO HE IS NO REPUBLICAN

Safety Director Points to His Ancestors to Prove Right to People's Suffrage

FORBEAR IN REVOLUTION

Admits His Accuser Knows More Than He About Sly Deals in Contracts

Director George D. Porter, an independent candidate for Mayor, in answer to an attack made upon him by Senator James P. McNichol, cites his own record and ancestry as entitling him to Republican support.

"Senator McNichol amuses me," said the Director. "I am quite willing to admit that undoubtedly the Senator knows much more than almost any one else about the history of certain contracts that have been entered into by the city and about certain conditions in the Department of Public Safety which I have given the best that is in me to eliminate."

"But there the Senator's knowledge of Pennsylvania history evidently stops. We are more conversant with it here. We know that my great-great-grandfather was an officer in the American Revolution from Pennsylvania. All three generations lived in Pennsylvania. My forebears came to this country in 1681, a few years, I believe, before the Senator's father migrated from Ireland—and two of my family were Governors of the great State of Pennsylvania."

"It is true that I was not born in Philadelphia, but I came here 20 years ago, having left school at the age of 15 in order to earn my living."

"Again, I am sure I am increasing the Senator's knowledge of Philadelphia, about which he takes me to task, when I say that such education as I have was completed in the evening schools of this city."

"As to the fact that I am not entitled to Republican support, I am proud to tell voters of the Republican and all other parties that my father, who since 1861 has been in the Civil War, in the 13th Pennsylvania Volunteers, was one of the founders of the Lincoln Republican party in Pennsylvania, when Old Abe first entered the political field."

"Moreover, I am quite willing to compare the question of my loyalty to Philadelphia, as evidenced in my business life, my vote in Congress and since I have been Director of Public Safety, to the loyalty of the Senator."

YOUTH HELD UP IN HIS SEARCH FOR SWEETHEART

Boy of 19 and His Brother, 14, Stopped by Detectives

A 19-year-old boy and his 14-year-old brother, who walked to this city from their home in Hope Valley, R. I., on their way to Jacksonville, Fla., where the elder lad hoped to find his sweetheart, are being held at the detention bureau in City Hall pending instructions from their father. They are Elijah and Charles Hartley.

The boys were arrested today by special policemen of the Metropolitan Police Department who suspected that they intended boarding one of the southbound ships as stowaways. When taken to City Hall, Charles Hartley explained that he had met a girl named Catherine McGovern in Weekapaug, R. I., and had fallen in love with her, but that she refused to marry him because they were not members of the same church. Later he learned that she was in a Jacksonville, Fla., hotel and determined to find her and persuade her to marry him.

TWO HURT IN RUNAWAY

Motorcyclist Seriously Injured—Policeman Bruised in Traffic Accident

A heavy truck horse that would not be guided by the rules of traffic brought serious injury today to a young motorcyclist, besides to a traffic policeman who tried to stop the wayward vehicle and was the cause of an exciting incident at 13th and Market streets.

Howard Strickler, 19 years old, of 903 North 23d street, stopped his motorcycle on the side of Market street to wait until the policeman on the corner gave the signal for traffic to continue westward. A team, loaded with fruit and vegetables, came up behind him. One of the horses would not stop and ran into Strickler. The young man was dragged 50 feet by the frightened animal and the motorcycle was bent into a mass of junk.

Policeman Clarke tried to stop the horse, but was himself dragged, receiving minor bruises. The team narrowly missed crashing into a cigar store at the corner before the driver succeeded in bringing it to a halt. While being taken to the Hahnemann Hospital Strickler begged the policeman not to let his mother know of his injury, for, he said, she was critically ill.

801 Treadwell, of 537 Woodland avenue. Driver of the team, was arrested and taken to City Hall.

BELGIAN PROFESSOR TELLS HOW HE FLED FROM THE GERMANS

New Member of Faculty of University of Pennsylvania Taught at Louvain Until the War Began

Dr. Albert J. Carnvooy, a new member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania, who will act as research professor of Latin and Greek in the Graduate School when the University opens for the college year September 23, was acting in the same capacity in Louvain, Belgium, when that city was invaded by the German army in August of last year.

Sitting in the living room of his residence, at 6311 Chester avenue, Doctor Carnvooy told today of his personal experiences, the destruction of his home in Louvain with all his possessions, his escape to Brussels, and eventually England, with his family. Doctor Carnvooy said: "We were suddenly informed of the approach of the German army, said to number more than 100,000 men, on August 19. They came, invading the peace and beauty of our old university town, on August 21, and during the three days of August 21, 22 and 23 performed deeds of atrocity and violence that do not permit description in full detail, since much of it would be unprintable in its loathsome and bestiality. Fully one-third of the city was burned, the German soldiers acting under orders from their officers, deliberately putting the torch to house after house. My home was burned to the ground after my entire library and many pictures, with some pieces of furniture, were first removed and loaded upon cars to be sent to Germany. I lost a most valuable library that had taken me years to accumulate, but deemed myself very fortunate in escaping to Brussels with my wife and four children."

"I succeeded in reaching Brussels on the last train not under German control, that left Louvain. The distance is about 25 miles and required more than two hours' traveling. From Brussels, with thousands of my fellow countrymen, I joined the retreat of the Belgian army, finally reaching Dunkirk, a distance of 150 miles, after a journey of five days, partly on foot, at times in a peasant's cart and for some miles in wagons drawn by dogs."

LABOR MEN TO ARREST J. D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

Son of Oil King Will Be Charged With Responsibility for Colorado Outrages

TRINIDAD, Col., Sept. 20.—With the arrival of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., here today to inspect his Colorado interests, plans were being laid by attorneys for the United Mine Workers to have him arrested on a charge of being responsible for the massacre of women and children at Ludlow during the coal strike.

A. M. Belcher, general counsel for the Miners' Union, was due to arrive in Denver tomorrow. William Diamond, an international officer of the union, was authority for the statement that prosecution of the son of the world's richest man on charges growing out of the recent Colorado strike would be undertaken immediately.

Rockefeller arrived here today in an ordinary sleeping car and was unrecognized except by the party of Colorado Fuel and Iron Company officials who met him.

It was the first time in 11 years that any Rockefeller has come to Colorado to inspect their vast interests in the State. The visit has been contemplated ever since the recent labor troubles, but the death of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, Rockefeller's father-in-law, last April, and other matters prevented.

Organization Has Grown From Neighborhood Society of 12 Young Men

The object of the Stone Men's Club, according to the leaders of the movement, is to preserve the interest in religion aroused by "Billy" Sunday and, as the Rev. Stone said, "inspire a willingness to do everything necessary, even to the employment of force, to maintain the nation, home and the Protestant faith."

FAIRMOUNT FARMS MILK, SAFEGUARDED AT THE SOURCE

TWO great precautions are thrown about Fairmount Farms Milk at its source—the farm. First, the tuberculin test, assuring healthy cows. Second, insistence upon extra cleanliness—a policy that has distinguished the Supplee Dairy for years, that has had the co-operation of the producer, and that has had its result in a low bacteria, clean milk. And added to these precautions at the source are the perfect Supplee methods of preparation and distribution. We know of no other milk in Philadelphia, selling at the price, that is all thus safeguarded.

BANKER GLENDINNING FLIES FOR CLUB TROPHY

Member of State Aero Club Starts on 10-Hour Aviation Journey

Robert E. Glendinning, banker, clubman and aviator, flew for 10 consecutive hours today over the Delaware River between Easton and New Castle in an effort to capture the Curtiss marine flying trophy, offered to the aviator who can fly the longest distance over a body of water during a 10 hours' flight.

Mr. Glendinning, who is a member of the Pennsylvania State Aero Club, started his flight for the trophy today, and made the first lap, a distance of 40 miles, in good time. Officials of the State Aero Club timed him at both ends of the distance. Joseph Steinhilber, president of the Pennsylvania State Aero Club, was the timer at Easton, while Clarence F. Wynne, a member of the board of governors of the club, had the watch on the banker at New Castle, 20 miles away.

His second lap of 40 miles he made in less than an hour, leaving the hanger at 3:00 and returning at 3:56. Officials of the club are of the opinion that Mr. Glendinning, so far the first entrant in the contest, has a good chance for the trophy, which is valued at $500.
