

PEACE, NOT POLITICS, PEOPLE'S MAIN DESIRE, SAYS VICE PRESIDENT

Marshall Asserts Country Wants Wilson to Give His Undivided Attention to Foreign Crisis

OPPOSES EXTRA SESSION

By BOND P. GEDDES

With this epigram Vice President Marshall today urged Congress and the American people to "soft pedal" politics while the nation's foreign relations are critical. He opposes, he said, the proposed extra

"I have been over three-fourths of the States since Congress adjourned," said the Vice President, "and everywhere I find the rank and file of American citizens are not discussing so-called politics of the old-fashioned variety. They are interested in the war—interested in the efforts of the President to keep peace with honor."

Time President Wilson has the approval and commendation of the nation in his handling of international affairs was de clared by the Vice President. "But I think discussion of his efforts at this time would be inopportune and might prove embarrassing," said Mr.

Marshall. "Not that I am not ready to defend his course; it needs no defense— Regarding his personal political future, the Vice President was extremely frank. When asked if he expected to be renominated Mr. Marshall said:

"That depends entirely upon what the Democrats think of it. I have never yet sought a political office or nomination. I have never written a letter to that effect. If the Democrats nominate me the President in 1916, I'll accept gladly. And if they don't, I'll be satisfied. That's all there is to it."
