BALLOT BOXES TO BE REOPENED BY '70'

Committee to Wage Relentless Prosecution of Men Accused of Election Frauds

Scores of ballot boxes from divisions in all parts of the city will be reopened in the prosecutions that the Committee of Seventy is preparing to make against the practice of gang thuggery at the polls last Tuesday.

The committee will make application for reopening the ballot boxes in every complaint that is prosecuted. Scores of complaints, alleging intimidation, false registration, illegal voting and forced assistance continue to come into the office of the committee...

Under the change that has been made in the law regarding the reopening of the ballot boxes, instead of having to go into court for permission, an application signed by six voters of the division is all that is necessary.

According to testimony in the City Hall police court, the defendants registered another man under Nixon's name, Nixon, according to the testimony, was ill at home.

George McElwee, of 281 South Garnet street, a Republican watcher in the 5th Division of the 4th Ward, was held under $50 bail by Magistrate Pennek for alleged assault and battery upon John G. Lutz, of 1817 McKean street, claiming to be a Washington party watcher, by striking him on the mouth with his fist during an altercation after the closing of the polls. Lutz said that he had objected to the receiving of two votes.

BRITISH WILL RELEASE U. S. GOODS IN HOLLAND

State Department Notified That Arrangements Have Been Completed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—The British Embassy this afternoon notified the foreign trade advisers of the State Department that all arrangements now have been completed for the release to American importers of the $150,000,000 worth of goods of German and Austrian origin now in warehouses in Rotterdam. The embassy has been asked to reduce the agreement to writing, after which the State Department will issue a formal notice to the American importers telling them just how they must proceed to get their goods through.

This agreement which followed sharp unofficial representations both here and in London, in the first real concession made to American commerce by Great Britain. Following yesterday's signing of the Russian trade agreement it materially improves the general commercial situation. It also clears the way for the speedy presentation of the general protest to Great Britain against the order in council and cotton contraband order.

All of the goods to be released under the agreement announced this afternoon were purchased prior to March 1st of this year.

HELD TWICE ON SAME CHARGE

J. M. Hubert Must Stand Trial for Alleged Assault and Battery

A man already under $500 bail for court on a charge of forgery was held for court under bail of similar amount on another charge of assault and battery by Magistrate Benton today.

He is Joseph M. Hubert, of 1828 North Patton street. Alice M. Talos, a masseuse, has brought suit against him for $20,000 to repay her for injuries sustained when she alleges he knocked her on the head last June. The charge of forgery was brought against him recently for signing a check while in the employ of the Hergold Brewing Company.

Official returns are lacking from 150 divisions on the judgeship, but the figures so far compiled give a total of 27,319 votes cast for the 12 candidates. The figures for the five highest are: Rogers, 76,529; Wessel, 67,229; Ryan, 36,492; Dougherty, 14,886; Drake, 14,136.

The Democrats will not plan their campaign for about ten days, it was said yesterday. Their efforts will be confined solely to an attempt to win some of the minority places.

Parkway Site for Convention Hall

Nineteenth and Callowhill streets is urged as a site for the Convention Hall in a letter addressed by Francis Reilly to Harry Hansley, president of Select Council, and George W. Fisher, president of Common Council. This site is bounded on the north by Callowhill street, on the west by the Parkway and 19th street, on the south by the Callowhill street and the Parkway and on the east by 19th street. Mr. Reilly points out that it would be within five minutes' walk from City Hall, easily accessible to hotels and railway stations and would eliminate objectionable buildings.

cause of the alleged ill-treatment she said she would object to being returned. Judge Brown, in Municipal Court, reserved decision in the case yesterday until an investigation could be made of the father's accusation.

According to the story told by the woman and girl, the father and mother separated when Louise was 4 years old. Through efforts of the man and his relatives, it was asserted, the child was placed in the care of the St. Vincent de Paul Society in Baltimore. She remained in that organization's care until about two weeks ago when she came to Philadelphia to live. Soon after her daughter came under the care of the society, Mrs. Redmond says, her husband went to California and later disappeared. She had been told that he was dead.

She asserted that the man has started court proceedings to annoy her and the girl.

PORTER BOOSTERS WILL UNITE INTO ONE BODY FOR CITY-WIDE FIGHT

Great Force, With Committee of 100 as Centre, Will Wage Ex-Director's Campaign for Mayoralty

Plans for launching George D. Porter's campaign for election as Mayor on an enormous scale have been made by the Committee of One Hundred within a few days, and a central body, representing all of them, will then be placed in charge of the ex-Director's campaign.

All of the various organizations that had charge of the workers to further the candidacy of Porter during the primary campaign will be amalgamated with the Committee of One Hundred within a few days, and a central body, representing all of them, will then be placed in charge of the ex-Director's campaign.

The various organizations that will be amalgamated in Porter's interests now have a membership of about 6000 active workers, and each of the organizations has a working force in every election division in the city.

The George D. Porter Citizens' Committee, of which Frank L. Reizner is chairman, has a membership of 5000. The Public Service Committee of One Hundred has a large field force that handled the independent campaign in the primary. There is also the Washington party organization, which will work with the Committee of One Hundred in Porter's interests.

The independent campaign will formally start next Monday, when arrangements will be made to organize the campaign on speakers, meetings and ward organization. Porter will rest at his camp in Medford, N. J., until then.

Porter received a total of 56,500 votes for the majority on all tickets while the vote for Thomas B. Smith on the Republican ticket was 130,179. These figures have been announced by the Republican City Committee, and are said to include all of the 152 divisions in the city.

They are considerably higher than the totals of the returns received through unofficial sources. The unofficial police returns give Thomas B. Smith, 51,661; George D. Porter, 44,339 on the Republican, Washington and Democratic tickets; Sheldon Potter, 8019 on the Republican, Washington and Democratic tickets; R. Gordon Bromley, 6723, and Judge Gorman, 4723 on the Democratic and Washington tickets.

Confusion in the tabulation machinery is given as the cause of the discrepancy between the figures. The official count was begun this morning in the rooms of the Registration Commissioners in City Hall. The County Commissioners expect that it will take them at least three weeks to complete the count.

COURTS MAY DECIDE

The courts will probably be called upon to decide how many candidates shall go on the ballot in November for Court of Common Pleas No. 2. Various interpretations of the nonpartisan primary law and the "more than 50 per cent." clause have been made, and there is a disposition on the part of some of the candidates to seek a court decision on the question.

Friends of Joseph P. Rogers assert that he has been elected and that he will have no opposition in November. Friends of Henry N. Wessel are maintaining that Wessel was elected.

Under a ruling made last night by the State Department in Harrisburg, however, neither Rogers nor Wessel received more than 50 per cent. vote required by law, and there will be four names on the ballot for Court No. 2 in November. The decision of the State Department follows:

"Any candidate for one of the two judicial vacancies in Philadelphia Common Pleas Court No. 2, in order to be the sole nominee for one of the vacancies at the November election, must have polled at the primary more than 50 per cent. of the total vote of all the candidates for the vacancies, and also more than half the total number of votes received by the highest candidate in the judicial district."

Woman Dies While Visiting Mrs. Emma Forest, 64 years old, of 2923 North Rees street, died suddenly last night while visiting Mrs. Katharine Bon, 607 Mechanic street, at the Helenkirk drive. Mrs. Forest, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Ernestine Schumann, of 371 Welles street, had just removed her wraps when she collapsed. Dr. R. R. Peitz, of 894 Ridge avenue, who was summoned, pronounced the woman dead from Bright's disease and heart failure. Her body was removed to her home.

RYAN'S FRIENDS INSISTENT. Even before this interpretation of the law was made, friends of Michael J. Ryan insisted that his name would go on the ballot, together with that of Judge Dougherty.

Official returns are lacking from 150 divisions on the judgeship, but the figures so far compiled give a total of 27,319 votes cast for the 12 candidates. The figures for the five highest are: Rogers, 76,529; Wessel, 67,229; Ryan, 36,492; Dougherty, 14,886; Drake, 14,136.

RESINOL SHAVING STICK

makes the daily shave a picnic

First, there's a good, healthy lather that doesn't fade away on the right side before the left is scraped. Then somehow the razor always seems just a little sharper when it's slipping through a lather of Resinol Shaving Stick.

But better still is the way it speeds up the shave by cutting out "soothing" applications and tedious steaming and soaking—your face simply doesn't need them, because the Resinol medication in the Stick makes tenderness, dryness and shaving rashes impossible.

HOLD-UP TRIO ROB SALOON PROPRIETOR

Daring Attempt Ends in Arrest of One Man by Policeman After Chase

A daring hold-up took place early today in a saloon at 128 Chestnut street, when three men at the point of a revolver forced the proprietor, and a customer to lie prone on the floor while they took $5 from the cash register. They were seen as they dashed from the place and arrested by Policeman Gannon, of the 3d and De Lancey streets station. He captured one man, who gave his name as Joseph Spinek, after a desperate struggle in which the latter attempted to shoot the policeman. Gannon used his black-jack with telling effect and succeeded in subduing the alleged crook.

Spinek, when arraigned before Magistrate Harrison, at the 3d and De Lancey streets station today, was held in $1500 bail, charged with the robbery.

Richard J. McNutt, proprietor of the saloon, identified Spinek as one of the three men who were seen to shoot the policeman. Gannon used his black-jack with telling effect and succeeded in subduing the alleged crook.

"DOCTORED" BALLOT CHARGE CAUSES STIR

Washington Party Candidate Says He Was Deprived of Nomination by Trick

An accusation that election returns had been "doctored" created a sensation today at the meeting of the County Commissioners in City Hall. The allegation was made by Francis T. Tobin, an attorney, representing Frank Thompson, of 449 North 66th street, a candidate for the Washington party nomination for Clerk of the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Commissioner Frank J. Gorman indignantly denied the accusation. He and Thompson later told radically different stories of an alleged election which, if it existed, would invalidate Washington party votes cast for Harry Walter for Clerk of the Court, it is said.

Thompson said: "I found that on the party ballot Walter's name appeared twice—once for Coroner and once for the clerkship. It is illegal for a man to be a candidate for two nominations by the same party and I notified the Committee of One Hundred I was told Walter's name had been eliminated from the race for Coroner and that the ballots would be reprinted.

"Later Gorman showed me a ballot with Walter's name only under the clerkship designated. But Gorman now denies the ballots were reprinted, so that the names of Rogers and Wessel had been printed, illegally."

Tobin alleged that votes cast for Walter should be ruled out and that the nomination should go to Thompson.

On the return sheet, Tobin's name appeared only as a candidate for Clerk of Quarter Sessions. Tobin's accusation of "doctored" was based on the assumption that if the ballots had not been reprinted (and Gorman denied they had been reprinted) the name of Walter had appeared twice on the same ballot at the primary election. Tobin declared the matter would be carried to court.

WIDOW DEMANDS ESTATE

Mrs. Joseph E. Munich Wants Full Rights in Legacy

Full rights as the widow of Joseph E. Munich, a retired mill owner of this city, who died last January, leaving an estate of $104,000, are claimed by Mrs. Josephine Munich, to whom the mill owner's will left $10,000. It is alleged by the heirs to the remainder of the estate that Mrs. Munich deserted her husband five months before his death and thereby sacrificed her marital rights.

Two sisters, a brother and the mother of Mr. Munich, the heirs, contest Mrs. Munich's claim. The final fight in the estate will be heard by one of the Judges of the Orphans' Court, following taking of testimony by Joseph L. McAlear, who was appointed to hear the evidence after the will was admitted to probate.

DANNEHOWER DEMANDS PLACE ON JUDICIAL TICKET

Makes Legal Claim at Counting of Vote in Montgomery County

NORRISTOWN, Sept. 24.—The official count of the votes at the primary election, on Tuesday, was begun at noon today by the County Commissioners. Charles E. McAvoy appeared on behalf of William P. Dannehower, one of the aspirants for the nomination for Judge of the Common Pleas Court, and read part of the amended act of June 18, 1915, which provides that if a candidate for nomination for Judge receive a number of votes greater than one-half of the total number of votes cast for that office, and greater than one-half of the number of ballots cast, he shall be the sole nominee, and his name, and name only, shall be printed upon the official ballot for the succeeding election.

McAvoy contends that the board must compute not only the total vote cast at the primaries for the nonpartisan ticket, but also the total vote cast for the several partisan tickets, in order to be able to certify as to whether any one candidate has received more than 50 per cent. of the total vote cast at the primaries.

County Solicitor Frews Styer said the matter would not be argued, but that the commissioners would receive Mr. McAvoy's statement.

The commissioners proceeded with the count in the usual way. If Dannehower's point is sustained, it may mean the opening of every ballot box to ascertain if ballots were cast and not counted, as ballots unmarked or marked wrongly.

WOMEN FAINT AT INQUEST

Relatives of Murdered Italian Succumb in Coroner's Office

Four women fainted today at the inquest into the death of Vincenzo Fiorentino, of 208 North 25th street, who was shot and killed on September 19 by John Ferrieri, of 264 Stella street.

Ferrieri entered the restaurant owned by Fiorentino and started to help him. When the proprietor objected there was a quarrel. Ferrieri left, but returned later and shot Fiorentino.

The testimony brought out before Coroner Knight so affected the four women relatives of Fiorentino that they collapsed and were revived by Dr. John Remick. For some time the Coroner's court resembled a hospital, but the women were at length revived.

"NO FUSION," DECLARES B. G. BROMLEY AS AN OLD-LINE DEMOCRAT

Personally Opposed to Move in Majority Campaign, but Says He Does Not Speak for the City Committee

PATRONAGE IS TOO SLIM There will be no fusion in this campaign, with the Democrats a party to it, according to B. Gordon Bromley, chairman of the Old Guard Democratic City Committee and the Democratic majority nominee.

Bromley said today that he is personally opposed to it. He pointed out, however, that the no-fusion idea is his own, and that when he declares fusion he does not express the sentiments of the City Committee, which are still uncertain.

"The committee," he said, "can act as they see fit, but they know my sentiments on the matter."

The Old Guard candidate talked about building up the Democratic City Committee into an organization that will command respect, and asserted that he did not enter the mayoralty seeking anything for himself.

Fusion has disgraced the Old Guard organization in the past, said Bromley, and for that reason he is opposed to fusion this fall.

"We are not as strong today as we were before our last experiment with fusion," he said. "We have lost three Magistrates and one Appraiser."

As it was evident that the trend of Bromley's mind in the "building up" process was toward obtaining jobs for the faithful, he was asked what he could hope for in that way from the contractors' candidate, if Smith is elected.

"There is no deal with them," he said emphatically, "and there is no understanding with them."

Discussing the fusion of four years ago, Bromley said that the Democrats got a few places under the Blankenbush administration, but he did not consider they had received enough.

Asked if he did not think that the greater question of a clean city government for Philadelphia, which might be obtained only through fusion, did not in his mind outweigh any possible additions to the Democratic City Committee patronage which might come through the favor of the contractors' candidate if elected, he pointed out that, with a Democratic administration in Washington and the next presidential campaign so near, it was important to have a strong organization in both city and State. He said:

"We cannot have that and join any fusion movement this year."
