BRYN MAWR IS FAIR AS HORSE SHOW OPENS

Antelo Devereux rode their ewn horses, the latter getting a red ribbon on Grasshopper in a class for jumping.

Tradition ran away and hid her head today and was forced to withhold at the same time the baneful effect of one of her pet hobbies. The Horse Show as Brwn Mawr opened for the list time with not a cloud in the sky nor even the faintent prospect of rain. est prospect of rain.

For many years, in fact, as long as the oldest inhabitant can remember, the Bryn Mawr exhibition has had to com-bat rainy weather of a variety that could take all three ribbons from the proverbial Quaker-week brand.

proverbial Quaker-week brand.

Lit up by the brilliant sunlight, the scene around the oval for sheer pleturesque attractiveness could hardly be excelled. Against the velvety green setting of the great polo field, set in turn against the background of autumn foliage, the ring, with its brown tanbark carpeting, its white jumping posts and brilliant its white jumping posts and brilliant white and green pennants, stood out in strong contrast. The women scattered here and there among the spectators lent a further touch of color in their brilliant sweaters, rpparently the feature garb of that season of the year which is cool and warm almost at the same time.

The attendance was light during the morning hours, but society does not rise early and a borse show is par excellence a social event from a spectator's point of a social event from a spectator's point of view. Everything pointed to a record attendance during the afternoon. Nearly the entire morning session was devoted to the running off of a class for green

The Bryn Mawr Show's chief claim to distinction has been the best entry list of hunters and jumpers of any show held in this country. A glance at the program today indicates this claim is justified.

50 NEW STALLS ERECTED. So great a demand was made for accommodations for horses that it was necessary to erect 50 new boxstalls. These stalls have been made permanent, and now the upper end of the polo field is literally a small village of stalls.

There are more entries in the show this year than ever before, more classes have been provided, and the added interest furnished by the second annual Bryn Mawr Hound Show, which will be held for four days, makes the whole venture more attractive.

More than 225 horses will be shown this year on the tanbark of the oval. This is the largest number that has ever been brought to Bryn Mawr.

The demand for accommodations of all kinds at the show has been so great that the association has been embarrassed by the overflow of prosperity. Besides the demand for new places for horses, persons desiring boxes have been insistent that they be provided for, although the supply of boxes is exhausted.

Many visitors from other cities will be on hand for the exhibition and several rominent persons will entertain house prominent persons will entertain house parties. Among the hosts will be Mr. and Mrs. John R. Valentine, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Reeve, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Antelo Devereux, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Strawbridge, Charles E. Mather and Mr. and Mrs. W. Plunkett Stewart.

The visitors will include Foxhall Keene, Mr. and Mrs. F. Skiddy von Stade, Mr. And Mrs. F. Ambrose Chark and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gerry, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John S. Ames, of Bos n; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Sands, of Middleburg, Va., Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark and Mr. and and other persons who are prominent in

SMARTLY GOWNED WOMEN IN BOXES AT HORSE SHOW

Mrs. Victor Mather and Mrs. Harold Sands Among Them

By a Staff Correspondent HORSE SHOW GROUNDS, Bryn Show weather, the ovel presented a brilliant aspect this morning, and the horse lovers of society appeared early on the scene. Mrs. Victor Mather was charming in a light blue worsted sweater with angora collar and cuffs and one of the new gora colar and curs and one of the new angera wool stiff sports hats in white.

Mrs. Mathers' two little daughters were wearing blue sweaters. Mrs. Thomas G. Ashton had chosen a stunning sweater of brilliant raspberry silk, a white fox fur and a white hat. Mrs. Charles Randolph Snowden looked smart in a white serge skirt and a white sports coat, topped with a small narrow-brimmed hat

Waln Harrison had selected a white tinen dress, a gray cloak trimmed with dark blue tassels and a small blue sports bat. An early arrival of the debutants set was Mass Marsaret Supplee, who was stunning in a brilliant sweater of orange-colored silk.

Mrs. John C. Groome and Mrs. George If. Earle, Jr., were noted talking to-gether, Mrs. Groome in a mixed green sports suit and a brown sallor hat and sports suit and a brown sailor hat and Mrs. Earle in a white serge suit and a white hat. Miss Josephine Mather looked well in a lemon silk sweater and a brown hat.

Among the early arrivals was Mrs. W. W. Atterbury, who wore a sports suit of tan corduroy and a sports coat of pale pink angora.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reeve and their attractive little boys were walking about the oval, Mrs. Reeve wearing a sports suit and hat. Mrs. James Tindale and Mrs. Reed Knox were together.

With Mrs. John R. Valentine were Miss Carol Harriman, daughter of the late E. H. Harriman and a sister of Mr. William Harriman, who married Miss Kitty Lawrence, of New York, last week. Miss Harriman wore a mixed tweed sult and a lavender sports hat. Mrs. John R. Gerry, of New York, was also a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Valentine. A very smart costume was worn by Mrs. Samuel A. Boyle, Jr., who was ac-companied by her small daughter. The gown was fashioned of brown chiffon over net and points de Venice lace trimmed with quillings of brown, with a touch of cerise here and there. Her hat was a small toque of fine blue straw, edged with large blue and white popples and a single
