

Evening ILLUSTRATED Ledger

MONDAY
October 11, 1915

PICTORIAL SIDELIGHTS ON SATURDAY'S GAME WHILE BOSTON GETS ITS TASTE OF THE BATTLES

LOOKING DOWN ON THE FIELD OF ACTION DURING THE GAME FROM A VANTAGE POINT WHICH MADE THE 20,000 ASSEMBLED SPECTATORS LOOK LIKE SWARMS OF BEES AND THE PLAYERS LIKE WHITE DOTS

FANS WHO FAILED TO LAND A TICKET CLUSTERED WISTFULLY IN THE STREETS OUTSIDE AND ENJOYED THE GAME BY PROXY.

SECRETARY McADOO, SECRETARY TUMULTY AND COL. E. T. BROWN (READING RIGHT TO LEFT) ON THEIR WAY TO THE GAME

THE RED SOX TOSsing THE BALL ABOUT IN PRACTICE BEFORE THE BELL SOUNDED—A PICTURE THAT REVEALS THEM AS HEALTHY SPECIMENS OF MANHOOD

AFTER THE GAME WAS OVER—THE BOSTON ROYAL ROOTERS FORMING IN LINE FOR A TRIUMPHAL MARCH IN CELEBRATION OF THE VICTORY