

ON KISSES AND KISSING; MOONLIGHT AND MOONSHINE

Disconcerting Action on the Part of Some Damsels May Lead to the Cessation of Love's Young Dream

By ELLEN ADAIR

ONCE upon a time there was a charming little maiden. She was young and sunny and pretty, and she had lots of admirers. But she kept them all very much in their place.

Needless to say, he was altogether in love with the fluff maiden. But he was awfully shy. Ever so often the amorous words that he longed to pour into her ear stuck right on the end of his tongue, and all that he could do was to stammer, and metaphorically sidle at the corners of speech, and look silly—any way, but not a charming accomplishment.

One evening, when he was feeling her some from a party, he paused on her front porch and made a foolish remark about the moon. She was very far gone in the gentle passion, you see. All lovers talk foolishly, and this was no exception. Just as she was turning her little face upward to view the planets, the bashful lover was inspired suddenly to impart a chaste salute upon her rosy lips.

And what did that self-same maiden do? A most sad and disconcerting thing! She turned right around and smacked her forehead with her hand, and with a look that was anything but smiling, she said: "You had always read in books that that was the correct method of counter-attack in any such situation. Because she had once heard her maiden aunt say that any self-respecting girl would act similarly! Moreover, she expected that the young man would bestech her forgiveness, declare his undying love in the same breath, and that she, after due consideration, would consent to overlook the first lapse in the joys of the second."

However, the result of her Amazon-like action was very different from what she had anticipated. For the bashful lover was so thunderstruck at the turn of events that he literally fled from the scene. Perhaps he thought he had offended her irrevocably? Perhaps he felt that she had offended him irrevocably? Probably he was so overcome at the

THE DAILY STORY

The Wrong Address

Rosina looked around doubtfully, scrutinizing the houses along the street. "White, with a buckeye tree to the left of front porch." Aunt Ina had said. The one before her answered the description.

Bob Nevis, with his feet comfortably elevated on the porch, sat reading the morning paper. Noticing a lady turn in at the gate, he sprang up and stood waiting.

"I've brought the tatting for Mrs. Mendelheim," Rosina began, diffidently. "Will you please give it to her and tell her that Aunt Ina, I mean Miss Ridgeway, is sick today and won't be able to help with the fancywork booth. She's very sorry and hopes Mrs. Mendelheim will be able to manage without her."

QUEER ORNAMENTS ADORN THE NEWEST WINTER HATS

A SMART WINTER SAILOR

LATE fall hats are still making their appearance, and the dissimilarity of the styles in general makes it practically impossible to say what are the predominant features of the autumn hat styles.

Especially for the time being, yielding their place in the fastidious woman's favor to the always-popular toque.

confession! Won't you sit down? Now tell me why you let me talk to you yesterday when you knew I was at the wrong house?

Shopping Hints
Genuine peltry is selling in one large department store at reduced rates.

Given Damages for Loss of Trunk
A suit to collect damages for the loss of a trunk belonging to the Consolidated Dental Company, which was destroyed by fire in a wayside station of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, resulted today in a verdict for the defendant.

Olives
Spanish—French—American
California ripe, French Crescents and Spanish Queens.
E. Bradford Clarke Co.

SUFFRAGE BLACK CAT SAVED; GOOD OMEN, WOMEN DECLARE

Restaurant Keeper Rescues Ebony Feline Marooned by "Anti"
The fact that a black cat took a paw in a suffragist argument at Green's Hotel, 8th and Chestnut streets, caused many advocates of the cause to believe that good luck will crown the efforts of their sisters today in their battle across the river.

Building Near Chester Park
Work has been started at Chester on a large number of the new homes, to be erected under the management of William B. Bricker.

Three minutes to prepare WILBUR'S COCOA for the table. The cost but a fraction of a cent a cup.

SUFFRAGISTS OPEN OFFICE FOR PARADE

Information Regarding Pageant Will Be Given—Regalla Will Be Sold
The Equal Franchise Society today opened headquarters for the suffrage parade at 37 South 9th street. There all details of the parade and "festival of light" will be looked after.

Cholera Among Austrian Troops
LONDON, Oct. 19.—A Central News dispatch from Amsterdam reports a serious outbreak of cholera among the Austrian troops at Brody, Galicia.

Reddy Squirrel Talks to Billy

REDDY SQUIRREL raced down the slender branch of the tall beech tree, as the drooping limb of the adjoining maple and found himself a comfortable stopping place close to the trunk of a big old oak.

EDISON MAY SPEAK HERE
May Observe Incandescent Anniversary at Electrical Vehicle Meeting
Thomas A. Edison is expected to attend the three-day annual convention of the Electric Vehicle Association of America which opened today at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

Dr. Spiller Goes to U. of P.
Dr. William G. Spiller, who won the alumni medal for the highest average when he was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in the class of 1882, has been elected professor of neurology in the Medical School there, to succeed Dr. Charles K. Mills, who resigned last month.

MILLIE AND HER MILLIONS

Comic strip titled "MILLIE AND HER MILLIONS" showing a woman named Millie talking to a man about cars and money.

Shopping Hints

Genuine peltry is selling in one large department store at reduced rates. Real beaver, which ordinarily costs $4 a yard, sells just at present for $2.50.

Advertisement for J. PRAGER, Fashionable Ladies' Tailor, 928 Chestnut St.

FIDO LEADS A DOG'S

Comic strip titled "FIDO LEADS A DOG'S" showing a dog named Fido leading a man.

“What Do You Know About The Milk YOU'RE Using?”

Advertisement for Abbots "A" Milk, 31st and Chestnut Streets, featuring an illustration of a cow.

LUIGI RIENZI

Advertisement for Luigi Rienzi, 1714 Walnut Street, featuring gowns and wraps.