

VIEWES OF THE PERSONS AND PLACES WHO FIGURE IN THE VARIED NEWS OF THE DAY

RAISING A HALF MILLION FOR THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL
Here is one of the teams now combing the city with the aim of collecting this sum in ten days. Left to right, in front, are the Misses Caroline D. Bache and Lydia Turner; rear, Miss Rachel M. Ash, Mrs. Dr. W. H. Walsh and Miss Mary Harley Mulford, of Wyncote.

HAT MAKERS LISTENING TO FRANKLIN PARTY ORATOR
The speaker is C. O. Pratt, who is outlining the principles for which the ticket headed by George D. Porter stands in the present municipal campaign. Several hundred of the workers at Stetson's heard him at noon yesterday.

AMERICAN-BUILT SUBMARINE CHASERS FOR THE BRITISH NAVY

These gasoline, 100-horsepower launches were constructed at South Boston, Mass., at a price of $4000 each. They will carry a three-inch gun forward and make about 25 knots an hour. They require only two men to man them.

CAUGHT IN FRANKFORD
J. A. Edgar, as the picture shows, is a businesslike young man. He's an officer in one of the healthiest grocery firms in the city.

NEW OASIS FOR LOVERS OF GOOD FOOD
The Arcadia, nestling under the Widener Building, opens its doors today. This is a view of the handsome main dining room, which will seat 500 persons. There will be both day and evening service.

WHERE THE CHESTNUT BLIGHT HAS LAID ITS DEVASTATING HAND
This once noble specimen, on the old road from Washington Lane to Washington Inn, Valley Forge, shows how the disease is marring splendid landscapes in this vicinity.

SAD END FOR ONE-TIME MONARCHS OF THE FOREST
Chestnut poles gathered in the yards of an electric company in North Philadelphia. This melancholy fate awaits virtually all the chestnut trees for miles around unless the blight is checked.

THIS WAS A SNAPSHOT IN WEST PHILADELPHIA
Mr. C. Folk Klein, real estate dealer, of 5936 Market street, and three times president of the 60th and Market Streets Business Association, in conversation with Dr. Theodor Fuchs, of 2890 Spruce street.
