LUNCHEON ATOP A TALLY-HO AT WHITEMARSH

Society was evident everywhere at the meet of the White Marsh Valley Hunt Racing Association at Erdenheim, yesterday. Mrs. E. B. Cassatt, of Philadelphia, was a prominent figure. She is seen entertaining her guests, who made up the Tally-ho party.

THE MOST EXCITING FINISH AT ERDENHEIM

The third flat race of the White Marsh Valley Hunt Racing Association was the closest of the day. Pons Asinorum, owned by the Glen Riddle Farms, and trained by J. J. Yarnall, is shown leading at the finish.

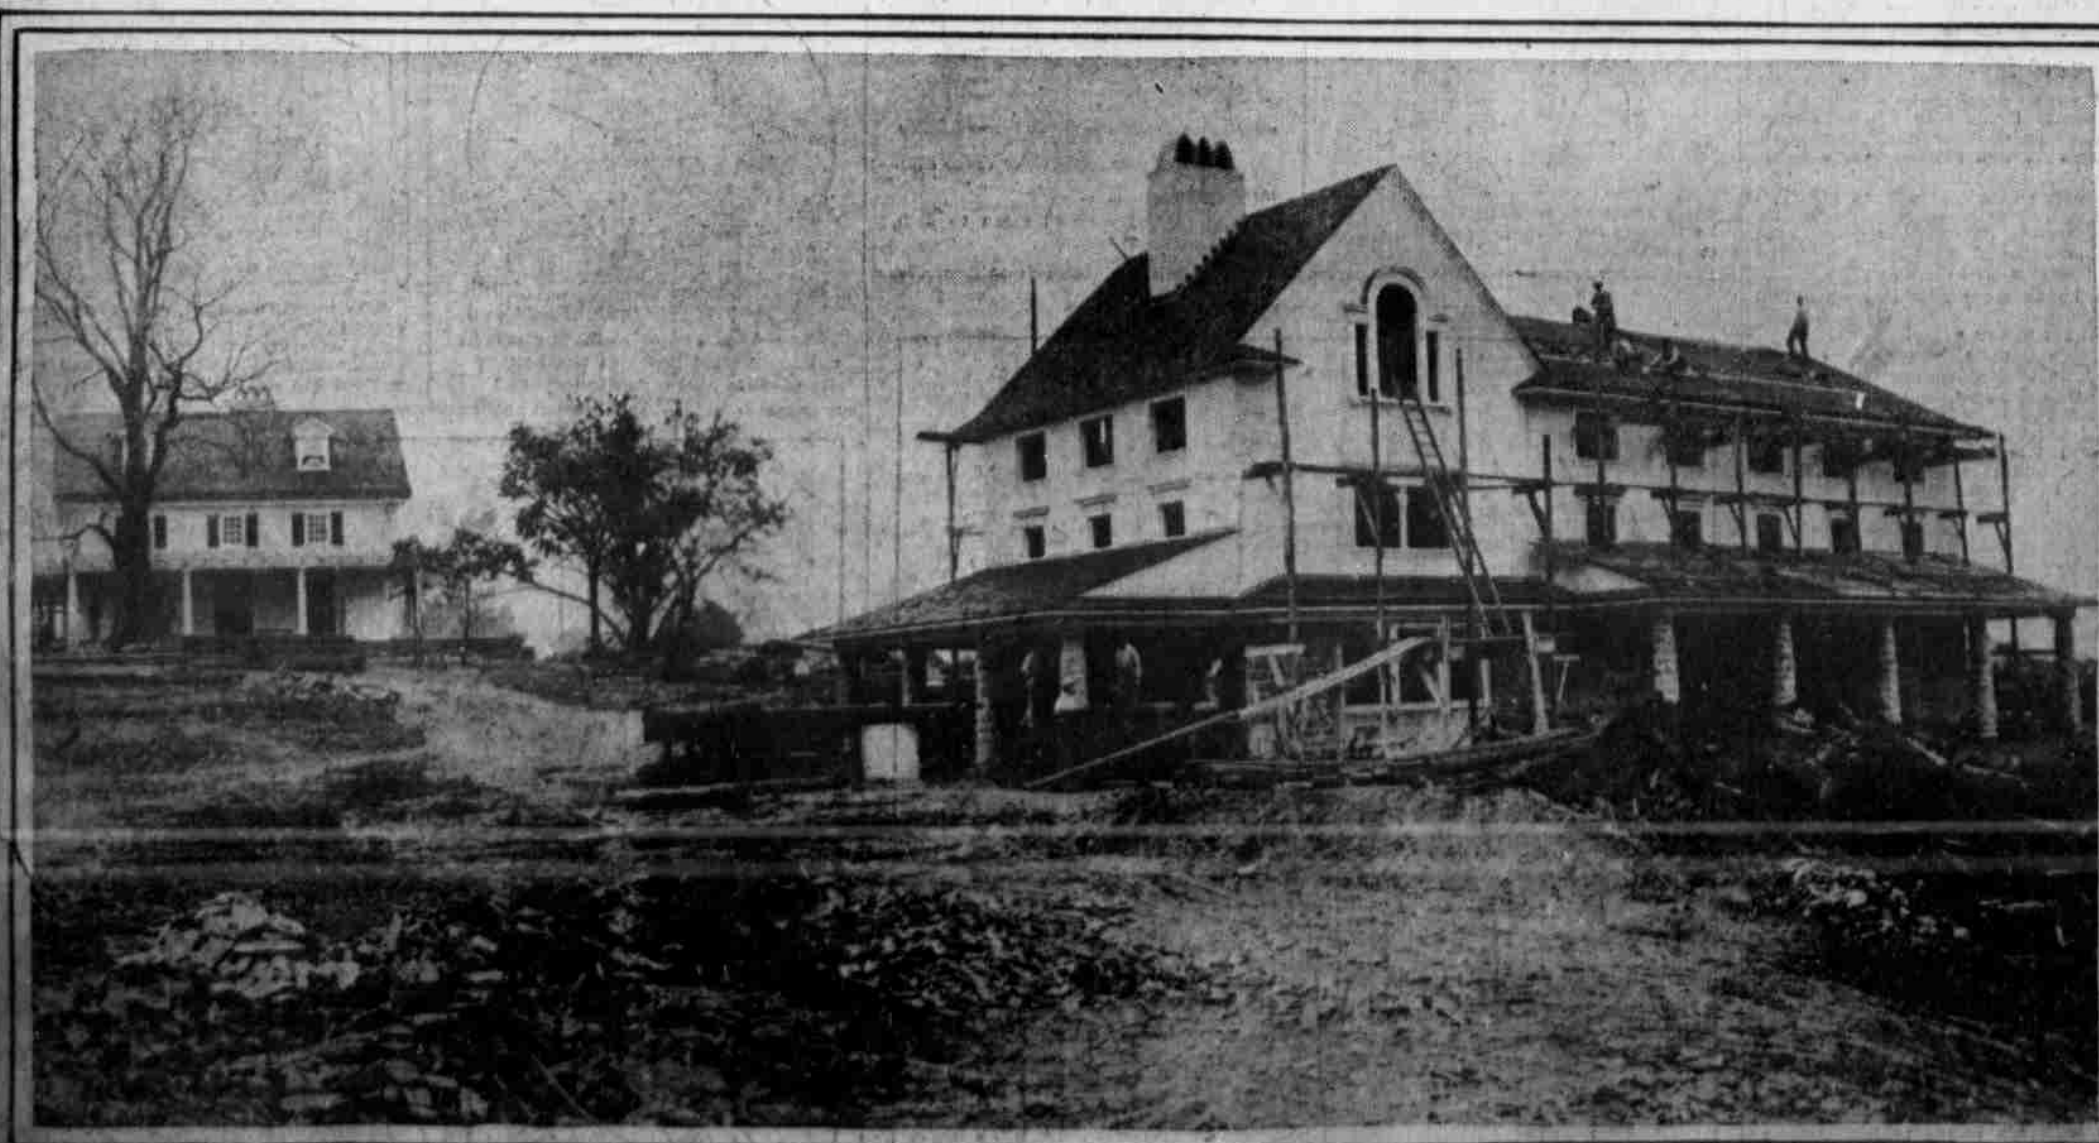

THE DEER SEASON HAS BEEN GRATIFYING TO JERSEY HUNTERS

THE BRITISH ARE HAVING THEIR TROUBLES WITH THE AMERICAN MULE

Mules from the United States get a course of training on English soil before they go to the Continent to die for the Allies' cause. The photo shows a "course" being taken. The best specimens now fetch as high as $300 each.

CLUBHOUSES FOR MEN AND WOMEN ON PUBLIC GOLF LINKS AT COBB'S CREEK NEARING COMPLETION

The exterior of these two buildings, which are in the Colonial style, is almost finished and work will begin on the interiors shortly. The women's clubhouse is on the left, the men's on the right. The Park Commission has decided not to permit any playing on the new links this season, as the young grass has not yet established itself firmly enough in the turf to withstand hard usage. The course will be a boon to the city's 20,000 golf lovers, as it can be easily reached from the 69th street terminal.

IS HE BLESSING OR WARNING THE CITY?

This is Father Penn, atop City Hall, taken from a point 10 feet below his stout Colonial shoe. In view of the approaching election, his uplifted hand is capable of two interpretations.
