

SOCCER LEAGUE TO BE FORMED NEXT SATURDAY

Convention of Representatives of Industrial Teams Arranged at Electric Storage

EIGHT-CLUB CIRCUIT

Thomas Garrity, sponsor for the Industrial Soccer League, announced today that the real plans for the organization would be discussed at a convention of the representatives of seven manufacturing concerns interested on next Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the Electric Storage Battery Company, on Allegheny avenue.

When interviewed Mr. Garrity said: "The idea of organizing a soccer league composed of manufacturing plants of the city has been in mind for a long time, but there did not seem to be enough interest to merit an attempt until quite recently. I called up several men in other plants of the city and they seemed delighted at the proposition. Then I got busy and since then things have looked rosy."

"At the meeting to be held Wednesday at the Electric Storage Battery auditorium the future plans will be discussed and we will form some sort of an organization to get things going."

"At this time there are seven teams willing to take up the fight for the championship honor in the league. Electric Storage Battery, Compco, Hales & Kilburn, American Utility, Cresson-Morris Manufacturing Company, Wheeler Manufacturing Company, Allen & Co. and Holsell Manufacturing Company have signified their intention of entering a team. There is only one vacancy, which is sure to be filled by the night of the meeting. It is proposed to have an eight-team circuit."

Electric Storage Battery Company's soccer team will play a game with the Merrymakers of Roxborough next Saturday afternoon at the Batterymen's grounds, Chestnut avenue, between 13th and 14th streets. The Electric Storage Battery makers are singularly blessed, so far as material is concerned. There are about 40 men who are eager to fill in any position in the event of an accident to one of the regulars.

Electric Storage has had a very successful season so far. Such teams as Wheeler Company, Cresson and Garrity have been met and defeated, with only loss in seven games to be Loretta.

REFORM FOR SECONDS OF BOXERS SHOULD BE MADE AT LOCAL CLUBS

Local Promoters Would Do Well to Put Ban on Those Whose Conduct Is Not Ethical

Philadelphia promoters would do well by inaugurating a reform barring boxers' seconds who sprinkle rinsed pants with water and defeat other fighters during rest periods. This, no doubt, would meet with the approval of all light fans. There has never been any excuse for alleged seconds to give rinsed spectators the benefit of water from their sponges that the performers should get.

Some of these fellows who crawl through the ropes during the intermissions and call themselves seconds are really nothing but jobbers, and men of handicap that a help to the men they are handling. Some of them seem to think all that is required of a second is to throw water on spectators, blow rosin in the faces of fans while swimming towels or fans and make a general nuisance of themselves by shouting foolish instructions to their fighters, while bouts are in progress.

Of course, there are capable handiers, who at times are instrumental in preparing their boxers for the next round and these are the fellows who are really seconds are nothing short of nuisances and take a good deal of money themselves and the fans they annoy.

After much dickering over the matter of weight, Joe Borrell and Eddie Revoire finally have come to terms, and they will meet at the Newmarket, N. Y., December 12, at catchweights. Borrell wanted to box Revoire at 155 pounds, ringside.

The bouts preceding the Benny Kaufman-Joe O'Neil at the Broadway tomorrow night follow: Hitz Walters vs. Billy Horn, Hook Bones vs. John Holland, Peggy Sullivan vs. Jack Brady and Whitey Benner vs. Reddy Bell.

Harry Lenny, of this city, has undertaken the Eastern managerial reins of Sammy Taylor, the Detroit knockout artist. Lenny is trying to match Taylor with Joe Azevedo in New York.

The wind-up at the Quaker City Friday night will bring together Howard Truesdale, of Kennington, and Tyrone Costello, of North Penn.

Following his victorious battle with Jimmy Murphy here, Ad Wolcott left for New York. The Michiganian will meet Leach today at one of the metropolitan clubs in the near future.

Johnny Erie, who is matched with Young Olympia Monday night, will meet Young Olympia Monday night Saturday night. Wend Tandler, who has had but one fight this season, will show in the second of the Broad street arena with Kid Goldman.

HOPPE WILL PLAY JAP EXHIBITION MATCHES

Champion Cueist and Yamada Meet at Allinger's Parlor Monday and Tuesday

Willie Hoppe, Alexander of the billiard world, is to appear in an exhibition match with Koji Yamada, the master Japanese player, at Sol Allinger's sportsman, 1307 Market street, next Monday and Tuesday.

Monday night at 8 o'clock the two great billiardists will cross cues, and on the following day they will have two seasons, one in the afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, and the other at night, at 8 o'clock.

Philadelphians have had the pleasure of witnessing the famous players in action in previous years. The two players have been giving exhibitions in all of the large cities of the country in an effort to stimulate greater interest in the game.

FOUR HAVERFORD AND THREE C. H. S. MEN ONEVENING LEDGER "ALL" TEAM

Applegate, Episcopal; Homes, Germantown; Moore, Haverford, and Butler, Central, Picked for Backfield Positions—Second Eleven Also Selected

Table with 3 columns: Position, Name, School. Rows include First Team (Applegate, Homes, Moore, Butler) and Second Team (Homes, Butler, Applegate, Moore).

The Evening Ledger, in picking the All-Scholastic team, will not classify between the public high schools and the Interacademic League, teams, as is generally the custom. As most of the inter-academic League and Independent teams in Philadelphia and vicinity have played members of the public school league or teams which have met "the Big Three," it was possible to get a good line on the relative ability of all who played in this season.

Fredia Institute, Atlantic City High, Haverford, Germantown, Allentown Prep and a few other elevens which most local teams are not included in the selection. They are not considered in the Philadelphia division in scholastic football.

The boys picked for this eleven are selected on the basis of their teams during the entire season. It was also the aim of the Evening Ledger to select boys whose style of play would coincide with the best of the city's best. A few of the best players were picked, and two or three men whose individual work in particular departments was not considered in preference to other players whose work was superior in other departments.

As an instance, Jim Moore, of Haverford, was selected for a halfback position because of his marvelous kicking. With Moore on the team no other player is necessary, and a punner whose greatest asset is punting had to surpass the other backs in all other departments to be chosen.

Two lads from the Main Line stood out above all others during the last season. They were Sammie, of St. Luke's, and Lewis, of Haverford. There was not a name during the entire season in which their work did not stand out above any other of their kind. Both combine brilliant open field work, such as receiving forward passes and setting down the field under kicks well with great ability to smash interference and size.

For the second team Bradley, of Central High, and Sheltzlin, of Penn Charter, are selected. There were several ends more brilliant in the open field, but for steady, consistent work and ability to handle the ball, the two mentioned are the star ends. O'Neill, of La Salle; Scholer, of West Philly; Walton, of Episcopal; Brown, of Penn Charter; DeLong, of Central High, and several others of the other schools were also mentioned.

Farmakis, of Central High, switched from guard to tackle in midseason, and Killyatt, of Haverford, was the leading tackle. Farmakis easily outplayed his opponent in each game, while Killyatt proved conclusively that he was entitled to a position by his brilliant work throughout the season. He shone particularly in the Hill School game.

Lubin and Smith. For the second team, Lubin, of Southern High, and Smith, of West Philly, are given the call over Race, of Germantown; Kelly, of Central High; Brennan, of La Salle; Cummings, of St. Luke's; and West Philly, who formed a powerful team; Santore, of Penn Charter, and Gardner and Thomas, of Northlawn.

Had Lubin been more experienced, he would have been the best man of the team. He has the best nature of strength and ability. He failed to let the ends, as well as Farmakis and Killyatt, and his work was not quite so smooth.

Central High and Haverford again enter the line with the selections for the guard position. First honors go to the faces of the two mentioned, while Supple, of the Crimmon and Gold, was just a trifle behind. The latter played with a fractured hand in the two big games of the season, but this did not prevent him from really outplaying strong opponents.

McCarty, of Catholic High, and Gilmore, of West Philly, are the choices for the second team. Both were handicapped in the first game, but they played well or they might have been in the first team selections. Lindquist, of Episcopal; Diamond, of St. Joseph; T. Wharton, of Central High; Kiewker, of Central High, and Cutler, of Germantown, deserve honorable mention.

There was one center who stood out and should be mentioned above all others and he was playing in the center of a weak line. This was Whittaker, of Northlawn High. He is an excellent collegiate prospect. Whittaker played a convincing center and usually made half of the tackles in the line. He is a promising center, and he is up large backs and interfered beautifully. He frequently went through and nullified the secondary backs, making possible long gains by the backs.

Emmons, of Haverford, is a second choice over Armstrong, of Central High. The latter had weight and height on the Main Line, but the aggressiveness and experience of Emmons give him the call. This is the only player who stood above all others so much that there was little room for comparison.

FEW GOOD QUARTERS The field of good quarterbacks was far smaller during the past season than in any other. There were few good players on local teams who were brilliant stars, but this season the quarter material was lacking. There were a few, however, who carried off fairly well, and the greatest of these was "Doc" Applegate, although intelligible for Interacademic League contests, was given first choice, as he was one of the best all-around players in the city. He was a great punner, weighing 150 pounds and possessing a great football brain, Applegate was invaluable to his team. With him in the game the other backfield positions were in the city. After he was declared ineligible the team went to pieces.

Applegate would be the forward passer of this eleven. He is not only a wonderful punter, but he is a great passer, and the passes would surely be cleverly caught with him engineering the play.

Byron Wharton, of Chestnut Hill, is the star of the second team. Leading either Central High or Haverford this youngster might have hustled Applegate for a first team position. He needed more protection in the backfield than his teammates were able to give him. His work was consistently brilliant, however, and he was selected in preference to Russell, of St. Luke's; Sullivan, of Catholic High; Saragout, of St. Luke's; Freeman, of Penn Charter; Rosenau, of Central High; Kistler, of West Philly; Paul, of Northeast, and a few others.

For the other backfield positions there was a wealth of material, including Jim Moore and Benham, of Haverford; Butler, Voss and Gotwals, of Central High; Siler and Walton, of Penn Charter; Holmby, of Germantown; Glascock, of Catholic High; Mahoney, of La Salle; Weisand, of St. Joseph; Rosetaky, of Southern; Heddel and Kinsman, of Northlawn; and several others, of West Philly, and numerous others.

Homes, Moore and Butler are selected for all-around efficiency. There were several other players who were better than Butler, but his grand defensive back blocking and short line punting make him a necessity to the first team. Without him Voss and Gotwals would not have been able to shine brilliantly for Central High.

Voss, Glascock and Siley are the second-line backs. The former is an excellent punter, brilliant tackler and the best man interfering in local games, barring possibly Butler. There were several other backs who were more brilliant as ground gainers, but were not so valuable to the team.
