

80 MEXICAN TEACHERS ARRIVE HERE; THEY WILL INSPECT CITY'S SCHOOLS

They were photographed at the Baltimore and Ohio Station as they alighted from their train. General Carranza sent them to the United States to study American educational methods.

POLICE FEED STARVING TAILOR AND FAMILY, THEN ARREST HIM

Kindness Softens Stern Hand of Law When Bluecoats See Sad Plight of Man Accused of Larceny

NOTHING TO EAT, NO FIRE

Serving of Warrant Deferred Until These Painful Deficiencies Are Repaired

A man who had the good luck to have an overcoat and the even better luck of having the money to get it pressed occasionally took it to a tailor to have it fixed up. When it was not delivered he had a warrant sworn out for the tailor's arrest and two policemen, Stauffer and Royle, cheerfully went to the home of the tailor, whose name is Antonio Napoleon, to arrest him.

"There they knocked on the door of the little house at 929 Pentridge street. Napoleon came to the door.

"Are you Napoleon?" asked Stauffer, bristly.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

"Oh, yes," said the man, who looked haggard, and he let them in without regrets about the fix he was in. But the policemen saw things that made them delay the business of capturing the unfortunate Napoleon and conducting him to a cell.

WOMAN WHO POISONED HER TWO BABIES BREAKS DOWN

Did Not Know Children Were Dead, To Test Prisoner's Sanity

"Are my babies alive?" pleaded Mrs. Mabel Fields, 24 years old, of 2731 Sherman avenue, Camden, today, when she was arraigned before Recorder Stackhouse, in Camden, on the charge of poisoning her two children, John, 14 months old, and Mabel, 3 months old. Both children died last Thursday in the Cooper Hospital. After giving her children poison, Mrs. Fields attempted to end her life by swallowing several ounces of the same poison. She has been in the Cooper Hospital since last Thursday.

Mrs. Fields didn't know that her children had died until she was informed of their death by Recorder Stackhouse. She then broke down and became hysterical. Recorder Stackhouse committed Mrs. Fields to the Camden County jail, where Prosecutor Kraft will have an alienist examine her as to her sanity.

SELF-RINGING BELL ALARMS

West Philadelphians Call Police to Stop Midnight Tolling

The bell in the tower of the Emanuel German Reformed Church, 38th and Barre streets, went on a rampage last night and aroused the neighborhood from its slumbers. From 11 until nearly midnight the bell clanged incessantly, and all kinds of conjectures were afloat among the peaceful residents in that vicinity.

Some one called up the police and a detail was sent out from the 29th street and Lancaster avenue station. When they arrived, however, the bell stopped ringing as suddenly as it had begun.

The Rev. S. S. Stern, pastor of the church, explained that the bell had been out of order for months and that experts "fixed" it yesterday. It is attached to the mechanism of the church clock and rings every hour. All went well until late last night, when something got out of order. The experts were called upon to do some more "fixing" today.

STRICKEN ON TRAIN, DIES

Merritt H. Haynes Taken Fatally Ill While Returning Home

Merritt H. Haynes, 34 years old, of 2719 North 13th street, son of J. B. Haynes, a wholesale lumber merchant, with offices in the Real Estate Trust Building, died today in the Samaritan Hospital of heart disease. He was stricken late last evening while riding on a Philadelphia and Reading train. Mr. Haynes returned to his home from Germantown, where he had attended a dinner party, when he suddenly fell from his seat on the train.

Mr. Haynes was a life insurance agent connected with the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, L. E. Haynes, of Ambler, and E. C. Haynes, of Jenkintown.

Negro Attacks Young Woman

A young negro crouched in the shadow of a doorway on Jefferson street near Sydenham until Miss Ella Melin, of 123 North 13th street, was beside him. Then he jumped out, struck her in the face with his fist, seized her pocketbook and escaped.

The attack occurred early last night as Miss Melin was walking west on Jefferson street. Miss Melin was treated by a physician and then reported the attack to the 9th and Oxford streets police station. Her pocketbook contained $5 cents.

'Bishop of Wall Street' Preaches Here

The Rev. Dr. William Wilkinon, known as the "Bishop of Wall Street," is conducting a series of services in this city in connection with the Advent Mission now being held by the Protestant Episcopal Churches throughout the world. His work is in the districts covered by St. Simon's Church, 7th street near High avenue, and St. Timothy's Church, Roxborough. Doctor Wilkinon will hold services at noon today on Main street below Walnut Jane, Manayunk. Yesterday he addressed a large number of operatives in front of the Keystone Mills, Levering-ton avenue and Wilde street, Manayunk.

M'KENY STRICKEN WITH APPENDICITIS

Warden Undergoes Operation at Hospital—Doctors Predict Quick Recovery

ROBERT J. M'KENY, Warden of the Eastern Penitentiary, who underwent an operation for appendicitis today at the Pennsylvania Hospital.

Warden Robert J. McKenty, of the Eastern State Penitentiary, it became known today, was stricken with appendicitis yesterday afternoon while dictating letters in the office of the prison. He was hurried in an automobile to the Pennsylvania Hospital, where he was operated on early this morning. Physicians at the hospital said this afternoon that Mr. McKenty, or "Bob," as he is known to thousands, would be able to leave the hospital in about a week.

A few hours after the operation several telephone messages reached the Pennsylvania Hospital, inquiring for Mr. McKenty's condition. The messages came from settlement workers and others. The message which touched Mr. McKenty most was one from prisoners confined in the Eastern Penitentiary. This message was phoned to the hospital by the deputy warden at the request of some of the "lifers" and other prisoners.

"Tell the boys that I will soon be with them," was the message sent back to the prisoners.

Some of the prisoners at the prison are preparing to raise a fund with which to purchase flowers for the patient.

SUIT AGAINST THREE RICH DEFENDANTS FAILS

Statute of Limitations Bars Claim on George W. Elkins and Widener and Dolan Estates

Judge Dickinson, in the United States District Court, today dismissed the suit of Richard B. Kelly, a minority stockholder of the Central Park, North and East Railroad Company, of New York, against George W. Elkins and the estate of Peter A. B. Widener and Thomas Dolan. The court held that the Pennsylvania statute of limitations barred the claims, but allowed Kelly's counsel 20 days in which to move to amend the bill of complaint in an effort to bring their cause within the six years' statutory period.

The principal delinquents with which Widener, Elkins and Dolan were charged were that after they failed to provide for a renewal of $2,200,000 in mortgage bonds of the Central Company, and after they were six years overdue, foreclosure proceedings were instituted, and the property of the company was sold at auction.

John G. Johnson, who appeared for defense, brought forward the fact that the statute of limitations interfered, as his principal point. Mr. Johnson pointed out that the bill of complaint stated that the three Philadelphians were directors of the Central Company, from 1893 to 1905. If the defendants committed any breach of trust, it must of necessity have been later than 1905, declared Mr. Johnson, many years previous to the statutory period of six years in which Kelly could sustain his suit.

Class Mollen, of New York, of counsel for Kelly, contended that the alleged delinquencies of the directors were not discovered until 1908, when the foreclosure proceedings were instituted, and that the statute of limitations should be computed from that time.

CHASE NEEDLE WITH X-RAY

Camden Physicians Find One That's a "Will-o'-the-Wisp"

Surgeons at the Homeopathic Hospital, in Camden, will make a third X-ray examination of Raymond Lilly, 18 years old, of 138 Haddon avenue, today, in an effort to locate a needle, which is wandering somewhere around the youth's body. Yesterday Lilly told the physicians that the piece of steel was giving him considerable trouble and asked that it be removed. An examination disclosed the needle in his hand, but when surgeons explored that member the needle had disappeared. Another examination by the rays showed it to be several inches away and still moving. Physicians are hopeful of finding it today.

DEFENDANT AND SURETY GONE

Doctor Accused of Violating Drug Act Fails to Appear for Trial

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 1.—Dr. Boyce D. Brooker, of Richmond, indicted for violations of the Harrison drug act, failed to answer in the United States District Court today when his name was called for a second trial. The first jury stood 11 to 1 for conviction. Brooker gave bond for his appearance, his wife being his surety.

He left the city a week ago and Mrs. Brooker left yesterday. It is believed they have gone to England.

DIXON The Dependable Tailor House Established 1866 A New Overcoat Thought We're known man who regarded an overcoat as the least important part of their attire from the point of view of fit. A bad guess, as we've later proved to them. An overcoat that's Dixon-tailored is cut, fitted and finished to meet specific overcoat requirements—plus those of your particular type of architecture. Result: Roominess where it should be; smooth lines and curves; no armpit sag or shoulder drag—and prices that are not exorbitant. $35 to $60 1111 Walnut Street

Xmas Greeting Cards There is still time to order personal greeting cards for Christmas, and have them delivered in ample time. Make your selection from hundreds of attractive designs at prices indicated by the following: No. 10—25, $1.80; 50, $3.40; 100, $6.40. No. 3—25, $2; 50, $3.90; 100, $7.00. No. 14—25, $2.80; 50, $5.35; 100, $10.25. These prices are for cards engraved from your own plate, with envelopes. Plates are 75 cents and $1 additional. Ask for complete illustrated catalogue of Christmas gifts. Pomerantz EVERYTHING FOR YOUR OFFICE 34 and 36 S. 15th St. Stationery Department

Does your girl know the taste of Henry's CHOCOLATES $1.00 per box Sold at over fourteen hundred retail stores. HENRY'S CHOCOLATE CO. 316 Market St.

Diamond Ornaments Brooches Pendants Necklaces Finger Rings Bracelets Earrings Sautoirs J. E. Caldwell & Co. 902 Chestnut Street Merchants who purchased now may be reserved for Christmas delivery Closing Hour Six o'Clock Until Christmas

INJURED IN TROLLEY WRECK

Two Persons Cut and Bruised When Car and Freight Collide

Two persons were injured and many others shaken up when a trolley car going west on Gray's Ferry road at 34th street collided with a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train last night. The accident resulted from a misunderstanding between the motorman of the trolley car and the engineer of the locomotive.

Joseph Murphy, 23 years old, of 1505 Reinhard street, was badly cut and bruised. He was taken to the Polyclinic Hospital for treatment. Marie Jackson, 28 years old, of 580 Politz street, was cut about the face by flying glass, but refused to go to the hospital. Several other passengers were jarred and bruised.

Blended milk is adulterated milk

WHEN skim milk is added or part of the cream removed from your milk supply by blending, your milk is adulterated.

It is easy to see that should this practice be allowed to continue, the milk supply of this city generally would be blended.

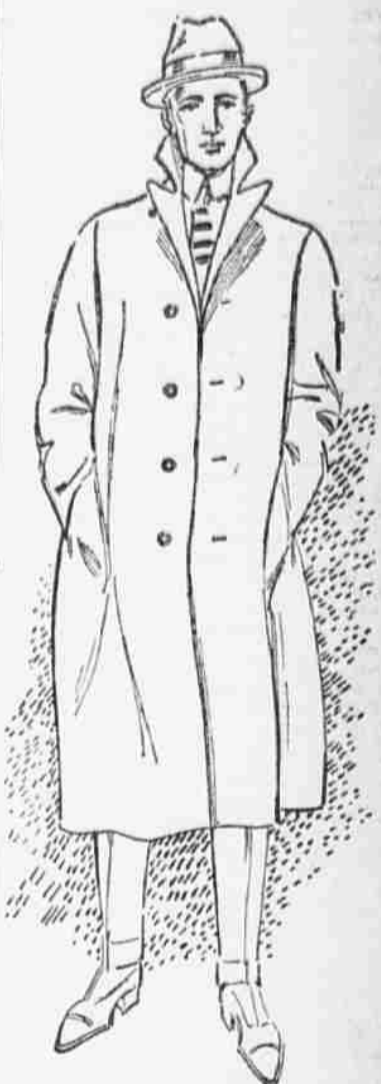

Philadelphia would then be known to the trade as a blended milk city. The sale of milk would be established on a blended milk basis with the result of a very poor milk supply for Phila.

The Supplee Dairy is opposed to this method of taking an extra profit from the pockets of Philadelphia milk users. Supplee Milk is not blended—our patrons get all of the native richness of the milk when it comes to them. Not a drop of cream is taken from it; not a drop of skim milk is added.

Supplee Milk is pure, clean, rich.

The Supplee Alderney Dairy Milk—Cream—Ice Cream

Perry Values at $15, $18, $20, $25 are the Preferred stock of Price quotations

Perry's 48 inches long; four buttons; big roll collar that closes up under the chin. Full loose back hanging straight from shoulders. Some skeleton lined. Various cuff treatments.

S

The Important Thing In Buying Diamonds

Is to have absolute confidence in the merchant who sells them. We buy abroad, for cash, direct from the cutters and insist on a uniformly fine quality. We make our own mountings and invite a comparison of styles and prices.

Our new catalogue shows over 20,000 photographic illustrations of all that is desirable in Diamonds, Watches, Jewelry and Silverware.

May we send you a copy?

S. Kind & Sons Diamond Merchants Jewelers-Silversmiths 110 Chestnut Street Closing Hour Six o'Clock Until Christmas

A unique idea in men's high grade scarfs

JUST in time for the holidays we have received this lot of rich scarfs in beautiful colors. Medieval designs adapted from the famous Riggs' Collection in the Metropolitan Museum of Art. These exclusive scarfs will go very quickly for holiday gifts.

Price $2 each REID AND FORT 1114 Chestnut Street 1119-21 Market Street 11 S. 15th Street

The nearer you get to the source, the the clearer and cleaner you'll find the water

And, by the same token, the store that buys its woolsens direct from the mills, and buys them in quantities, can sell Suits and Overcoats free from the alluvial deposits of fancy prices picked up by the products of wholesale manufacturers on their way to your wardrobe.

We deal direct with the Mills and with you!

We're the only link between loom and layman—likewise, Lawyer, Clergyman or Doctor.

So that $15, $18, $20, $25 for a Perry Suit or Overcoat stands for the highest value at the lowest price that probity can put on sound merchandise.

PERRY & CO. "N. B. T." 16th & Chestnut Sts.