

ILLUSTRATED Evening Ledger

MONDAY
December 6, 1915

MEN, WOMEN, AND THINGS WHOSE NAMES YOU READ IN THE DAY'S CHANGING RECORD OF EVENTS

MISS MADELAINE HARRISON
Dancer with the Balalaika Orchestra at the Russian Prazdnik, to be held in the Bellevue-Stratford this evening.

FOUND—THE MAYOR-ELECT'S DOUBLE

At the left is Thomas B. Smith, who will be the city's chief official after January 1. Opposite is United States Commissioner Howard M. Long, who spends much of his time explaining to persons he meets in the Federal Building that he is not the city's next chief executive.

VICTIM OF THE ALLIES' "ATTRITION" POLICY
Hans Schlich, of Koenigsberg, a laborer, lost both hands in the war. Scientists have provided him with substitutes that he may resume his place in Germany's industrial army.

RELIC OF COLONIAL DAYS
This is believed to be the smallest residence in the city, situated at Hunting Park avenue and 29th street. Its stone and mortar were characteristic of early days in Philadelphia.

MADAME GANNA WALSEK
Polish soprano who will appear as a soloist at the Russian Prazdnik this evening.

SURE OF HIS JOB
Walker Webb, attendant to Mayors for 18 years, is cheerful because Mayor-elect Smith says his position at City Hall is safe.