

GOVERNMENT TO ACT AT ONCE AGAINST ALL FOREIGN PLOTTERS

President and Cabinet Outline Plan of Action—Many Indictments Expected Against Hyphenates

MARSHALL SEES GREGORY

Thousands of Federal Agents of Many Departments Set to Work on Cases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—A program of action to back up the President's announced intention to "crush the hand of power creatures of treason, disloyalty and anarchy" was mapped out today.

Following a cabinet conference late yesterday, the Secretary of State, Mr. Lansing, and other members of the cabinet, discussing cooperation in a vigorous campaign to stamp out criminal conspiracies, District Attorney Marshall, who is expected to be appointed as Attorney General, conferred here with Attorney General Gregory.

Marshall went over the evidence in various bomb plot conspiracies, the von Rintelen case and other indictments pending in New York, conferred here with Attorney General Gregory, who also had a hard time trying to look serious.

Even an address by Chevalier Ball, who constantly wears a smile, despite the fact that he is an undertaker expert, failed to cast a gloom over the occasion. Mr. Ball told the embryo undertakers the many things which would be expected of them, and explained that they would have to be true to their calling in every sense of the word.

The examination was conducted by Robert Smith, of the State Board, who also had a hard time trying to look serious. If some of the local comedians had been around they would have got enough material to keep them healthy for the rest of the season.

TWO MEN ACCUSED OF STEALING AUTOS

Police Say One Prisoner Admits Theft of Six Machines and Other Goods

An 18-year-old boy who is believed to have been released recently from the Ben Mill Reformatory and a 23-year-old companion will have a hearing at City Hall today, when they will face charges of stealing an automobile and merchandise amounting to more than $300 in value.

The younger is Charles I. Neppi, of Berks street near 21st, and his companion is Harry Meredith, of 25th street above Montgomery avenue.

In addition to one automobile which the police assert they know to be stolen, Neppi is said to have admitted stealing six others, the names of which the police say were found in a garage near Berks and Marston streets, where the cars were kept.

The police say that in Neppi's rooms a quantity of stolen goods was found. The articles included neckties, shirts, coats, underclothes, collars, hosiery, automobile accessories, hardware, jewelry and clocks. Neppi is said to have admitted pawned other stolen articles and then destroying the tickets.

COFFIN HE MADE WILL CONVEY OLD SOLDIER

Last Member of Garibaldi Legion Here Is Dead—Casket 34 Years Old

The last member of the Garibaldi Legion in this city will be buried today in Greenmount cemetery in a coffin made with his own hands 24 years ago. He is Lorenzo Alpianti, an art engraver of 40, who died at his home, 339 North 13th street, following an attack of liver trouble. He was 82 years old.

Alpianti fought with Garibaldi, the Italian liberator, in two wars against Austria. He came to this city in the early part of the century.

More than 24 years ago Mr. Alpianti constructed his own casket and requested that he be buried in it. It is built of walnut, inlaid with pearls, ivory and silver, and the various colored woods are worked into Italian and Oriental designs. It is said to be worth several thousand dollars, aside from the workmanship.

KNIGHTS OF THE CREPE ENLIVEN CITY HALL

Undertakers Fill Big Building With Ringing Laughter and Merriment

If there could be such a thing as an arena of happiness, it was percolating all over City Hall this afternoon. Near the roof of the seventh floor a constant buzz of voices, interrupted every few moments with boisterous laughter, could be heard.

It was noticed that many free-coated men who came from the direction of the roof wore a broad smile. Rumors spread rapidly as to the cause. Some one started the report that Mayor-elect Smith had promised to change all his plans and keep all of the present administration officials in office.

While hundreds were speculating, the cause of the fun was discovered. Seventy-nine undertakers were holding a meeting in the rooms of the Civil Service Commission. They came to take the examination required by the State Board of Undertakers. Like all true knights of the crepe, they were in a happy mood. No one talked of gloom and graves nor was there a word about corpses or cadavers.

Of course, many of them wore black high hats and sepulchral demure, but this was only a veneer which covered a happy disposition and a facetious policy.

Even an address by Chevalier Ball, who constantly wears a smile, despite the fact that he is an undertaker expert, failed to cast a gloom over the occasion. Mr. Ball told the embryo undertakers the many things which would be expected of them, and explained that they would have to be true to their calling in every sense of the word.

The examination was conducted by Robert Smith, of the State Board, who also had a hard time trying to look serious. If some of the local comedians had been around they would have got enough material to keep them healthy for the rest of the season.

MANY GIFTS TO CHARITY IN HENRY A. ROGERS' WILL

Also $5000 Bequest to Needy Relatives, if Testator's Wife Approves

The will of Henry A. Rogers, of 223 and Chestnut streets, probated today, disposes of an estate valued at $100,000. Mrs. Auguste P. Rogers, widow of the decedent, receives $5000 and an additional $5000 to be used by her, if she approves thereof, to assist certain of her poorer relations and friends, whom we have been accustomed to help.

Other bequests are as follows: To the Franklin Institute of Pennsylvania, $5000; "because of the usefulness of said institution and out because of the association of my father and uncle with its early history."

Prosperity was evidenced again today when a request came to Elmer C. Greenwalt, Commissioner of Immigration and head of the Federal Trade Bureau at 135 South 2d street, that he send 400 laborers immediately to an industrial organization up-State. Those who asked for the men requested that their name be not published.

Mr. Greenwalt was promised that the highest market rate of wages would be paid all the men up to 60 he could send. There are many such requests pouring into the Federal Trade Bureau. Not many of them are as large as the one that came today, but, according to Mr. Greenwalt, there are many more jobs than he can find men to fill them. Machinists especially are in demand.

St. Vincent's Home benefits to the extent of $300 by the will of Mary P. Kennedy, of 1910 South 15th street, who left an estate valued at $16,500. The major portion of the estate goes to brothers and sisters of the testatrix.

The will of Henry E. Busch, of 1008 Spruce street, bequeathes the bulk of the estate, which is valued at $120,000, to his widow, Eleanor K. Busch.

Other wills probated were those of Elizabeth A. Hinkle, 523 Wayne avenue, which disposes of property valued at more than $40,000 in private bequests; Henry G. Barrow, 209 North 15th street, $100,000; Henry H. Goodrich, 235 Mount Vernon street, $17,000; Albert Heyer, 205 Dickinson street, $1000; Eliza Mears, 1062 Fairbridge street, $375; Hugh Murphy, 228 North 17th street, $100; and John A. Sched, 101 Ogden street, $250.

The personality of the estate of the Rev. James Hezney has been appraised at $1,100. Father Hezney was for many years vicar to his death pastor of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church, 231 and Berks streets. Henry H. Goodrich, $18,653, and Amelia Simons, $19,011.01.

P. F. DU PONT SUES DU PONT OFFICIALS

Plaintiff Asks Court to Dissolve du Pont Securities Company

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 8.—In the Federal Court this afternoon Philip F. du Pont brought suit against Pierre S. du Pont, the president, and the directors of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., of Delaware, and the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Co., of New Jersey, to dissolve the du Pont Securities Company which holds the stock formerly held by T. Coleman du Pont, that the stock be turned back and that the company be restrained from paying dividends upon it.

He also asks that a decree be entered requiring the matter of the acquisition of the T. Coleman du Pont stock or the proceeds be turned to the board of directors and that the individuals who acquired the stock be restrained from voting it.

Mr. du Pont alleges that he brings action in behalf of himself and other stockholders. He is the owner of 85 shares of preferred and 97 shares of common stock.

POPE BESTOWS RED HATS ON CARDINALS

Insignia for Austrian and Bavarian Prelates Sent by Special Messengers

ROME, Dec. 8.—Pope Benedict today conferred the red hats on four of the cardinals created at the private consistory Monday.

The prelates so honored were Cardinals Toni, Guarnini, Cagliero and Mistrangelo. The red hats for Cardinal Scapellato, papal nuncio at Vienna, and for Cardinal Frohwich, papal nuncio at Munich, were dispatched by special messengers to those cities.

By special dispensation of the Pope Emperor Franz Josef of Austria and the King of Bavaria will impose the insignia upon the two cardinals, who were absent from today's ceremonies.

The ceremony, being public, was attended by the aristocracy of Rome, members of the Pontifical Court and leading clericals. For the first time at such a ceremony the Austrian, Bavarian and Prussian members of the Vatican diplomatic corps, and the personnel of the German Seminary were conspicuously absent. All these took up their residences in Switzerland when Italy declared war.

The Pope also appointed three Canadian archbishops today: Monseigneur Mathieu, Archbishop of Regina, Assiniboia; Monseigneur Beliveau, Archbishop of St. Boniface, Manitoba; and Monseigneur Sinnol, Archbishop of Winnipeg.

Man Dies on Way to Hospital

MRS. T. J. HUSBAND WINS FIGHT FOR $100,000 ESTATE

Jury's Verdict Says Alleged Second Will Is Forgery

A sealed verdict in favor of Catharine H. Husband, the widow, declaring the alleged second will of her husband, Thomas J. Husband, Jr., to be a forgery, was returned by the jury before President Judge Greig, in Court of Common Pleas No. 1 today. The contest had been on trial for nearly two weeks. At a former hearing the will in dispute was sustained.

The verdict just rendered, the $100,000 estate will go to the widow instead of the "legal heirs" designated in the second instrument, which was dated April 8, 1908. The heirs who lose out under the verdict are Anna S. Husband, a spinster sister of the testator; Mrs. Margaret Conly, a married sister, and four children of a deceased sister, Mrs. Seaman.

The invalid document bears the signature of Harold H. E. Balbirnie, a druggist, of West Philadelphia and Germantown, and his brother, Dr. C. D. B. Balbirnie, as witnesses. Both of the Balbiriens had been in the employ of Husband as chemists at his laboratory at 31 and Spruce streets. Doctor Balbirnie was formerly in Councils.
