

VON NUBER MUST BE RECALLED OR FACE CHARGES

Government Decides to Demand Recall of Austrian Consul General

WILL BE REPLY TO VIENNA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Cancellation of the exequatur of Alexander von Nuber, Austrian Consul General in New York city, and a demand that he leave the country or face criminal charges will be the answer of the United States to the demand of the Austrian Government here that the Department of Justice withdraw its charge that he plotted to destroy American munition plants.

It is understood on high official authority that this action would have been taken before except that President Wilson did not desire to start any additional controversy with Austria-Hungary until the Ancona demand had been considered at Vienna. It is expected that not only will von Nuber's exequatur be canceled, but that similar action will be taken in the case of at least three additional Austrian consular representatives whose identity is at present withheld.

ACCUSED OF CONSPIRACY

In a statement issued from the Department of Justice three weeks ago, Chief Investigator Bielaski directly charged that Consul General von Nuber had aided directly in a conspiracy to destroy American munition plants. The Austrian Charge here made unofficial representations demanding that this charge be withdrawn, on the ground that there was no evidence to bear it out. The State Department referred the request to the Attorney General. A week ago the Austrian Embassy here filed an official request for a retraction, and both still are under consideration.

President Wilson will discuss the entire matter with Secretary Lansing and Attorney General Gregory soon after he returns to this city tomorrow. Secretary Lansing refused today to discuss the Austrian crisis in any way. He said that he would make no statement regarding the status of the consul general and other Austrian officials until a complete decision had been reached on all of the points involved.

The Secretary refused pointblank to say what attitude he has taken on the claim made by Austrian sources that the general activity of the Austrian representatives had been under the direct direction of Ambassador Duménil and that he has been withdrawn at the demand of the United States. This Government should drop all proceedings against any other officials of the Dual Empire.

VIOLATED HOSPITALITY

It was learned, however, that President Wilson has positively refused to accept any such viewpoint. The attitude of the Administration, officials say, is that the New York consul general and the unnamed additional officials have flagrantly violated the hospitality of the United States, have unlawfully conspired against its peace and its industries, and that their usefulness as consular officials is at an end. And if the advice of the Department of Justice is accepted, an effort will also be made to prosecute at least three of them criminally.

U. S. DEMANDS REPARATION IN ANCONA NOTE

Protest to Austria Insists Safety of Passengers Must Be Provided For

TEXT NOT GIVEN OUT YET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—That the safety of passengers must be provided for regardless of conditions and that ample time must be given them to escape are the principal demands in the protest the United States has sent to Austria on the sinking of the Ancona.

The demands of the United States were based on the official report of the sinking as issued by the Vienna War office, which virtually admitted that the Ancona was sunk while some of the passengers were still on board.

It was stated also that the position of the United States as outlined in its communication asking reparation for American lives lost and assurances that such acts will not be repeated, is that no matter whether a merchantman stop upon the firing of a warning shot by a warship or after a pursuit, all the passengers must be removed before the vessel is sunk.

The text of the note has not been made public, and officials of the State Department refused to discuss the communication in any way, declining even to admit it had been sent. The department had not been advised of its arrival at Vienna.

Baron Erich Zwiadenik, Charge d'Affaires of the Austro-Hungarian Embassy, and Counselor Polk, of the State Department, conferred late today, but neither would reveal the details of their discussion.

The State Department declared no reply to the list of inquiries recently submitted to the Vienna Foreign Office through Ambassador Penfield had been received. The admissions of the Austrian Embassy were contained in an official statement issued on November 14, which said:

"The submarine allowed 45 minutes for the passengers and crew to abandon the steamship, on board of which panic reigned, but only a small number of boats were lowered, and these were occupied principally by the crew. A great number of boats, probably sufficient to save all the passengers, remained unoccupied."

"After a period of 50 minutes, and as another steamer was approaching, the submarine submerged and torpedoed the Ancona, which sank after an additional 15 minutes."

The statement concluded with the assertion that if any of the passengers lost their lives it was the fault of the crew, because the steamer tried to escape after receiving orders to stop, and then the crew saved themselves and not the passengers.

This statement was accepted here as an unqualified admission that many of the passengers were still aboard when the Ancona received her death blow. Much evidence along this line has been obtained in depositions, one of which states positively that the more seriously injured passengers were left aboard to be carried down with the ship.

While the United States has insisted heretofore that vessels carrying non-combatants be not sunk without warning, this is the first case which, it is said, has developed the view of the Government as to what time is considered ample for the purpose of removing passengers, beyond the general statement that all passengers should be given a place of safety, as provided in the Declaration of London.

WAR COUNCIL DECIDES ON RETIREMENT TO SALONICA

PARIS, Dec. 10.—The general war council of the Entente Allies held another session today with Lord Kitchener and Sir Edward Grey attending. No statement as to the aims of the council has yet been issued, but information was given by a high authority today that a complete agreement exists regarding the measures to be taken in the Balkans.

Retirement of the Allied troops on Salonica is part of the official plan. English troops are still pouring into the Greek port.

In the discussion of various phases of the war at the high council in Paris, suggestions were made, it was learned today, as how the German high-sea fleet might be forced from its haven in the Kiel Canal. It was for the discussion of that question, it was said, that Admiral Roushine, chief of the general staff of the Russian navy, was called to Paris.

The military chiefs are satisfied with the progress of the operations on all the fronts, it is said, notwithstanding the check at the Dardanelles and the subjugation of Serbia by the Austro-Germans and Bulgarians.

FOUR TOWNS IN SOUTH SERBIA FALL INTO BULGAR HANDS

BERLIN, Dec. 10.—Four towns near the southwestern Serbian frontier have been captured by the Bulgarians, it was announced today. They are Ochrida, 13 miles north of the Greek border; Struga, northeast of Ochrida; Debra, 33 miles above Ochrida; and Dinkova, over the border in southwestern Montenegro.

The Havas correspondent at Salonica, in a message filed yesterday, says the French positions at Demirkapu and Kosturina were set upon by the Bulgarians on Tuesday. The fighting was extremely severe, but the correspondent says, the Bulgarians were repulsed.

The Bulgarians, assisted by Austrians, are still pressing the attack. The French front now extends from Ghevezil along the railroad to Demirkapu, with a projecting point in the direction of Kivovak. Thence it bends in a curved line toward Kosturina.

The British position extends from Doran to Valandovo, protecting the road to Strumitza. The British are preparing a second line of defense based on Bolovitz.

The Deep Sea Significance of Tecla Pearls

Practically nothing but the nature of their origin distinguishes Tecla Pearls from the ocean specimen. They possess all the pristine beauty of the deep sea pearl. They are filled with the fugitive colorings of the waters. They have the silk spun texture, the tender tints, and the shy radiance of pearls which come up from the sea. True, they differ in that they cost infinitely less to buy, but they are in all other respects substantially the same.
