EVENING LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1915:

AGENCIES FEED THE CHILD; HOME LIFE A MERE DETAIL

10*

M'liss Tells About the Man Who Takes Advantage of Xmas to Tell a Hard Luck Story

Doing Away With Mothers

M R. EARL BARNES' talk before the University Extension Society was decidedly amusing. Mr. Barnes has evidently more faith in "central agencies" than he has in the natural instincts of motherhood. He advocates an agency to direct the feeding, play and hygiene of the child. He says that children should be fed before they are 6 years old on Saturday and the throat and neck Sunday and during vacations. What is your objection to the first of the week, Mr. Barnes? I take it that the idea is to have teachers do the feeding. although the plan is not a practical one at that. Mothers have plenty of information as to proper care of themselves and their children nowadays. The Child Federation in the Weightman Building gets out a booklet, "Care of the Baby," free; the National Congress of Mothers, in Washington, does the same; the Babies' Welfare Association, whose headquarters are at the City Hall, also gives free advice. These are only a few of the many sources of information. So you see there is no reason for ignorance on any points of information. So you see there is no reason for ignorance of turn these sory relating to diet and hygiene. Why, then, should it he necessary to turn these sory ette. duties over to educators? Nothing is a more potent factor in the moral stamina of a child than home training, yet the modern tendency is toward a mechanical, impersonal training, a sort of incubated existence from babyhood up. There must be a happy medium. And I'm sure it can be found in the of home. Or will there be an agency to replace that?

. . . Waiting for a Square Deal

THE decision of City Solicitor Ryan with regard to the workmen's comwhite broadcloth, edged with a smart piping of black-and-white striped pensation act is welcome news to women workers in the various City Hall departments. I have heard many of these women express the opinion that with every administration the security of their positions is threatened. And silk and jet buttons. The effect was striking but admirally adapted to a vertain type of any woman who has passed the civil service examinations successfully and fills the demands of her profession deserves a reasonable amount of consideration. It remains to be seen if this consideration will be shown; in other words, whether there will be any autocratic "ousting" around the first of which out was designed to be worn with the January. The compensation law applies to all municipal as well as private to he worn with the dressy tanne or velvet corporations. In such a case, the city is hable for all injuries to its employes, male and female. Looks like we're getting equal rights for once, girls. But we can't afford to rejoice until after the "appointments" on January L More Human Gnats THE Christmas senson brings out the real and the false in human nature to an alarming extent. Knowing that there is no time of the year at

to an alarming extent. Knowing that there is no time of the year at which people are more charitably inclined, innumerable hard-luck takes and their tellers reap a rich harvest. T. A. Imly has nothing on the various tradesmen when it comes to convertible rhyme. Every year a billet doux is handed in at the back (yes, sometimes at the front) door, which reads like this:

"Out in the rain and the hail and the snow, The poor old iceman (coalman, slopman, delivery boy, ashman, etc.)

has to go." Why the unsuspecting housekeeper should be made the victim of such an out-and-out hoax I can't see. The iceman, ashman et al. are paid to go out in the cruel hall and snow. The latter, it is intimated, is a regular occurrence. in Philadelphia's unruly climate. Trading on one's softness of heart is a

. . .

$100.000 Reward!

TT LOOKS as if Mrs. Imogen Oakley's dream of a lifetime is coming true. Mrs. Oakley, he it known, is greatly interested in an anti-noise crusade for Philadelphia. She goes further than this, she advocates getting hold of all the obstreperous cocks, whose morning greetings awaken sloeping citizens. before dawn, and removing their crowing apparatus. Just how this can be done nobody knows, but certain residents of Logan are quite prepared to second the movement. There is a fortune awaiting the person who is clever enough to accomplish this and to steer clear of the S. P. C. A. Suggestions will be gratefully received. Some one must put an end to these Lady Eglantine "interviews." * * *

Letters to the Editor of the Woman's Page

Dear M'Liss-Your remarks in the EVENING LEDGER relative to efficiency in the schoolroom delivered a straight-from-the-shoulder blow where it was most needed. If teaching is a profession, then let it be treated as a profession. The slighting manner in which some misguided educators refer to elderly teachers should not be tolerated.

Experience is the main spoke in the wheel of efficiency, and untried, high-sounding theories must ultimately submit themselves to its rules.

A man between the ages of 40 and 60 is at the zenith of his powers. We do not refer to doctors or lawyers, to surgeons or business experts who have reached this "horrible age" as antiques. Their age and experience bring theria germs in nose or throat, even if tendants. an added weight to their opinions.

The same thing holds good in the profession of teaching. The perfect

VELVETS ARE STILL IN VOGUE FOR SMART TAILLEURS

Now that the fall no over and real winter weather is forcing Itaelf through our thin cloth sults, the need for something really warm is absolutely necessary, A great many women get around this by wearing a tiny silk or woolen bridge Jacket under the short coat of their taillears. Furs may keep warm enough, but they are very likely to lead to a series of colds if discarded. The pretty quilted. Japanese milk inner jackets have beer elaborated upon by Orl-ental embroidery and flowered silks, and the result is a perfectly charming little acces-sory to milady's toll-ette. Waistcoats also molve the problem when worn with a tailored solt. These are made of suede or peau de charmois as a rule, dou-ble-breasted, with mili-tary brass buttons, or, in some cases, hone ones, I saw one very smart waistcoat of while broadcloth, edged result is a perfectly sharming little access actly like a man's vest. The recent fashion shows featured a great many of these in differ-ent cuts and materials. Velvet and fur, how-ever, is still the watch-word when it comes to selecting a gown for afternoon or a dressy suit. All the best designers put out very few exceptions. These variations of the despicable business. It may only cost a quarter or a dime, but that money is same idea make intergot by unworthy means. It is one thing to give, but it is another thing to esting study and supply not a few helpful lints to the woman who is on the qui vive for somethin good-looking for theatre and restaurant wear, besides being quite in place at afternoon func-tions of all klinds. The collar of fur is cleverly manipulated, not only as a col-lar but as revers at either side of the front. Inserts of dull gold embroidery are seen on the jacket, which is softly

(SAL)

PITIABLE APPEALS TO CHEER "SHUT-INS"

'Merry Christmas' Means Little to Sick and Crippled Unless Public Is Generous

Many pitlable appeals for assistance are being received daily by Miss Mary Parker Nicholson, head of the Pennsylvania Branch of the Shut-in Society, at 1710 Chestnut street. One woman, who is helpices from rhoumatism and has an in-valid methas to support needs a store to valid mother to support, needs a stove to keep them warm. A little crippled siri asks for a Christmas basket and a par-alyzed mother needs bedelothes for herself and children. These are only a few of the many requests for a small share of the Christmas cheer which others in more fortunate circumstances can enjoy. The society, whose work among the poor and crippled is non-sectarian, has on display at its exchange at 114 South Sith street fancy worked collars, pen-wipers, needlebooks, ironholders, towels, wipers, needlebooks, ironnoiders, lowels, haskets, dolls, aprons and other articles all made by invalids. The proceeds from the sale of these articles are given to the support of that particular "shut-in" who made the article purchased. Contribu-tions for Christmas cheer for these suf-ferers are also received daily at the ex-chance and at the headquarters. 1210 change and at the headquarters, 1710 Chestnut street Thestnut street.

Many of the appeals received are heartending. A little crippled girl wrote:

"I am unable to read or sew and have been very sick. I have been sick for 10 years with rheumatism. May we (mother years with rheumatism. May we (mother and 1) have a Christmas basket?" A mother asks: "Have you any bed clothes which you could send me for Christmas? I am con-fined to my wheel-chair, having been paralyzed for 16 years. I do all the work of the house in my chair, baking, sewing and sweeping. I have several children and we really need bed clothes."

Another woman writes: "My old stove is all burned out. Could you help me to get a new one? I have no one to depend on, as my father died last spring and my mother is an invalid. I am helpless from rheumatism." "The coulds' homes that persons who de-The society hopes that persons who desire to buy small gifts will visit the rooms and look over the articles on display so that appeals like these and others may be turned into happiness and joy on Christmas.

STARVING, SHE TRIES TO PAWN GEMS HUSBAND FOUND IN SNOW

Watch and Necklace Offered as Last Resort

NEW YORK, Dec. 17 .- A woman whose clothes and disheveled hair indicated ab-ject poverty, with a hungry child who bore a battered doll, walked into a pawnshop on Sixth avenue yesterday and placed a watch set with diamonds on the ounter. She wanted to borrow $2.

the qui vive for some-thing new. Toulos sends over this model for a walking costume. The suit is devel 1 in amethyst chiffon velvet and would inake a stunning style a for the Dicember bride. It has a dis-thetiveness of line which would serve o for theatre and restaurant wear, besides r being quite in place at afternoon func-being quite in place at afternoon func-the sole also with huse tasses to final of the ends. The skirt has a gathered yoke at the walkt line, held in to a poke at the walkt line, held in to a taster short. It is rather short. the sole also with the sole also with the sole also with the sole taster the sole also with huse tasses to finar in the sole also with the sole also with huse tasses to finar in the sole also with the sole the sole also with the sole taster the sole also with huse tasses to finar in the sole also with the sole also with huse tasses to finar in the sole also with the sole also with huse tasses to finar in the sole also with the sole the sole the sole of the sole the sole of the sole also with t 42d street, and not knowing that it was valuable pawned a ring and a chain for $2 each. A brooch set with sapphires and diamonds was also turned over by him.

Removing Mildew Stains

best-loved dishes in our home. If there is a way of making anything so good, better and best, we shall certainly by the experiment. THAVE had a laundress who recently ruined my husband's favorite shirt by mildew. Some of them are white and "I want to thank the women through "I want to thank the women through the Corner for sending me so many nice dresses for myself and children. I can never repay them for the kindness. I also thank the Corner for printing my re-quest. I enjoy the H. H. C. very much and the good recipes to be found in it. I send my recipe for beefateak ple: One and one-half pounds of round steak, half an onion, four cups of coid water, one teaspoon of sait, four tablespoon of but-ter, four teaspoons of flour, one and one-half pared and sliced Irish potatoes. Cut the steak into emeinch cubes, put into the steak into emeinch cubes, but into the steak into emeinch cubes, but into the steak into emeinch cubes. Mist the bout the water upon all. Cover, bring to the best of the flour to it and stir the butter, add the flour to it and stir into

Add the sait when half cooked. Meit the butter, add the flour to it and attrinto the hot liquid. Parboll the pointoes in saited water, drain, add to the meat and cook three minutes. Turn into a buttered baking dish, cover with biscuit dough and bake in a hot oven. Mrs. M. S. R."

HALLAHAN'S

Christmas Slippers

Women's Felt Juliets

The art of successful giving is to make your presents felt. Which is to say that any woman will appreciate a pair of slippers such as these.

pair

Ribbon-trimmed, cush-ion leather sole, lambs' $ wool insoles; 50 colors and combinations. $1.75 values! Special

This Week at .....

some are black and white. Can you tell some are black and white. Can you tell me what will remove t > rtains without removing the color. MRS. R. H. C." It is a way some laundresses have and one that spells ruin to many a plece of fine linen. Mildew is proverbially ob-stinate to the action of detersives, but you may efface it. I may interpolate that it is the most exasperating because the injury is absolutely unnecessary. Cover the spots with a paste of lemon juice and salt and lay in the sun all day, wetting hourly with lemon juice. At night soak in lobbered milk. Hinse next morning and renew the application of lemon juice and salt and sunshine. Keep this up until the white shirts are free from stain. and sait and sumshine. Keep this up until the white shirts are free from stain. As to the black and white, I hesitate to advise you to attempt the operation. What extracts mildew will act upon the black.

Candied Violets

"Can you tell me how to candy violets, please? I inclose a stamp for a reply. "Mrs. M. E. S."

"Mrs. M. E. S." I do not vouch for the excellence of this formula. It may be that a better may be sent in. Try a few flowers and if they are all right continue the process. If not, walt to see what the Corner may bring forth in the form of trustworthy recipes. This was given to me by one who said she had used it satisfactorily: Put a pound of confectioner's sugar and a cup (a gill) of cold water into a sauce-pan and bring to the boil after it is dis-solved. Do not stir after it goes on the fire. Cook steadily until a little dropped into iced water becomes brittle at once. Let the syrup get bloodwarm and dip Let the syrup get bloodwarm and dip each flower in by the stem, holding it in the air a moment to dry partially. Then lay upon waxed paper in an airy window to harden. Do not let the violets touch to harden. Do not let the violets touch one another upon the waxed paper.

Polishing a Stove

Polishing a Stove "Two Items for the Corner: For bugs and vermin of any kind oil the entire bed with kerosene oil every morning and eve-ning. It's good. Stove blacking makes such a dust polishing it; Just put the blacking on freely and wipe it off after meals with newspapers or a dry clean cloth. The stove will look better every time it is rubbed. JULIA A. McD." Items from a long-time friend of the Corner which must be of service to more than one of us. than one of us.

Recipe for Stove Polish

"Can you accommodate in the narrow Corner a recipe for site m the harlow used for 10 years with comfort? Mix aluminum powder and banana cil to the right consistency. With a broad flat brush paint the sides of the range with does not peel or flake off. Don't get the paste too thick. MRS. A. C. K." Having given the like perscription to a dozen or more housewives who think fa-vorably of it, I cannot disagree with you or hold back the formula from the Corner

Fried Chicken in Cooker

"Should you want fried chicken that is dellelous, prepare it as usual, then brown slightly on both sides. Have one cooker soapstone heated thorourhly and take up the browned chicken, put in a cooker kettle, and leave it in the cooker two hours. I cook year-old chickens this way and they are tender and not dry. "NANNIE K."

Fried chicken a la Virginia is one of the CHRISTMAS BOXES FREE with lippers, hostery and buckles. A Santa Claus on a stick for every tile visitor. Go to the nearest Hallahan store: prices and variety are the same at all of our branches. Buttons Covered P. T. HALLAHAN Hemstitching 919-921 Market Street New Crystal Corner, 60th & Chestnut Sts. 4028-30 Lancaster Ave. 2746-48 Germantown Are. 5604-06 Germantown Are. Branch Open Svery Evening

Other Christmas Suggestions Uther Christmas Suggestions Mea's Silppers, S1.00, $1.50, $2, $2.50. Loy-' Ellippers, 39c, 65c, $1.00, $1.50. Children's Silppers, 39c, 65c, $1.00. Infants' Soft- le Shoes and Moccasins, 50c and 75c. Boys' Storm King Rubber Boots, $2.75. Chil-dren's Rubber Boots, $2.75. Chil-dren's Rubber Boots, $1.55. Silpper Ruck's and Ornaments-reduced to hulf price-50c to $2.00. Men's Silk Stockings, 35c, 50c and $1.00. Chil-dren's St chings, 25c. Boys' Stock-ings, 25c. Boys' Shoes, $1.35 to $3. Children's Shoes, $1.5 to $3.00. In-fants' Shoes, $0. $1.00 and $1.35.

balance, polse and experience necessary to successful results in teaching do not spring into existence overnight.

In closing one is prompted to observe that it is a poor rule that does not work both ways. How about a little "young blood and ginger" being infused into a certain worthy Board of Educators. We feel that they would be the first, these younger members, to grant the prior rights of the women who have proved their right to an honorable consideration in their profession. RUTH T. JONES.

. . . Dear M'Liss-Who was the blacksmith who spoke 40 languages? Elihu Burritt. CURIOUS. . . .

Dear M'Liss-Kindly give me the story of Cupid and Psyche. R. W. The story of Cupid and Psyche as given by the historian Apuleius, and as illustrated in later art, is supposed to be a figurative explanation of the course of human love. Psyche, a king's daughter, excites the jealousy of Venus, who sends Cupid to her to excite her with love for some ordinary mortal. But he is caught by her charms and lives with her in a fairy palace, she being under a vow not to look at him with her mortal eyes. Taunted for this by her sisters, she breaks the vow, and Cupid vanishes. Venus now imposes upon her many sore trials, the last of which is to fetch a box for her from Hades, which curiosity causes her to open on the way. The escaping scent overpowers her. Cupid comes to her aid, implores Jupiter in her behalf, and with his consent she is removed to Olympus, where she lives happily ever after with Cupid. . . .

Dear M'Liss-Would you be so kind as to suggest a few volumes to give a friend who is greatly interested in the works of Robert Louis Stevenson IRMA.

Choose any of the following: Biographical edition of his works as edited by Mrs. Stevenson, 25 volumes (Scribner); Balfour, Life, 2 volumns (Scribner); Cornford, Life (Dodd); Raleigh, Life (Lane); "Letters to His Family and Friends," edited by Colvin, 2 volumes (Scribner); Genung, "Stevenson's Attitude of Life" (Crowell); Japp, "Robert Louis Stevenson, a Record, an Estimate and a Memorial" (Scribner); Kelman, "The Faith of Robert Louis Stevenson (Revell); Mrs. M. I. Stevenson, "Letters from Samoa," edited by Marie C. Balfour (Scribner); Vailima Letters to Sidney Colvin, two volumes (Stone); Torrey, in "Friends on the Shelf" (Houghton); Strong and Osbourne, "Memories of Vailima" (Scribner). M'LISS.

Address all communications to M'Liss, care of the Evening Ledger. Write on one side of the paper only.

MILLIE AND HER MILLIONS

child spread diphtheria? and does such a child spread diphtheria?

HAVE YOU A LITTLE CARRIER OF

Under ordinary conditions probably not. Still, under extraordinary conditions, the precise nature of which is at present unknown, the susceptibility to infection by diphtheria increases, and then the inepidemic.

who have really had attacks of diphtheria are more dangerous carriers, providing the germs remain present in the throat or nose after convalescence. The carrier in this instance has obviously acquired sufficient immunity to recover completely, yet he may still harbor virulent diphtheria germs in the secretions of his nose or throat. Now for every known or unknown car-rier of diphtheria bacilli there are probably a dozen carriers of ordinary "cold" germs, or pneumococci. If the truth were told, maybe you have a little carin your own home.

Children with adenoids or enlarged ton-Children with adenoids or enlarged ton-sils are notoriously subject to infectious inflammations of the upper respirat.ry tract-the nose, the throat and the bronchial tubes. Formerly this was ascribed to lowered resistence. But the conviction is gaining ground at present that the explanation is that these chil-dren are "cold" carriers, and they "catch cold" from themselves every little while, headee passing it on to the rest of the cold" from themselves every little while, heades passing it on to the rest of the family at frequent intervals. The diseased tonsils and the thickened adenoid masses furnish ideal hotbeds for the propagation of "cold" microbes. With a hardy stock of well-developed pneu-mococci always on tap is it any wonder the child "takes cold so easily?" Have the little carrier's tonsils and adenoids properly treated by the family doctor and notice how favorably the operation re-acts upon the family "cold."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Can the treatment for liquor habit be given by a family physician at the pa-tient's home or is it necessary to enter

111

(Copyright, 1915.)

MANUFACTURERS OF SHIRTS, GOWNS, PAJAMAS, ETC. IMPORTERS OF UNDERWEAR, HOSIERY, GLOVES, CRAVATS

DIAMONDS ARE BECOMING SO COMMON NOWADAYS

111

Incorporated April 4, 1868