LOCAL COTTON TRADE IS SATISFACTORY

Wool Prices Advancing - Textil Industries in Good Shape. Iron and Steel Active

Conditions in the local cotton and cotton yarn trade are reported as very satlifactory, say R. G. Dun & Co. Dealers report a good volume of business, prices are firm and satisfactory and a good feeling prevails generally. The wool market is quiet but firm. The demand is mostly for fine and medium wools; the prices are gradually advancing, ing has been isse active during the week, owing to the strong views of those who are holding wool. The textile in-dustries in this city appear to be in ex-cellent shape as far as orders are con-cerned, but manufacturing is being ham-pered, owing to the continued lack of proper dyestuffs.

Manufacturers of shirtwaists and fresses state there is somewhat of a hill in business at present; the season has in business at present; the season has been late but satisfactory, and they are looking forward to a large spring and symmer trade. Trade is generally quiet spanner trade. Trade is generally quiet smong the cloak and suit manufacturers. Retailers of men's and wemen's furnishings and the department stores are the height of their Charles are ings and the department stores are in the height of their Christmas business, and it is stated business shows an in-rease. There is but little change in busi-pess conditions among wholesalers of dry goods, etc.

Business in the iron and steel trade con-Business in the iron and steel trade continues very active and in some cases producers are refusing to accept further orders, especially for extended delivery. Congestion of export business has become a prominent feature of the situation, and shortage of cars is a handleap. Pig iron is active and the tendency of pices is upward, particularly for early delivery. The demand for finished material is brisk and mills are operating to full capacity, with export business a prominent factor. Locomotive builders and estabuilding plants are well employed and shipbuilding plants are well employed and structural material is also firm.

There seems to be a better feeling in the hardware line at this time. Those consulted report a larger volume of busipess being transacted at this time, as compared with a corresponding period last year. A comparison of prices shows that they are gradually reaching a higher point than heretofore, with prospects o Purchasers apparently have more confidence and are making preparations for a larger business next year. It is guated that collections show improvement, although only very small.

The electrical trade reports a good volume of business in holiday specialties and brisk inquiry is noted along these lines. with prices firm. A fair volume of busi-pess is also noted in household special-ties, and some building operation work is still under way, causing a reasonable volume of business in that line. Prices are generally reported firm and collections fair. The stove trade is reported well em-ployed in staple goods and considerable business is also noted in supplementary heating apparatus. Jobbers and retailers are busy and foundries are operating at about 60 to 70 per cent, capacity. Prices are firm and collections fair.

The leather market is active and prices high. Glazed kid manufacturers report an active market, with prices for all grades steadily increasing. Raw material is in great demand and no surplus on hand. Shoe dealers report an active trade, due to weather conditions large sale of rubber footwear is reported.

The millinery trade is normal for this period and dealers report favorable orders for spring delivery. There is no change to note in the condition of the cemen market. Manufacturers report that the past season has been fairly good, and while there was for a time an inclination to cut prices, lately there has been a alight increase.

The chemical market is fairly active; a fair amount of business is being done, although buying is principally in small lots for immediate needs. The situation in dye stuffs remains unchanged; no foreign dyes are coming into the market; stocks are low and prices high. The paper market shows some improve-ment, manufacturers and jobbers reporting a steady increase in volume of sales. although very few large orders are being placed. Prices, as a rule, are well main-

The trade in domestic leaf tobacco during the past week has been moderate, few good sales reported and a number of inquiries made for good grades of Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

SEAMEN'S LAW WILL BE CONFERENCE TOPIC

Secretary Wilson to Preside at Meeting of Association for Labor Legislation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.-The American Association for Labor Legislation announced today that Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson will preside at the conference on the seamen's law which is to be held on December 25 during the annual convention of the association at the Shoreham Hotel. Opportunity to present their points of view is to be given to both shipowners and seamen at the

Andrew Purnseth, president of the International Seamen's Union of America, will represent the seamen, while the ship-owners have been invited to send a rep-resentative. Professor Henry W. Farowners have been invited to send a representative. Professor Henry W. Farnam, of Yale, will give an account of an impartial investigation into the conditions affecting American seamen which has been made during the year under his di-its program to a discussion of the first half year's work of the New York State Industrial Commission. Among the speakers on the compensation work of the commission will be F. Spencer Baldwin, manager of the New York State Insurance Fund.

The association is to hole a joint meeting with the American Political Science Association, which will, be presided over by Dr. Royal Meeker, of the Federal Bu-reau of Labor Statistics, and addressed by Prof. Henry R. Seager, of Columbia, and Ernst Fround, of Chicago. At the closting meeting, which will be held jointly with the Pan-American Scientific Congress, there will be representatives from North and South America to report on the progress in the application of industrial hygiene which has been made in their countries.

'PEEPING TOMS' WATCH MEN SKETCH THE NUDE

"Life," but Get Baths for Prank

they sketched an undraped model posing on a raised platform.

"Hold your head still, for the love Mike," seewled one to the sinvering lady. "The light is too strong," growled another, and during the whole proceeding there was a chorus of lamentation about the futility of a college course.

The scene new shifts to the floor above Slightly before the class below started one of the freshman of the school, having much lesure and having become blass and sophisticated from sketching bronze and plaster figures, had a bright idea. He procured four little gimlets and four little freshmen who also had a few leisure moments.

Five little "freshtes" then went busils to work, with the re- ilt that in a jiff; there were five neat little half-inch holes bored in the floor. Until the entrance of the model into the room below golden streams of sunshine streamed into the seniors' studio. But as soon as the class started to work the apertures became dark. A freshman eye was studiously glued to each little hole in the floor.

They traded views. They enlarged the holes stealthily. They stood on their heads. Each and every one, as he gazed steadfastly and appreciatively at the figure on the platform, resolved firmly to study with all his might in order that he, too, might some day be a dignified senior and see "life."

Just about this time each little fresh man felt a squirmy cold call twine up the vertebrae of his little back. For, as they crouched prostrate over the holes, a deep, stern voice said from the direction of the door, "Tonight at midnight-be rendy". Then the door closed before the trembling "Toms" could see who had ntiered the fearful words. The five little "freshies" at once lost all interest in the scene in the studio below.

"Who was it?" shivered one. "Search me-e," said another. "Let's git while the going's good," suggested another little "fresh," and as sliently as they had entered the five men sneaked from the building; then they ran six blocks on Loust street before they dared look around. Nothing happened.

"Some one was kidding us." they decided, and then went to their rooms in the "dorms." a merry whistle on their lips and an all-gone feeling in the region of their rive little solar-plexuses. When supper had been eaten and a night of study had passed without even the sign of a ghost or an avenging hand, the five little freshmen breathed easier and final-ly went to bed.

But promptly at midnight, when they were fast asleep, the bolts fell. Each man was divested of his "little nighty" and was marched outside into the cold night. They were taken to the basement of the Art School and immersed as many minutes in the blue-print baths as they had "person!"

Each was then hustled home at the end of a long paddle. This morning they are taking cough drops and quinine. Each little "freshle" has decided that "life is indeed a bitter thing."

NONSUIT REFUSED IN BANANA TRUST CASE

Court Overrules Motion for Defense and Trial Will Go to a Finish

A motion to nonsuit the most tedious trial that ever confronted a judge and jury in this city was overruled today by Judge Thompson when he decided that the $15,000,000 "Banana Trust" suit must be decided by a Jury. The case is the one in which the re-ceiver for the Bluefields Steamship Com-pany, Ltd., is attempting to recover damages from the United Fruit Company on the ground that the latter concern bought a controlling iterest in the other company and then strangled its banana-growing and importing business.

"The question to be decided in this case is one of fact," Judge Thompson said in giving his decision, "and for that reason is for the jury. The motion for non-suit is overruled."

Every one in the courtroom except the

Every one in the courtroom except the defense received the decision with manifest relief. Had the Court granted the motion for nonsult six tedious weeks of work, as well as thousands of dollars expended in preparing the case, would have been wasted, as would the time lost from business by the jurors.

So far the developments have been mainly in the nature of legal clashes between George Wharton Pepper, representing the defense, and Attorney General Francis Shunk Brown, counsel for the plaintiff. It is expected that another month will be required to present the

NEXT MAYOR FACES BIG DEFICIT IN FIRST YEAR

Shortage Will Amount to $3, 000,000, According to Present Outlook

Mayor-elect Thomas B. Smith and the members of his cabinet will face a deficit of probably $3,00,000 in the current funds of the city during the first year of the new administration. What the deficit will be in the event of the passage of any big loan, such as the measure calling for $55,000,000, is but a matter of mathematical calculation of interest and Sinking Fund

The appropriations for all departments The appropriations for an department for 1916, as completed by the members of Councils' Finance Committee, do not nearly provide for the operating expenses of the city during the next 12 months, as provision is not made for the full needs provision is not made for the full of the payroll of the Police Bureau

The police money for next December, at least, will have to come from a temporary loan, to be floated next fall, as it is agreed that there will be few items left for "transfer" in the closing months of the first year of the new administra-

The convention is also giving space on have been shortened so as to make the appropriation bills come within the $31.827,089 of estimated available revenues for 1918. The cutting of well over $9,000,000 from the estimated needs leaves no provision for many items that will have to be cared for next fall. Another contributary cause to the deficit in sight is the fact that the $1,200,000 temperary loan just authorized will have to be paid back out of the current receipts during the

The $25,000,000 loan is the third impor-tant piece of loan legislation started by the present Councils to fall. In the spring of 1914 the Suprems Court enjoined the holding of an election the day before the date set to approve a lean of $12,000,000 | The same decision invalidated the loan for ... $8,000,000 approved by the voters at the general election held in November of the
