EVENING LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1915.

"AS A FINISHER, BIRSKY, COLONEL GOTTHEIL AIN'T EVEN A BASTER," SAYS ZAPP DISCUSSING THE PANAMA CANAL Illustrations by BRIGGS By MONTAGUE GLASS

"If Instead of Water It's Got Rocks and Sand in It, It Ain't a Canal no Longer: It's Just Vacant Lots," He Adds

6

"But if Gottheil Was Such a Poor Success in Panama, Why Is It He Turns Down an Offer of $15,000 a Year to Run the City of Dayton, Ohio?" Asks Birsky

"They Offer Gottheil Money He Should Run a City ?" Zapp Inguires Incredulously. "Why, There's Plenty Experienced Fellers Which Would Handle the Proposition on a 50-50 Basis, and Pay the City of Dayton $15,000 Not Even as an Advance, but as a Bonus"

"WHAT makes a canal is the water in it," said Barnett Zapp, the waist manufacturer, "and if instead of water its got rocks and sand in it, Birsky, then it ain't a canal no longer; it's just vacant lots, and even if they would be partly excavated, y'understand, Panama lots is too far from the end of the Bronx subway to have much of a future."

"In a few days they would clear up | a baster." that land-slip and have the canal open again," Louis Birsky, the real estater, declared.

"That's what they said last summer," Zapp retorted. "Seemingly they think a canal is like the millinery trade-two grand openings a year and the rest of the time business is dead." "Never mind, Zapp," Birsky said; "them boys done wonders down there. Look at this here Colonel Gorgas, which he made the discovery that from mosquitoes biting a guinea pig comes malaria and yellow fever, and while in former times already the death claims from yellow fever in Panama was worse than the old industrial insurance days, now it's more healthy down there than Rockaway Beach. And how did Gorgas do it?"

"I don't know," Zapp said. "Shot all the guinea pigs, maybe."

"Say, looky here, Zapp; mach kei' fly screens on the mosquitoes, Zapp,

CHRISTMAS MUSIC

'They got big professors to come and decide why it is she slides down and fills up the canal."

finished the Panama Canal, Birsky, I | swers: 'I don't care if I never see you. | of merchants out there, Birsky, which here who's this cut they got big professors to come and decide why is it she slides down and fills up the canal. Some says build a wall to hold it. Others says: 'An idea! Don't do nothing of the kind!' Still another one says: 'Listen, Gottheil! Stopped fix it! I bet you between them they he tells Gottheil just what the trouble in Dayton, Ohio ?" is, and that's the way it goes."

"Sure, that's the way it goes with and nothing done about it," Zapp said.

would got to buy a filing cabinet to What's the matter the canal ain't I figure the first meeting of creditors keep track of my cancellations. As opened yet? Well, go and open it. at the latest, four weeks from the day a finisher, Birsky, Gottheil ain't even What are you standing?" And Got- after Christmas." theil don't even say: 'Could I help it ain't finished," Birsky said. "In this perform miracles for thirty dollars a exclaimed. "The people of Dayton, round and goes to work and gets it run the city for them." open quick, Birsky, because when you are working for a private owner, should run a city?" Zapp inquired. Birsky, you get paid for results and fired for excuses."

up canals them fellers are trying to Zapp," Birsky responded, "but if Gottheil was such a poor success in wouldn't clear the coffee grounds out Panama, why is it he turns down an of a kitchen waste pipe.' And then offer of $15,000 a year to go to work

"Well, some people is funny about leaving New York," Zapp retorted. Government ownership-a lot of talk "I've stood on State street, Chicago, opposite Marshall Field's, at 3 o'clock "Now, if it would be anybody like in the afternoon, and heard traveling this here C. L. Schwab which owns it, salesmen pass a remark how dead it Birsky, he would be on the job at 8 is after New York, which when them o'clock, y'understand, and before he fellers was at home they lived so far takes off his coat, even, he says: up in The Bronx that they got to 'Where's Gottheil? Ain't down yet, I transfer twice to reach the nearest Melammed like Colonel Gottheil? The Meises," Birsky said indignantly. "If suppose. Sits up till all hours of the delicatessen store. And, besides, it feller is a great man, Zapp." ft wouldn't be that Gorgas uses them night with a lot of lowlife professors, depends on what company out in Dayy'understand, and expects to hold his ton offers him the job, Birsky. Every- just through getting my teeth fixed Gottheil would never finish the canal." job yet!' And then when Gottheil body in Dayton don't do a business for $75 by Doctor Plotnik which he "Finish it!" Zapp exclaimed. "If I comes in and says, 'Did you want to like the National Cash Register Com- guaranteed absolutely painless dentis-

"What are you talking nonsense-"It ain't Gottheil's fault the canal if she slides on me? Expect me to a concern offer him the job!" Birsky week!' No, Birsky, he turns right Ohio, offers Gottheil a job he should

> "They offer Gottheil money he "Why, there's plenty experienced fellers right here in New York who "Anybody can speak a criticism, have worked for years by one concern alone on 14th street which would handle the proposition on a 50-50 basis, and instead the people of Dayton pays them for runnning the city, they would pay the city of Dayton $15,000, not even as an advance, but as a bonus."

> > "Sure they would," Birsky agreed, "and that's why the people of Dayton want Gottheil for the job."

"Well, they can have him," Zapp said; "I'm sick of him." "Sick of him!" Birsky cried. "Is that a way to talk about a big "Don't I know it ?" Zapp said, "I am would finish waists the way Gottheil see me, Mr. Schwab?' the boss an- pany, y'understand. There's a couple, try, but not in writing mit a surety company bond, nor anywheres near it, believe me."

"What's all this got to do with Colonel Gottheil?" Birsky demanded. "It's got just so much to do with it as getting my hair cut once in a while, or paying a doctor $25 to find out that an operation ain't necessary as yet, Birsky, because in Plotnik's office not only do I got to dread what that murderer will do to me, but I must also anticipate reading that Colonel Gottheil is a great man by a magazine without a back and the dentists thumbmark in butter on the first page; also, in the barber shop Colonel Gottheil is a great man by a Sunday supplement with poetry about him, like he would be a breakfast food or the Lackawanna Railroad, and in the doctor's office it ain't enough that the Leute is got to come there three times a week with diabetes oder Magenbeschwerden, but on the table in the waiting room is Gottheil after Gottheil, with covers, without covers, and dating anywheres from January, 1911, to last April at the latest. Yes, Birsky, I don't care if it would be the biggest tradek that ever lived; people would soon get sore at him if they see chance that it was anyhow larceny in his picture too often."

"Is that so!" Birsky exclaimed. "Well, so far I ain't met many people that kicks about seeing too often Mr. Harrison's selig on a five-dollar bill." "Sure, I know, but you take them fellers whose pictures is on fifty and hundred dollar bills, and while for all time that somebody has got the goods that most of us know what they done. it could have been time in the penitentiary or something, we're only sorry that we see so little of them." "That's what you think, Zapp,"

"The public will say, 'Well, it's about time.'

"Reading that Colonel Gottheil is a great man by

Birsky said. "You are one of them | he used to was a respectable man and fellers which if you don't know what a feller done to get his picture before the public you are willing to take a the first degree."

"I am only saying, Birsky!" Zapp protested. "I am willing to take a chance that we elect once in a while a Congressman oder a judge or even a President who done something some on him for. But we can't do it if we put pictures in the paper only of fellers which no one could say they ever seen 'em playing for as much as do a whole lot more work on the two cents a hundred settling 25 cents on the dollar. Believe me, Birsky, if then I would got sympathy for the we paid Mr. Taft a hundred thousand feller, and I would say, 'Never mind, dollars a year for being President, there's plenty fellers we could afford to pay two hundred thousand, not including commissions and traveling expenses, so much smarter they are than Mr. Taft; the difference being that if they got their picture in magazines the way Mr. Taft does, by the next mail comes a letter reading: 'Dear Friend Max: I seen your picture in the Friday Evening Post and I am glad to see you are getting on so well. which the same I wish I could say about myself, as I am two weeks behind in my room rent here and am sick and everything. Why not come over to see me? As ever,

GOLDIE HOWARD.

"'P. S .- I found a couple more of your old letters yesterday. G. H.'

"Then the reason why you don't by the knocks."

not a loafer?" Birsky asked. "Say," Zapp protested, "he's still . respectable man."

"Then what's the objection?" Birth asked.

"The objection is that I couldn't get no sympathy with pictures which has under 'em 'Colonel Gottheil, who built the Panama Canal,' or 'Colonel Get. theil, who finished the Panama Canal! whereas if the picture says, 'Colonal Gottheil, who had an idee that he faished the Panama Canal, when she slides down on him and he's got to verfluchte Bobke,' y'understandhe'll finish it yet-you see if ha don't.' "

"And so he will," Birsky declared, "in a few months more."

"Did I say he wouldn't?" Zapp asked. "And when he does, and they put his picture in the paper with 'Colonel Gottheil, who finished the Panama Canal,' under it, the public will say: 'Well, it's about time, 1 thought that achiemiel would never get through.""

"They wouldn't say no such thing. Zapp," Birsky said. "Colonel Gettheil is too popular for that."

"Maybe you're right, Birsky," Zapp concluded, "but if you was in the dellcatessen business and run an autom bile delivery you would understand that too much popularity is like too much carbon-you can always tell a men hook atike, gave hie a little case for Christmas. When the real ashnan arrived he was indignant, and it is pos-sible that he will try to get the peeds ash-hauler jaited for obtaining most under false pretenses.

Ashmen who were turned down left door steps with ominous frowns, and it is possible that housekeepers who re-fused will find many broken ash base on their sidewalks during the following year, The garbage man was equally insistent today. He also spread some porty in advance. He was a little more business-like, however, and had his rhyme 1995 written on little envelopes. It was as follows:

like to see Gottheil's picture is because | (Copyright, 1915, by The Tribune Association)

a special Christmas address at the North Branch Y. M. C. A. on Sunday, Decem-ber 25, at 4 p. m., on "The Prince of Peace in a World of War."

"DOC" STEARN SAYS PEACE LEADER HAS FORDITIS AND THINKS HE'S "IT"

LID ON SHORE GAYETY SLAMS SHUT GOOD AND

ASHMAN, GARBAGEMAN AND THEIR ALLIES IN CITY-WIDE "DRIVE" TODAY Thinning Pocketbooks Tremble as Army of Men and Women Who Do Your So-Called "Dirty Work" Ask to Be Remembered in Christmas Spirit of Giving

ollows:

ters.

IN THE CITY CHURCHES TO BE OF HIGH ORDER

Special Programs Arranged for Services Tomorrow, Beginning in Early Morning and to Be Repeated Sunday

CAROLS BEFORE DAWN

Christmas music has been the most enjoyable feature of the annual holiday observances in the churches of Philadelphia for many years. And the programs announced for services to be held tomorrow and Sunday indicate that the lovers of good music are to enjoy an unusual treat this year.

Throughout the city Protestant and Catholic churches will begin the birthday of the Lord with celebrations of song. prayer and thanksgiving. As early as 5 o'clock fomorrow morning, before the first ray of sunshine glitters on Old "Billy" Penn's broad-brimmed hat on the "Billy" Fenn's broad-brimmed hat on the City Hall tower, the Quaker City will welcome the greatest holiday of the year with the sweet music of the chimes and the loud ringing of the big bells on many scores of churches. For in Philadelphia there are a great number of churches in which daybreak services are always held on Christmas morn. And from that time until nearly midnight on Sunday hardly an hour will pass during which there will not be some special services in the churches-and, of course, in Philadelphia special services mean exceptionally fine programs of Musical programs have been announced Musical programs have been announced to be given tomorrow at 5 a. m. in the Church of Our Lady of Mercy. Broad atreet and Susquehanna avenue: the Cath-ofic Church of St. John the Evangelist. Lith and Chestnut streets: the Church of the Gesu and St. Ludwig's and other churches in the central part of the city. At the 11 o'clock Masses in St. John's and Our Lady of Mercy Churches there will also be special music, and in hundreds of Protastant churches there will be preaching services, with special music, at 10:30, 10:45 and 11 o'clock a. m. Is the majority of the churches the en-

In the majority of the churches the entertainments, in which the children will take part and at which Christmas carols and songs will be sung, will be held tomorrow evening.

At all the regular services of the churches. Sunday schools and young people's organizations on Sunday Christ-mas music will be given and Christmas people's organizations on Sunday Christ-mas music will be given and Christmas hymus will be sung. The programs this year make "peace" songs popular as a result of the death struggle between the nations across the sea.

One of the notable musical programs to be heard in the city will be that of the 4 o'clock services in the Episcopal Church of St. Luke and the Epishany, lith street below Spruce, on Sunday afternoon. A choir of 40 persons, supplemented by organ, harp, violin and cello instrumental numbers will furnish the extension a science are the Epiphany. Eth street below Spruce, on Sunday afternoon A finder of ed persons, supplemented by organ, harp, widdh and 'cello instrumental numbers, will furnish the extremely pleasing program of Christmas carols. A similar program will be given at the same hour on Sunday afternoon, An arry T. The program will be made up of same hour on Sunday afternoon, An arry T. The program will be made up of same hour on Sunday afternoon, An arry T. The program will be made up of same's Frynch carols. Russian carols and carols. The roctor, the Rev Dr. David M. Strein, will make an address at each servine.
The key, Dr. Rybert Eagnell will give Christmas will be ushered in at mid-night tonight by a lanfare of trumpets with appropriate selections in the fire tower of the North Branch building. At the same time a large chorus from St. John's Evangelical Church will assemble on the pavement for front of the building and sing a number of Christmas carols.

BIDDLE'S CELEBRATION.

The annual Christmas celebration of the Drexel Biddle Bible classes will take place tomorrow afternoon at the Bible Class Home, 1917 Mt. Vernon street. In addition to the social features of the day, a number of classes have distributed baskets of food in their respective neighborhoods.

The ladies' class of Holy Trinity has rovided 40 members to be at the Inassuch Mission during the day to assist in erving the dinner.

The men's class of Holy Trnity will ave its usual Christmas celebration Sunhave its usual Christmas celebration Sun-day morning in the parish house, 217 South 20th street, at 9:30 o'clock. Jesse S. Anderson will lead and the address of the day will be made by A. J. Drexell Hiddle, who has chosen for his subject "The Fourth Wise Man." Judson J. Adams, one of the three original mem-bers of the class, will speak. A special program of Christmas music will be given. "World-wide Pence" will be the toris

"World-wide Pence" will be given. "World-wide Pence" will be the topic of the Rev. Dr. James H. Ely at the special Christmas service of the Lemon Hill Association in the Garrick Theatre on Sunday evenng. In harmony with this thems, an elaborate program of Christmas music has been arranged, including se-lections from the works of French, Ger-man Enestish and American course, and which daybreak services are always hald man, English and American composers.

RICH BOOTY SAVED BY COP FROM GENTLEMAN BURGLAR

Attempt to Blow Insurance Company's Safe Frustrated

A gentleman burglar, preparing early day to blow up a safe in the office of is John Hancock insurance Company, a the southeast corner of 19th street and on the southenat corner of 19th street and Montgomery avenue, was frightened away, leaving behind dynamite, tools, a walking-stick and a handkerchief.

Several thousand dollars, the receipts of the day before, were in the safe, untouched. The burglar evidently had just prepared to "crack" the aafe when the rattling of a door warned him that Po-liceman Dugan, of the 19th and Oxford streets station, was coming.

The bluecoat, trying doors, found the or of the insurance company open.

boor of the insurance company open. Entering cautionsly, he heard scurrying footsteps. With drawn revolver the po-liceman searched the offices, but found no one. In front of the safe, in a front of-fice, were a sizel brace-and-bit, electric where a tisched to two nitroglycerin caps, a stick of dynamite, a came and a hand-kerchief, whose fine texture causes the police to believe that the burglar was no ordinary "yeggman."

Not "B, V. D's."-Only Like Them

"Instead of Taking a Dove Along They Should Have Taken a Pair of Kilkenny Cats." Says Man Who Was Left Behind

Who's loony now? Dr. Mozes Stearn unleashed his broadest mile as he asked the question. 'Now you an see," he said as he turned an egg. 'why I didn't go with the peaceless peace-

And the doctor chuckled like a rekoo eloek. "They scoffed at old Doc Stearn," he added, "because one of the allered provide added. "because one of the alleged promi-nent reformers wired over and told them I was not in their class. Instead of tak-ing a dove along I think the Ford party should have taken along a pair of Kilkenny cats. A sigh of satisfaction escaped the "Doc"

A sligh of satisfaction escaped the troc as he poppered the eggs. "Ford is sick," he said, "They say its Norwegian grip, but I think its Forditis. Don't you know what Forditis is? I'll tell you. It's a disease of which one of symptoms is an idea to constantly its symptoms is an user to constantly try to do something foolish. The disease is derived from the word It. In the case in question a man thought he was It, and traveled many thousand miles to find that he wasn't. Then he decided it would be a good idea to become ill, and his fellow pilgrims went along without fellow pligrims went along without tim, although he foots the board bill and he transportation. Another symptom of Forditis is to labor under the delusion that the public will believe anything you the state of the second source of the second source will be seen the second source of the sec

Police Court Chronicles It's easy to bring about peace through-ut the world if you pursue the proper surse. At least George Johnson thinks b. He is a satior and hails from Copenagen and numerous other places. Johnagen and numerous other places. John-son decided that it would be a good idea to start his peace propaganda in the northeast. He went to the neighborhood of Frankford avenue and York street to get a line on the people. He first visited a few saloons where, he got a good insight into human nature.

Then the peacemaker started out to study the faces of the people. He stared many almost out of countenance, and when they questioned him George told them confidently that he was simply trying to size up followers for his pros-pective peace army.

several passersby informed Johnson that he was starting the wrong way for peace and he was emphatically reminded by a number of corner loungers that he was taking the most direct route to trouble. Instead of replying, Johnson wrote everything they said in a note book.

.

Mr. Ford did get something for his trouble. He gave a Christian institution $10,000, and they presented a lovely set of resolutions to him on real fool's cap paper.

The doctor paused to pour out his coffee "Do you know," he said, confidentially, 'any of the business men's associations here would have adopted a set of resoluions much cheaper.

'And to think Ford's secretary thought wasn't good enough to go. Now he's making addresses just like the rest of them. If you notice, they've all been blabbing so much that they've frightened the newspapermen off the ship. McClure and a bunch of them, who have listened to all sorts of stuff, can't stand for these Fordites." The doctor buttered a brutal piece of

"And to think," the "Doc" chuckled,

"And to think." the "Doe" chuckled, "Ford's got one of the most expensive loctors in the world with him-and he's sick. He couldn't have done any worse if he had brought old "Doe" Stern along. "The trouble is they cat heavy meals and then listen all day to heavy thoughts. It's too much even for the sea. But Eu-rope needs Ford. They need some more institutions and they might as well get the coin out of him as have him wprinkle it over the Atlantic helping to feed the sea llons and the goldfish. "Will you have a cup of coffee? "No, well, Merry Christmas to you."

his navigation. It was also evident that his navigation. It was also evident that his vision was clouded, for it appears that he mistook a turkey which was sus-pended in front of a butcher's shop for a bird of peace and tucked it under his coat by way of being consistent. But the turk was rather a droopy sort and its long head hung down below the line of Johnson's coat.

Detectives Bob Duff and Bob Dunbas saw Johnson steering unsteadily and also discovered the protruding bird.

They convinced the sallor that it would They convinced the shift that if would be well to ateam into the Trenton avenue and Dauphin street station. He told Judge Dietz that he had read much about peace and happiness and desired to spread sunshine wherever he went. The prisoner falled to give good reasons for possession of the bird, however, When he was second.

When he was searched a number of detective stories and books on peace were detective stores and Books on peace were found in his pockets. He also had a copy of a book called "The Log of the Ark." Johnson explained that he read this book daily because it revived mem-ories of his thrilling days at sea. But even this did not explain why he had the turkey. The proprietor of the bird finally arrived and identified it while the sallor was endeavoring to see the set sallor was endeavoring to prove how he and the bird had met. In view of his ambitions in regard to peace Judge Diets thought the prisoner deserved another chance for liberty and he was allowed freedom over the holidays.

Camden Birth Rate Breaks Record

Statistics in Camden show that 2484 book. He found it necessary from time to time to take a few drinks in order to keep up cothusiasm. When he reached the neighborhood of Second and York he was somewhat pursied as to his course and found something wrong with

HARD AT STROKE OF 12

Christmas Celebrants at Atlantic City Must End Their Festivities Strictly at Midnight Tomorrow

PHILADELPHIANS THERE

ATLANTIC CITY, Dec. 24 .- Much as acopitable officials and shore bonifaces, not to mention a great many cafe-keepers, would like to have it otherwise. Atlantic City's record-breaking throng of holiday visitors will have to wind up its Christmas celebration on Christmas Day. In other words, while New York may lawfully make Saturday night last three hours more into Sunday morning, New Jersey's tight and fast excise laws have no such flexible characteristics. Consequently, the lld on cafedom will be applied, it was officially announced tohe applied, it was officially announced to-day, at 12 o'clock sharp tomorrow night. City officials might be willing to ac-cord at least an hour's grace, when walters are rushing and minutes are golden. But that would require the con-sent of the county Judge and prosecutor, which is a horse of another color. So, nobody will take chances.

Every one of the big hotels will be a little bit of Manhattan tomorrow night when the lights and music get going.

when the lights and music get going. At the Traymore, is Mrs. William E. Corey, formerly Mabel Gliman, singer. Her furs are sable and cost a fortune. With Mrs. Corey is her friend, the Count-ess de Bille, who is middle-aged and ex-ceedingly well dressed. For the big crowd, however, the figure of greatest interest here is Lindley M. Garrison, Secretary of War, who arrived late yesterday from Washington with Mrs. Garrison. They will remain at the Mariborough-Blenheim over New Year's Day, and while here the Secretary will Pneumonia Cases Also Show which has swept this city is at its height and will soon begin to subside, in the opinion of health authorities who have Mariborough-Blenheim over New Year's Day, and while here the Secretary will endeavor to renew his acquaintance with golf. He has not had a great deal of time for the links lately with the papers so full of war news and Colonel Roose-velt on the warpath. George Harding, Philadelphia artist, has been here for some time. Mr. and Mrs. William Rice Taylor, of Philadelphia, are making an extended stay at the Mariborough-Blenheim. There also is Mrs. Justice Pierson, Miss Bessile Pierson and Miss Shoemaker, of German-Only 16 new cases of grip and 5 of pneumonla were received at the haupitals of the city yesterday, and although it is admitted that there were probably many new cases of both disenses which were not brought to the attention of the hoa-pitals or physicians, it is thought the de-crease will continue steadily. The disenses have been surgeight agong Pierson and Miss Shoemaker, of German-LOW IL.

Wallets are getting thinner. Yellow backed notes are succeeded by lonely "ones." Even the small change is looking skimpy. Yet, despite this, the ashman and the gerbage man and the private watchman garbage man and the private watchman who (says he) watches your house, and the washwoman and the grocer's boy and the milkman were around today for their annual Christmas raid.

While their pleas appeared humble enough, they confronted housekeepers with a spirit of self-assurance, showing that they regarded the gift as little less then a local with than a legal right. They had little patience with the woman who paused at giving a half dol-lar or quarter, and dimes were taken as though the ashman regarded their ac-

And by way of reminding you of his martyriom, he of the ash cart pushed this effusion under doors in a West Philadelphia neighb rhood before he came around:

Remember now the noor ashman. Who tolls all through the year. And give whatever cash you can Toward his Christmas cheer.

follows: In sumships or storm the garlage man Works from day to day. So give him now winarier you can For a merry Christians day. The letter carrier is being remembered by thousands because he doesn't look as though he even expected a sift. Hei just as pleasant and generally a good fei-low at all times. He knows that he often brings bad news as well as good, and that others have buidens to carry which are far greater than bis. To make matters worse it was learned that some houses were visited by two or three ashmen. The imposition was practiced by negroes, who called before the are far greater than his.

GRIP LOSING ITS HOLD

Falling Off-Fewer Patients

at the Hospitals

The epidemic of grip and pneumonia

victims were more than 59 years old, 14

$150,000

TO PLACE

Active man of ripe experience will invest above sum in high-grade commercial proposition, with ex-ecutive position. Highest of refer-ences furnished and required. No ences fu brokers.

M 224, Ledger Office

followed the situation closely.

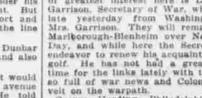

over 80, 14 above 70 and 15 had passed 40 ON VICTIMS IN CITY over so, it above to and is not to years. Reports from other parts of the Sink and country show that both grip and pneumonia continue without appreciate signs of abatement. State Health Com-missioner Dixon has called upon all clip-zens of Pennaylvania to co-operate in stamping out the diseases. He advantes the isolation of the stricken, the dish-fecting of handksrehlefs and the tempe-rary stopping of kissing, handshake and getting too near telephone transmit-ters.

Car Barn to Give Way to Homes The old trolley car barn at 6d street and Lancaster avenue has been hought by Martin Maloney, who will build a ror of dwelling houses on the site. The pros was not disclosed. The property was as sessed at $100,000.

sessed at $100,000,

Wonderful Lunches Len Ard's is such a good place to cat-the service is so prompi and perfect and the food so wholesome and palatable-that it is already an institution. BREAKFAST -. . is a revelution to those people who have tried it. EPECIAL CLUB BREAKFASTS, 25-UNCHEON offers you the greatest choice of well-prepared dishes and sand wiches. DINNER . . is the very best seven-course meal that has ever been offered in Philadelphia at 50e. Let's Len Ard's Today 1016 CHESTNUT ST.

The diseases have been superially severe when old persons contracted them. Of 185 deaths recorded yesterday three of the III. Tried to Reach Hospital; Dead

