NANCY WYNNE TALKS ABOUT MANY INTERESTING THINGS

The Neilson Ball Last Night Was a Beautiful Affair. Many Dinners Preceded It—Number of Entertainments for School Set

Shonor at a ball given at the Belle-tain for their daughter, Miss Anne Siter, whose debut will take place next winter. ents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Neilson. Sais very attractive, rather small, ith bright brown hair and dark eyes and has a lovely color. She is vivaas and always dresses with extreme med taste. In fact, I hear she is quite on unusual girl with a very decided mount of character. She is a grandcaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. sengarten and of Mrs. Thomas Nellon and the late Mr. Thomas Nellson. sarah is named after her paternal grandmother, who was Sarah Claycole Lewis. Her brother Harry is a great favorite in the younger set.

There were many dinners before the hall last night, among others was one eiven at the Bellevue-Stratuard by Laurie Fuller for his small niece, Elizabeth Griffiths, and Mrs. Herbert W. Warden gave a large dinner for Lucia, who made ber debut last year. Her guests were Eleanor Gamble, Virginia Roberts, Emilie Kennedy, Huberta Potter, Willie Moss, of Kentucky, who has come on to attend Huberta's wedding; Marion Cleveland, of Princeton; Alice Thompson, Emilie Williams, Herbert Warden, Jr., Albert Lucas, Benjamin Bullock, Jr., Crawford Madeira, Jack Moson, Jr., Ned Harris, George Wood, Robert Deans, Fred Thayer, George Earle, Jr., and William Du

Then the Norman Greys gave a dinper for Louise Grey, and their guests ware Rachel Fitler, Marjory Taylor, Elizabeth Wheeler, Corinne Freeman, Edith Page, Algy Clapp, Shirley Mc-Call, Ossy Welsh, Charles Winter, Ralph Souder and Rowland Miller.

Mrs. Theodore Wormley entertained for Helen Marshall before the ball and the James D. Winsors also gave a din-

Molly Thayer and Bessie Downs will be given a theatre party and supper tonight by Mr. and Mrs. T. Henry Dixon. Molly is Mr. Dixon's niece. Her mother was Miss Molly Dixon, one of the many Dixon sisters, who were among the prettiest debs of their time. Mrs. Percy Keating is another sister o'clock. and Mrs. Arthur Emlen Newbold also. Molly is the only daughter of General and Mrs. Russell Thayer and has no less than five brothers, if you please. Bessie Downs, as I told you, is a dear prettiest of the season.

It is a funny thing, this cutting in on dances which is so the rage with the members of the younger set. The girls think they are not having a good time if every dance is not cut into pieces and the men think it is flerce if the dance is cut, so what are they to do? I was amused at a dance recently to hear three young men discussing whose dance to break in on next. There was one girl they wanted to dance with very specially, but she was having that one with a very heavy suitor, so she was passed by, for said suitor was said to become furious if he did not have a whole dance. The girl in question is a very popular debutante and there is no danger of her not having a wonderful time everywhere she goes. Privately, I think she was glad, as her partner (who probably will be a partner for life) happens to dance particularly well, and incidentally I guess she did not mind having a perfectly good dance unbroken.

There were so many dining informally at the Ritz-Carlton last night and all demanding "Ducks" a la Rouennaise, it was quite droll, and, of course, there was lots of banter passing from table to table concerning the popularity of the "Canard" and the relegation into obscurity of the poor everyday turkey, which not so long ago was emblematic of the Christmas season.

Among the diners I noticed Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hubard, who had the jolliest party in the room. Many of their guests came on from New York and are remaining here over the holidays. Among the "out-of-towners" were Mr. Cecil Harrah, Mr. Harding, Mr. J. Dinkey, Mr. and Mrs. Phalle St. Phalle, Colonel Montgomery and Mr. Barbour. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Sullivan and Leta were guests at this table.

Nearby the Charles Munns were entertaining the Frazier Harrisons and Drexel Pauls and the C. Howard Clarks, 3d, were entertaining the Hollingsworths, Mr. Richmond and Miss Townsend. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Blabon arrived late and were greeted very heartily. They have just come back from Portland, Me., and will be at the Ritz for a few days, then go to their house in Bryn Mawr.

The Bob Stanbridges were entertaining for their young son, and the Clarence Dolans and their attactive daughter were dining "en famille," as were also the Victor Mathers, Mrs. Mather radiant in French blue charmeuse and ninon.
