

NANCY WYNNE CHATS GAILY ON VARIOUS SUBJECTS OF INTEREST

Two Debutantes Are Guests of Honor at a Large Theatre Party Given Last Night by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hine Johnson—A Supper Dance Followed

EDITH EARLE, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Earle, Jr., and Margaret Remak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustavus Remak, were given a theatre party and delightful supper last night by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hine Johnson, the latter of whom was Miss Frances von Lohr Earle, a sister of George H. Earle, Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were not present but the Sturges Ingersolls and Cherry Roberts chaperoned the affair.

Edith Earle has got the prettiest eyes I have seen for many a day, and I have seen her sisters had before her. And to say the least, that is going some, don't you think? I do not know of many families of numerous sisters where every single one is as great a success in the social world as Edith Earle. She has been here and there and there is Gladys coming along, and going to be prettiest of all. I verily believe.

Margaret Remak is also having the time of her young life and has had many parties given for her. Margaret is tall and rather statuesque, with light hair and a very brilliant coloring. One of these lovely, wholesome, wholesome sort of girls.

After the theatre the guests were given a supper dance.

I wonder if many of us realize how capable and self-sacrificing as well as self-sufficient the Junior League is?

This year they are planning to give their annual "show" for the Emergency Aid on February 2, and they are organizing and producing it entirely of themselves. Four girls seem to be the managers, but they are ably aided by a number of others who are greatly interested in the performance. The four who are doing all the directing are Christine Chambers, who has undertaken the business arrangements, which take in a great amount of work—all the announcements and tickets printed and sent out, the ballroom engaged and painting of the posters assigned, and let me tell you, the posters being done by artists such as Gertrude Lambert, Alice Blidde, Katherine Menoz, Paul Froelich, D. Newhall, I. Jones and Mr. Fatti; then Georganna Brown has charge of and directs the two ballets and Dorothy Stewart and Eleanor Butler are designing the 50 odd costumes and directing the acting.

Besides these things, the scenery for each act is being especially painted by these clever girls. Dorothy Stewart is doing the first act and Christine Chambers the last.

Of course, all this means work of a decidedly energetic kind, but all those in the league seem tremendously interested and keen on it. Those helping and taking part include Nancy Stokes, Susie Ingersoll, Eugenia Law, Lattie Wilcox, Mary Alice Clay, Helen Ellis, Sylvia Barnes, Eliza Fox, Margaret Dunlap, Marion Saville, Mary Frances Fisher, Emma Williams, Kate Jayne, Kitty Britton, Gertrude Henry, Elise Hopkins, Cecile Howell, Agnes Kennedy, Marion Myers, Alice Thompson, Margaret Berwind, Virginia Roberts, Eleanor Carpenter, Helen Tower, Gertrude Tower, Dorothy Diaston, Annie Lewis, Margaretta Benson, Gaby Tighman, Elizabeth Henry and Grace Thompson.

All the kiddies are interested in the Dolls' Opera of Cendrillon, by Jules Massenot, which the Misses Mixer, of this city, will give at the Bellevue-Stratford on the afternoon of January 2. They have dolls dressed to represent the various opera singers, and the four acts of Cinderella are faithfully given with every detail, even to the introduction of a ballet, danced and led by a Miss Dolly, who represents none other than Rosina Galli. Mrs. Charlie Harrison, Mrs. Ned Browning, Mrs. Bertram Lippincott, Mrs. Dal Dixon and Mrs. Frederick Schmidt have signified their interest in the performance.

"Watch your step" should surely be the slogan during these days of rain and muddiness. Hurrying does not help a bit when the crossings are so muddy. And I wonder why it is I am always seized with a wild desire to laugh at the downfall of another. On Tuesday I happened to be going up Walnut street near 15th, when I saw one of our very smartest and most prominent young matrons slip and fall flat in the mud. IF YOU COULD HAVE SEEN HER EXPRESSION! Words fail me, however; she knew not that any one was near, so that saved her self-respect, for she certainly was one sight, and after all, why did little Nancy have to be Johnny on the spot just then—I hope she has no broken bones, for she fell heavily and oh! the mud!
