

PICTORIAL SIDELIGHTS ON THE NEWS OF THE DAY AS REVEALED BY THE CAMERA

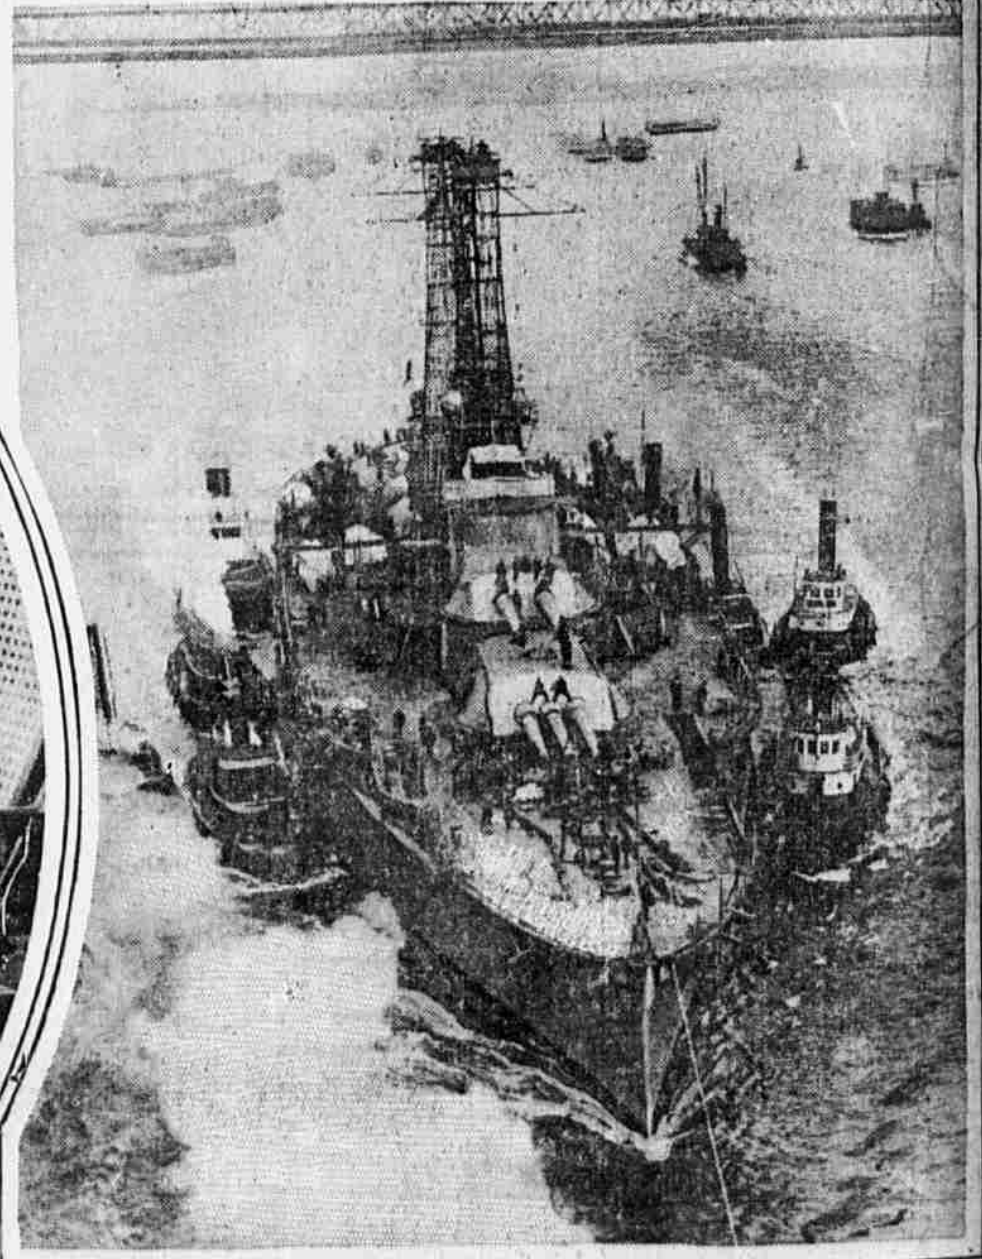

VICTORIOUS BOWL FIGHTERS OF PENN CLASS COMBAT
These members of the Freshman class were the winners of the annual bowl fight on Museum field yesterday, the battle unfortunately ending in the death of William Lifson during a scrimmage.

VOSGES BATTLES WAGED IN SNOW
The picture shows a column of Alpine troopers, known to the enemy as "blue devils," making their way through the deep snow to the scene of action beyond the crest of the hill.

CALLED THE PRETTIEST WOMAN IN PETROGRAD
Mlle. Alexandre Wallaski is one of the dancers of the Ballet Russe which is to perform in this country under the direction of Serr Diaghileff.

NEW DREADNOUGHT OKLAHOMA PASSING OUT TO SEA
This picture was taken from Brooklyn Bridge as the monster passed beneath on her way to undergo her trial runs off the Maine coast. She is declared to have no superior as a battle-ship.

BURSTING SHELLS CAUGHT AT THE INSTANT OF EXPLOSION BY THE WAR PHOTOGRAPHER ON TWO FRONTS
