Offers were readily taken, however, with a fair demand, which was thought to come from Europe, and during the early trading values were fairly steady at about the opening level. The Brazilian cables were thought to reflect an absence of buoyancy in Brazil, and while coat and freight offers recent, and and, while cost and freight offers recently have been higher, buyers here have not seemed disposed to follow the advance, as stocks in America at present are lib-

WHEAT WEAKENED IN CHICAGO MARKET

Export Demand Slow - Low Temperatures Gave Plant Severe Test

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.-Wheat weakened chickers, Jan. 14.—Wheat weakened today on selling, due to predictions of rising temperatures, with snow in the Southwest. The export demand was slow and there was more pressure on the cash position. The market opened higher, following strength in the spot article at Liverpoot, but there was plenty for sale from the beginning, and the new demand was too limited to give the market any material support. There was market any material support. There was long stuff on tap and the big bears showed oppressiveness. The market finally was above the lowest at the

COTTON CLOSED STRONG DESPITE HEAVY SALES

There Were Many Buyers, but Supply Was Large

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.-Although the Census Bureau's report of the consump-tion of cotton in December, showing an increase of more than 100,000 bales over the same month last year, was generally considered a bullish factor, heavy selling by an operator believed to be acting for what is known as the "Waldorf for what is known as the "We crowd" held the market in check.

There were many rivers from all sources, but the supply from the source mentioned was more than sufficient to supply the demand. The early tone was about steady, Septembe, showing an advance of 2 points, December being up point and other options unchanged to

The selling was heaviest in the nearby positions and these showed the greatest losses. After the call the demand in-creased and rallies of 2 to 4 points were were more or less irregular, with active old crop months working about 2 to 5 points under last night's closing figures. Reports from Houston indicated an easier ocean-freight situation, but local spot cotton people said there had been no change matter of freights out of New York and it is reported that $2.75 per 160 pounds had been paid for room for February sailing from this port to Great Britain, Liverpool closed barely steady at a net decline of 3½ to 6½ points.

The receipts of cotton at the ports for the day are estimated at 30,000 bales, compared with 35,012 bales last week; 84,607 bales last year, and 53,711 bales in Arrivals of cotton at New York today were 5149 bales, including 1345 bales consigned. The total included 1098 bales of linters. The exports of cotton for the day aggregated 14.535 bales, against 41,59 bales on this day last year.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 14 .- Spot cotton today was in moderate demand at a decline of 14 points, on the basis of 8.98d. for mid-upland. The sales aggregated 8000 bales, including 7000 bales American. The imports were 2000 bales, all Agricultural American. The market for futures closed barely steady at a net decline of 3½ to 6½

BANKS GAINED $17,000,000 Interior Payments for Week Totaled $20,000,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—The known movements of money up to the close of husiness yesterday indicated a gain by the banks from the interior of approximately $17,000,000. The amount of payments to the banks from the interior was $29,000,000 and payments by them $5,600,000, leaving a gain in this connection of $14,400,000. Payments by the subtreasury proper to the banks totaled $14,300,000, while payments by the banks to the subtreasury were but $12,000,000, leaving a gain of about $17,000,000, while imports of gold from London for the week totalled $1,000,000.

week totalled $1,000,000.

A year ago at this time the gain by the banks amounted to approximately $5.500,000; two years ago. $10,050,000; in 1913, $12,000,000; in 1911, $14,200,000, and in 1911 $10,500,000. Gains now being shown by the banks are not at this time of the year, because always after the beginning of the new year there are payments of an extraordinary character made, which adjust themselves a little later on.

PARIS, Jan. 14.—France is greatly preoccupied by the project for an AustroGerman commercial union after the war.

Many publicists and politicians, who habitually are haunted by bogies, point to this as a grave peril. If they knew a little more about the German Customs. nion they would have less fear. history of that union has been chiefly a history of strife, with the small States balking the plans of the larger ones and the larger ones in consequence threatening to withdraw

A commercial union between Austria and Germany would demand a common parliament to be successful, and neither wants that. Germany would have to un-wants that. Germany would have to undertake a part of the responsibility for Austrian finance, while it finds its own finance a sufficient burden.

Finally, if the Allies achieve the decisive victory which is necessary for a definite peace, the divorce of the German Empire from the Austro-Hungarian monarchy is a sine gua non.

archy is a sine qua non.

A more important question is what will be the attitude of the Allies toward the Germanic Powers after the war. The war will not put an end, for example, to the coal and potash production of Germany France imported both before the war, and will need them again after the war. This is not a question of sympathy, but of business, as is also the question of the purchase of machinery and manufactured Germany after the war there must be a commercial union between the Allies comparable to the political union for the purpose of war. But Premier Runciman, of the Board of Trade, said in the House of the Board of Trade, said in the House of Commons on Monday that it would be impossible to maintain free trade between England and her colonies, and if that can't be done it would be still less possible to establish free trade among the Allies. Nevertheless, that is the only solution, and to this most be added the replication of the form of the trade of the can't be solved to the said that the can't be solved to the said that the can't be said to the said that the said th application of tariff pressure to the various States comprising Germany and Austria. This is the only way to prevent dumping under protection of customs charges. These solutions, however, are much too simple to be adopted.

GOOD SEASON EXPECTED BY LOCAL TEXTILE MILLS

Spinners Operating Mills at Full Capacity

The local textile mills report a good volume of business on hand, are working on profitable contracts and expect a good season, says R. G. Dun & Co. While the demand for cotton yerns has fallen off to some extent, prices are firm and an in-creasing volume of business is antici-pated. Local spinners in most cases are operating their mills to full capacity. Wool is in short supplies and the market maintains a firm tone, and the demand to unusually good for this season of the Jobbers of dry goods and woolens have reported a satisfactory sesson's business, state that merchandise is scarce and there is a good demand and prospects are favorable for a good spring trade. There is also reported an improvement in collections.

The iron and steel market continues to show great activity, and mills and furnaces are operating to full capacity furnees are operating to full capacity and in many cases night and day shifts. Export business continues to be a large factor, though domestic trade is showing greater activity. Fig from made further gains in production in December and the estimated production for the year just over is placed at about 35,000,000 gross tens.

There appears to be a better feeling in the hardware line at this time regarding the outlook for future business than has been shown for some time past. The electrical trade reports a good volume of business and note that the holiday trade just over showed considerable increase over corresponding period last year. The stove trade is weil-employed in staple goods and a satisfactory volume of business is noted in supplementary heating apparatus.
