

BILLY SUNDAY'S RIVAL ATTACKS HIS METHODS IN TALK TO MINISTERS

Dr. Milford Lyon, of Wilmington, Says Bluster and Slang Way Won't Win Out in End

GETS HEARTY APPROVAL

"Let's Keep Our Clothes On," Shouts a Listener When Speaker Counsels Moderation

"Let's keep our clothes on," shouted one of the ministers today at a meeting of the Baptist ministers in the First Baptist Church at 17th and Sanson streets.

The interruption came during a speech by Dr. Milford Lyon, the Wilmington evangelist.

A great revival will never sweep over this country as long as the present-day style of evangelistic preaching prevails," said Dr. Lyon.

"Another man may do infinitely more harm than good by the lightness and freedom with which he preaches about Jesus Christ."

Dr. Lyon then went on to say the only good work was done in a quiet, unobtrusive way. He thought a great deal of harm was done by all the preliminary preparation for the coming of an evangelist.

The meeting ended after H. C. Chase sang several verses of "I'm Serving the Lord in My Own Weak Way."

POLICE SEARCH SWAMPS FOR MISSING NUN

been seen by any person in the neighborhood since her disappearance.

A few feet from the creek was found Sister Rita Vincent's shawl and other belongings. The shawl was stretched out carefully, as though the sister intended to lie down to rest and subsequently changed her mind.

The missing nun is 23 years old, 5 feet 2 inches in height, of light complexion with rosy cheeks. She weighs about 115 pounds, has red hair and wears glasses.

Sister Vincent was a novice in the Order of the Sisters of St. Joseph. St. Joseph's Villa is maintained for the care of tubercular nuns.

Another Mary Ignatius, superior of the convent upon learning of the disappearance of the nun, called in Charles D. McAvoy, of Norristown, former District Attorney in Montgomery County.

Dr. Boiling said that the night before Sister Vincent disappeared she had a temperature of 102, and gave signs of her disease having reached an advanced stage.

The young woman's father entered the waters of Tacony Creek when the search was carried on, and although it was a bitter cold day and the waters of the creek icy, the man was so grief-stricken that he seemed to have absolutely no fear of injuring his health by the exposure.

FEAR FOR HER HEALTH

A search of the country about the convent, part of which is covered with small woods, was conducted, but no trace was found there of the young woman.

"JERRY" HAS GRIP, AND SUFFERS ALONG WITH AMBULANCE SERVICE

Polyclinic Hospital's Faithful Beast Supplanted by Strange Horse, and His Illness Emphasizes the Demand for Motor

Jerry has the grip. Jerry is lame. That both catastrophes were imminent was very evident on the occasion of Jerry's last appearance in a ride down Market street.

That ride is remembered by thousands, Jerry is a white horse, and by way of saving his living pulls the only ambulance of the Polyclinic Hospital.

On Jerry's last appearance in public he was unwillingly taking the ambulance out in answer to an emergency call.

Despite his obvious grievance against the universe, the ambulance and Market street, he fell in with the viable pleading of the driver and the gentle urgings of Dr. Ricka Finkler, the only woman ambulance driver in Philadelphia.

But finally chosen as the vehicle to draw off the water, the use of dynamite was employed several times.

TRENTON'S MAJOR ANSWERS SUNDAY'S CALL FOR CONVERTS

Comes Forward to Shake Evangelist's Hand at Great Meeting—1000 Hit Sawdust Trail

14,000 AT ONE SERVICE

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 16.—"Billy" Sunday struck home yesterday. His sharp shafts against evil found mark in many hearts heretofore unmoved by his onslaught against the devil.

Panting and exhausted from the strain of the great meetings yesterday, "Billy" climbed the was to the breaking point to jump on the pedestal from which he preaches and made an appeal at the close of last night's service which moved the vast audience, as no other audience has been moved during the campaign.

"Come on, Trenton!" he pleaded. "Will you?" he repeated. "What's your answer?" We want you to make it so loud all Trenton will hear.

While "Billy" was shouting his invitation there was a movement through the tabernacle as those who had been stirred by his work started down the sawdust lanes.

A vague rumor is floating around the hospital in regard to the ambulance problem. It is said that the Ladies Aid Society, of which Mrs. Herbert L. Clark is president, Mrs. William M. Elkins, first vice president, Mrs. Walter Clothier, second vice president, Mrs. William J. Clothier, secretary, and Miss Carlotta H. Browne, treasurer, is planning to raise the funds necessary to purchase a motor ambulance for the Polyclinic.

1000 CONVERTS FOR THE DAY

"I'm not going to plead, I'm too tired and too nearly exhausted," said "Billy."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Breakfast today "was a real meal for J. Ray Adams, clerk of the Senate Suffrage Committee, although he ate only a slice of dry toast and drank a glass of hot milk.

Adams undertook a 30-day fast as a means of curing chronic indigestion. He declares he feels better than he ever felt before and that he lost little weight through his fast.

STOUGH STARTS WAR ON OBSCENE POSTCARDS

Evangelist Hopes to Lead Mayor Riddle and Police Chief Through "Trail"

ATLANTIC CITY, Jan. 16.—Vigorous action on the part of officials manifested a sudden disposition to clean up all along the line and escape Stough shafts is expected to follow promptly the evangelist's burning arraignment yesterday of the obscene postal card traffic along the Boardwalk, which he told one of the largest crowds the campaign has produced, is poisoning the minds of children and bringing Atlantic City into disrepute with many visitors.

It is an open secret that this discreditable industry has been going from bad to worse since Dr. W. W. Keen, of Philadelphia, attacked it last summer through the County Medical Society and the Federal government, agents of the State Society for the Suppression of Vice came here and by confiscating and burning thousands of offensive cards and threatening dealers with jail accomplished for a time what the police and prosecutor had failed to do.

When the State inspectors left, however, the dealers became bolder than ever, as a consequence practically every one in the resort is rejecting over Stough's attack upon the industry and his criticism of the authorities for failure to take radical action.

"It is a sad commentary," the evangelist said, "that small girls who should be attending school are employed as attendants at most of the stands and readily produce and sell to those who call for them cards that are kept under cover, so vile that their sale has been prohibited in all of the large cities."

Main-clothes men are said to have passed hurried orders to dealers, whose traffic in the proscribed cards is well known to the police, to withdraw and dispose of all cards subject to criticism.

One hundred volunteer agents today will seek to procure samples of cards which might be made the basis of prosecutions.

If Stough does nothing else here his attack upon the postcard traffic will make the Boardwalk atmosphere cleaner than it has been for a long time.

DIES FROM POWDER INJURIES

Victim of Explosion Last Friday in du Pont Works

Edward Bubb, 36 years old, of Paulboro, N. J., one of the two men injured in the explosion at the Gibbstown plant of the du Pont Powder Company last Friday night, died today at the Cooper Hospital in Camden.

The explosion which was the fourth at the powder company in a period of six days, wrecked the new nitrate of ammonia crystallizing plant. This is the first time in the history of du Pont's that an explosion has occurred in a house such as the one at Gibbstown.

When the meeting ended "Billy" was back on the duck waving his handkerchief and renewing his calls.

Resinol Soap helps keep the hair healthy, lustrous and free from dandruff. For most people, whose scalps are in ordinarily good condition, and not seriously affected with dandruff, regular shampoos with Resinol Soap are enough to keep the hair healthy and the scalp clean. But if there is severe dandruff, itching or loss of hair, Resinol Ointment should be used in connection with the Resinol Soap shampoos until the trouble is under control.
