WELSH LOSES FIGHT BUT NOT THE GATE RECEIPTS

Eddie McAndrews, of Manayunk, Refuses to Lower His Social Standing by Taking a Licking

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL

I Weish, our well-known and well-panned lightweight champion. He gives the public a run for its money every time he steps into the ring. Not only that, but he also will dance, side-step and do a contortion act; in fact, he is willing to do everything but fight. Freddy started to run, dance, etc., in the very first round at the Olympia last night, and at the end of the sixth he was still going strong. His work-outs would get any marathon athlete in perfect condition.

marathon athlete in perfect condition.

Mr. Weish finished second to Eddie McAndrews, the pride of Manayunk, in the final act of a very good boxing show.
This is not startling, because Mr. Welsh airway finishes second when he performs in this city. He would like to finish third, or fourth, but it can't be done. His main object is to stay in the ring for six counts and remain strong enough to walk er fourth, but it can't be done. His main shiect is to stay in the ring for six rounds and remain strong enough to walk to the box office and collect his share of the gate receipts. This is the best part of Freddy's act.

McAndrews earned the decision over the champion last night and preserved his so-clai standing in pugilistic circles. A poxdal standing in pulsate the lost to er would be ruined for life if he lost to the lightweight champion of the world, and Eddie is very careful of his future. the kept after Freddy all the time and there was no question of his superiority at the end. He jabbed the titleholder all over the ring and easily wen four of the six rounds. Freddy got the first and sarned a shade in the fifth.

It was not an exciting bout, but the con spectators and Sherwood Magee were perfectly satisfied. They saw the champerfectly satisfied. They saw the cham-pion get his usual walloping and that was worth the price of admission. But it locked as if they would be disappointed at the start, however, for Freddy did some excellent work in the opening stanza and really did some fightfus. He used his left jab effectively and had Mc-weddessy bleeding from the nose at the andrews bleeding from the nose at the

THERE is one nice thing about Freddy opponent. Occasionally he would whip across a right hook to the jaw, but Freddy was taking no chances and covered up when Eddle was going strong. Weish came out of his shell in the fifth and acted as if he really meant to fight He drove his left into McAndrews' face, jumped back and repeated the dose un-til the Manayunk boy was forced to fall into a clinch. Welsh landed more blows in this round than he did in his last two battles here and McAndrews was very tired at the bell.

In the sixth Eddle rushed out of his corner at the sound of the gong and proceeded to mix things up. He landed several stiff blows, and when the champion fell into a clinch they wrestled all over the ring, McAndrews trying hard to tear himself loose. Freddy proved to be the best. self loose. Freddy proved to be the bet-ter man at catch-as-catch-can, however, and pushed his opponent to the floor. Mc-Andrews was up in an instant, but he stumbled again when he missed a victous

Then came some regular fighting. Toe to toe, they slugged each other, Weish holding his ground and not once backing up. When the bell clanged they were still at it, and the house was in an uproar. Neither heard the gong and Referee Frank O'Brien was forced to separate

Buck Flemming and Eddie Kelly, of New York, put on the best bout of the evening, Flemming winning after six furious rounds. The local boy boxed the best bout of his career and almost won by a knockout. Kelly also made a good showing, as he worked under a handleap throughout.

In the first round Flemming dropped the New Yorker with a right to the jaw and had him in distress in the first min-ute. Buck also opened a bad cut over Eddle's eye and the blood partially blinded him. Kelly weathered the storm. however, and made a good fight of it. Had he been more cautious at the start, Flemming probably would have had some trouble.

DESPITE a withered left leg, caused by a fall seven or eight years ago, I'erbert Fendrich, a 16-vear-old freshman of the West Philadeiphi, High School, is destained by the companion of the most optimistic lads in the city. He is firmly of the opinion that in years to come he will outgrow the result of his youthful accident. the West Philadelphi. He sees no barrier in his affliction. In a dual track meet between the West Branch Y. M. C. A, and the Victrix C. C. last Saturday night the crippled attlicte, wearing the colors of West Branch, cleared the bamboo bar at 5 feet 8 inches, twing Sayl Windhovel, also of West tying Zarl Windhovel, also of West Branch, and several years ago one of the best schoolboy high jumpers in Phila-delphia, Moreover, he defeated Sid Smith, who represented Victrix, and Jim Brechimen, one of the foremost all-around athletes in Philadelphia and a standard bearer of the West Branch.

Spectators were amazed when it was announced that young Fendrich had succeeded in tying Windhovel and defeating Smith and Brechimen. Until Saturday night followers of track athletics knew as little of Fendrich as they did of John Paul Jones before the Cornellian defeated Tell Berns for the mile run in the 1911. Tell Berna for the mile run in the 1911 intercollegiates. They little thought that a lad, recently graduate i from the mes-ton Grammar School, and handicapped by a malformed leg, could ever hope to win prominence as a high jumper. Friends of the promising young high jumper explained after the meet that Fendrick, who is a novice, as far back as his primary school days was fond of athletics, and had it not been for his zealous desire to play haseball, regardless of the condition of the diamond, he would still possess two normal limbs.

Began Early

While Fendrick was still in knickerbockers he joined a class of youngsters in a bail game on a vacant lot near the school. The lot was not suited for a playground, as treacherous holes and earth mounds lurked on all sides. A ball batted along the ground was likely to take an ugly bound and hit one of the players in the face, or a player running after the ball was almost certain to tread violently in one of the pitfalls.

The boys, however, were living in that reckless age when dangers are never seen save after some one is injured. A high fly was lofted in the direction of young

GIANTS AT LAST GET KAUFF

Pitcher Anderson and Catcher Rariden Alse Bought

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—It has been officially announced by President Harry N. Hempstead, president of the New York National League Haseball Club, that he has purchased Benny Kauff, star outfielder of the Federal League, and two other Federal League, players. The two other Federals purchased by the Glants are W. A. Rariden, cather, of Newark, and Fred Anderson, pitcher, of Buffalo. The deal was made through Harry F. Sinciair, who has held an ootion on the services of the three players. The money consideration was not divulged by President Hempstead, He said that was a secret between Sinclair and himself. Among the rumors concerning the nurchase was one that Kauff's transfer and services will cost the Glants 230,000.

Among baseball men it is believed that Shickit's action in selling the players to the Glants virtually ends all rumors that he was to purchase the club.
