MILK SOLD HERE AT LOWER COST THAN IN NEIGHBORING CITIES

Four Hundred Thousand Quarts Consumed Daily-Only Pretense of Inspection of Dairy Products. Due to Small Force

*philadelphia consumes about 400,000 custs of milk cach day," said William C. Supplee, of the Supplee Alderney Dairy, ith and Jefferson streets. "This silk comes from farms within a 600-mile radius of this city, from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Deiaware and New York State. Philadelphia is paying less for milk than any other neighboring city See York city, Raitimore and other cities are paying 9 cents a quart for quart bottles are paying 9 cents and quart for quart bottles are paying 9 cents of practically cut off, and that is very fine consumers are paying today 8 cents for quart bottles. Philadelphia consumers are paying today 8 cents for gasts and 4 cents for pints. In Philadelphia consumers are paying today 8 cents for gasts and 4 cents for pints. In Philadelphia consumers are paying today 8 cents for gasts and 4 cents for pints. In Philadelphia there is practically no inspection by the Roard of Health. There are a few mapletors, but they could not begin to use all the milk which is brought to the siy for sale, and to give adequate or the control of the reasons why English wholen goods can compete with similar products in America in spite of a protective taring, is that the mannaturing plants in England have been so many years in operation that all original costs of particular and machinery no longer figure in cost of operation. We are handing goods here from plants that have been so many years in operation that all original costs of particular in the manufacturing plants in England have been so many years in operation that all original costs of particular and machinery no longer figure in cost of operation. We are handing goods for more than 100 years. The inspectors and only visit a few milk decreases en only visit a few milk depots and they see anything which is insanitary a objectionable can order its removal; e objectionable can order its fernoval;
ney may occasionally test a few samples age if they comply with the standard, but a proper daily inspection and appreciation of the milk business is not possible under the present system. The consumer of milk has nothing to guide him in his purchase of milk except the agentication of the dealer or the word

"The standard fixed by city and State suthorities is and per 1000 of butter fat.
Take is a very low standard and was sixed in deference to the dairymen who keep Holstein dairies. The Holstein cows ive a large volume of milk with a low percentage of fat, dust the standard hould be ruised to say 40, and the Hol-stell men would then keep enough Al-serseys to enrich their milk and bring it series to enrich their milk and bring it up to the standard. Pasteurization makes milk harmless as far as disease germs are concerned, but it does not clean the milk. One can pasteurize milk and still the milk can be dirty. It costs money to clean affoor or a house or in fact anything, and a reputable dealer who has built up a flusiness on his reputation will see that the milk he sells is not only ee that the milk he sells is not only erm free through pasteurization, but boroughly clean as well. The average person is more particular about the cleanness of milk than any other quality.

"In New York there is a board that control, as they have not the power to enforce requirements; but as they are all men of the highest standing, their in-dersement means so much that all New York dealers of importance endeavor to est it and hold it by keeping their busi-ness up to its required standards. "We can supply 60 different shades of spool silk today in 100-yard and 30-yard sizes," said J. A. Anderson, manager of M. Heminway & Sons Silk Company, 1211 Arch street. "We are not as yet embarrassed by the dye conditions, as rooten see, but that is due to the foresight of Mr. Heminway, who was in Canada when the war broke out, and telegraphed to Germany for a year's supply to be shipped at once, and a few days lature he repeated the order. Today he could self his dyes, silks and everything in supplies at a profit of more than 200 per cent.

"Nevertheless, we are conserving our dyes, and there are some shades not included in the 400 which we have on hand, and if you should want some of them you would have to wait till we received enough orders to make it worth our while to dye a quantity of these particular shades.

Melancholia Victim Found Dead by Nurse-Was Four Years in Institution

Mrs. Alta Zullinger, 47 years old, of Chambershurg, Pa., ended her life today in the Friends' Hospital, Frankford, by hanging herself from a bedpost.

The woman has been an inmate of in-asylum for four years, suffering from melancholin, and a careful guard was kept on her actions. A nurse visited the room at 6:15 this morning, it was said by the authorities at the hospital, and found her in bed. Fifteen minutes later, when the nurse again looked into the room, her lifeless body was dangling on the floor. She had used a strip of her sheet for a
