

ILLUSTRATED
Evening Ledger

SATURDAY
 January 29, 1916

SIDELIGHTS ON THE NEWS OF THE DAY AS GATHERED BY THE EVER-PRESENT CAMERA MAN

WHERE THE EVER-MENACING SEA HAS SWEEPED OVER HOLLAND'S DYKES AND SUBMERGED TOWNS AND VILLAGES
 Picturesque Marken, an island in northern Holland, and Volendam, where recent floods are reported to have done much damage. It is to be noted how the water comes up almost to the threshold of the houses.

Photos by Irwin L. Gordon

WATCHING THE BATHERS FROM THE SIDELINES AT PALM BEACH
 Former Secretary of State and Mrs. Philander C. Knox.

AMONG THE PHILADELPHIANS AT THE FLORIDA WINTER RESORT
 Mrs. Francis Dereum and her daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Mary Francis Dereum.

AT CHICAGO'S TRACTION TICKET BOOTHS
 The Windy City's transit company has installed a novelty in the shape of a mechanical quick-change maker, which automatically changes anything from a nickel to a dollar.

FLOWER ARMLET IS SOCIETY'S LATEST FAD
 A bouquet affixed to a jeweled arm bracelet brings out the beauty of a perfect arm, according to the latest fashion hint from New York.

SCOTS WHA HAE IN FLANDERS BLEED
 Two of Glasgow's contributions to Britain's new army as they appeared on London's streets fresh from the trenches. The variegated Scot dress of old has become the business-like khaki.