Economizes Power

"Rapid" Patent Universal Drop-Hanging eliminates the "shaft-draft" that robs up power. The ring-oiling oil and socket bearings minimize friction and the oil reservoir keeps the shaft confined and concentrated on the bearing points.

RICHMOND SUSPENDED BY BISHOP'S ACT

Mr. Richmond, however, does not propose to permit Mr. Huff to take charge at the church, and intends to preach both in the morning and evening. When he was told of the plans for Mr. Huff to be at the church Sunday morning, he laughed heartily and said: "Poor Mr. Huff! So he's coming back. Well, you know what happened last June. If he wants to come to the church, let him come, but he won't preach. Let him play the Bishop's fool if he wants to come."

"You can say positively that I shall preach, and the only way they could prevent me from preaching would be to have a guard of soldiers stationed there to shoot me down. And they'd have to shoot me down, too." The letter sent to Bishop Rhinelander, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Denomination in Philadelphia and Chairman of the Stomachmen, in the letter he informed the Bishop that "inasmuch as I cannot recognize your moral authority or even your ecclesiastical right to sentence me to a year's suspension from the priesthood—which you are doing at this moment—I shall not present myself before you in answer to your summons. What you do would be an ecclesiastical farce, were it not a moral outrage."

MOVIE STAR PLAYS IN REAL LOVE SUIT

Clara Kimball Young's Husband Wants Manager to Pay $100,000 for Affections

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—"A Broken Romance; or, Art versus Husband," a real drama in two law suits. Mrs. Clara Kimball Young, whose face is well known to devotees of the film drama and who signs her receipt each week for about $500 in return for her efforts, is the star of this domestic scenario.

There are two versions. One is written by James Young, husband of Mrs. Young; the other by Lewis J. Selznick, formerly general manager and vice president of the World Film Corporation. Mrs. Young furnished a prologue a few weeks ago when she sued Young for a separation on the ground of cruelty.

The theme of the drama, as written by Young, who yesterday filed a $100,000 alienation suit against Selznick, deals with a wife who, believing that her husband was a detriment to her artistic advancement, left the husband, Selznick, Young declares, was responsible for this temporary turn of mind on the part of his wife.

The romance began in 1910 in Jersey City, which, while not particularly romantic, is the scene of many marriages that cannot be performed in New York. The marriage of the Youngs was one of these. Young's first wife, Mrs. Rida Johnson Young, the playwright, having obtained a divorce from him, Young says in his suit against Selznick that he and his wife lived happily together until December 8, although Selznick denies this bliss existed. But on that date, says Young, the defendant succeeded in inducing Mrs. Young to leave her husband on the argument that the husband was a detriment to her artistic advancement and career, and was not a fit husband and companion.

MAN HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Detective Says Prisoner Has Recently Completed Jail Term

George Roseller, a well-known young man, 25 years old, who gave his address as 415 Penn street, Camden, stood before Magistrate Fenwick, in the Central Police Court today, accused of stealing an overcoat valued at $25 from the store of Strawbridge & Clothier yesterday.

The man's general appearance was one of culture and refinement, and the spectators in the courtroom were seemingly amazed when one of Captain Cameron's detectives told the court that Roseller was released from the County Prison only three weeks ago, after serving six months for theft at the Wannamaker store. The prisoner was held in $500 bail for court.

John Thomas, who gave 9th and Spring garden streets as his address, was held in $300 bail for court, accused of stealing a pair of trousers and a piece of silk from the Strawbridge & Clothier store.

Philadelphia Store, 15th & Chestnut CLOSING OUT

Our Entire Stock of Men's and Young Men's Clothes Without Regard to Cost or Loss

LEASE and FOR SALE FIXTURES

High corner rental, salaries, taxes and excessive overhead expenses, etc., resulted in my Philadelphia store failing to show a profit in 1915, in spite of a big increase in gross sales.

Therefore, rather than lower the Georges Standard of value or increase selling prices, I am discontinuing this store.

My bid for your patronage right now is based on legitimate price cutting. I absolutely defy competition for bona fide value giving, and it is certainly wisdom—in the face of a rising fabric market and a famine for dye stuffs—for the men and young men of Philadelphia to buy here now, not only for present need, but for next season as well.
