NANCY YYNNE FORESEES A PLEASANT EVENING AT VARIOUS AFFAIRS

Two Theatre Parties to Be Given Tonight for the Debutantes to Be Followed by Supper and Dancing. Plays and Players Hold Club Night

Resamonde Fisher, the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Wilson Fisher, and, with the exception of Josephine Cooke, who is the flances of Resamonde's brother, Clarence Fisher, and Salvadora Mcade, the girls in the party will all be debutantes. Sarah Penrose, Margaretta and Sarah Myers, Helen Martin, Dorothy Norris, Christine Stockton, Corinne Freeman and Elizabeth Adams. The men will inelude William Taylor, Dr. George Norris, John Mears (who, by the way, is not living in Washington, as some peosie have thought: it is simply that his father is down there, and John goes down now and again to see him), Donall Love, Max Livingston, Chase Tatnall, Jim Carter, Roger Montgomery, Ted Morris, Elliston Morris, Jr., Felix Norris and William Skerrett.

The second party will be given by the George Petersons for Eleanor Verner, and the girls at this affair will be Martha McAllister, Margaret Remak, Caroiyn and Mildred Sheppard, Peggy Perot and Louise Grey. The men will be Billie Wright, William Baily, Butler Smyth, George Kneass, Herbert Casey, Frederick Freeman and William Davis.

It is a pretty thing to see how the little girls and boys of today are truly interested in doing kind things for others and how their elders spur them on in their undertakings. Last Saturday, for instance, little Maisie Chance and Helen Chance, who are the daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Burton and consequently grand-daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Beale (Mrs. Chance was Rydie Beale), gave a musicale at their home in Radnor for the benefit of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, of which Mrs. John Harvey Gordon, of Bryn Mawr, is the leader. The children arranged and managed the musicale entirely by themselves, and $50 was cleared. Among their little friends who were interested were Dorothy Hodge and Muriel Hodge, Virginia Heckscher, Mary Baltz Carroll and Theodore Spencer. The children played various selections on the piano, violin and cello, and it was really a very good performance.

I hear that one of our young bachelors, who for the last few years has been making his home in a city on one of the Great Lakes, was known there as the "Debutantes' Idol." It seems that this same young man, says the little Bird, recently returned to this city and chose for himself a future wife right from his own home town, and thusly did he disappoint all the young girls and several mammas who had hopes that their ow daughters might have succeeded in keeping the young man's affections to the West. However, such was not the case, and they are all looking forward now seeing the girl of his choice, for she will soon make a visit in that city.

Of course they are wondering what she is like; whether she is pretty-tall or short-light or dark-plump or slender; but, take it from me, she is a stunner and by far one of the prettiest with the reputation for good looks which Philadelphia girls have that is roing some. Don't you think?

It seems to me, however, that some of those cities on the Lakes can boast a bit now and again about the looks of their girls, witness Mildred MacArthur whose engagement to Howard Hansell was announced in late November. I have not seen her, but I have seen her picture and let me tell you there are not very many in this city of Brotherly Love who can hold a candle to her for heauty and for charm, too, if all I hear is true, and I have reason to think it is.

The Plays and Players will hold Its annual Club Night in the Bellevue-Stratford ballroom this evening. The play will be "Dolly Reforming Herself," and some of the foremost members of the club will appear in the leading roles. Usually these affairs have been given in the clubrooms on lith street or in the Little Theatre and so the guests have had to be limited; however, tonight each member has been allowed to invite a number of guests, so it will be an extremely gay and festive occasion.
