FORMER JUDGE WILL BE QUIZZED IN PROBE OF BREWERS' FUND

Government Agents Said to Have Evidence That He Received $5000 for Election Purposes 2 Years Ago

LICENSES AS A RETURN HAD MARVELOUS POWERS

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11 .- A former judge of a western Pennsylvania county. It was learned today, will be subpoensed by the Government in the Federal Grand Jury investigation of the political activ-Ity of the brewing interests.

Government agents investigating the breweries and brewers' associations are said to have uncovered evidence that this man solicited and received from a local brewing company $5000, which was used for political purposes in an election about two years ago, and that in return for the donation the brewing company was per-mitted to sell its beer in the judge's

Prior to this reported transaction the License Court of the county referred to had thrown the bars of protection around home brewing interests. It was impos-sible for brewers of Allegheny and other counties to do business there.

This state of affairs continued until the state of mains continued until the became necessary for certain political powers of the county to raise a war fund. The story is that the then presiding judge on the county herein was selected to visit a big brewing company here and solicit financial aid.

A meeting between the judge and the president of the brewing company is re-ported to have been held in the trunk room of a Pittsburgh hotel. After the judge had stated his mission, the brewing company president is reported to have said: Well, Judge, we would be very glad to help you, but you know your treatment of us up in your county has been far from satisfactory."

"I know," the Judge is reported to have answered, "but you give us the $5000 and you will have no cause to complain of your treatment."

ORPHEUS AND EURYDICE SINGERS IN JOINT CONCERT

Variety and Charm Features of Amateurs' Program

There was nothing amateur about the singing of the Orpheus Club and Eurydice Chorus at the Academy of Music except the spirit which gave it purpose originally and anew animated it last night The kindred organizations, composed respectively of men and women prominent in the by of men and women prominent in the main in what is known as society, signalized their annual midwinter combined concert, as a celebration of the 30th anniversary of the Eurydice Chorus. The Orpheus Club is nearly half a century old. Both societies have very definite traditions, outgrowing from adherence to the amateur spirit through several decades. One of them is that no attempt shall be made to make funncial profit by the cenmade to make financial profit by the con-certs; in fact, they are so little commer-cial in inclination that no effort is made cial in inclination that no effort is made even to cover expenses.

A very larse and ultra-fashionable audience accepted the invitation to be the combined clubs' guests at the midwinter concert. The Academy doors opened at 7:15, a full hour before Conductor Arthur D. Woodruff raised his baton, but before the stroke of 8 the family circle was the only place left for late comers. The asthmatic had to turn home, but enough people stayed to make the third floor bloom as brillhantly as the parquet at the opera. The "creation" worn by the the opera. The "creation" worn by the ladles were in colorful contrast to the sombre hue of the conventional evening dress of the men.

The results accomplished in the pro-

dress of the men.

The results accomplished in the program were a decided tribute to what may be achieved by earnest effort well directed. The 140 voices, combined by uniting the vocal capacities of the 80 women and 60 men, blended very smoothly in Sir Arthur Sullivan's setting of Anne Adelaide Proctor's "The Lost Chord," Leslie's "Lullaby of Life" and "Hail, Bright Abode," from "Tannhaeuser," Something of genuine dramatic quality was in the Wagner except, while the spirit of quiet meditation der in the rear, forced open a whelms of the program were the victims this time. The Germantown station is on West Haines street, Across the street, at No. 60, Mrs. Elia Mackenzie. Alies Mary Roop and little Ethel Roop live together. The police announced the story of the daring robbery today. To their credit, be it said, that they made it announcement without apology.

Mrs. Mackenzie and Miss Roop went to the movies after dinner hist night. Ethel movies after dinner hist night effected their entrance by elimbing a hadder in the rear, forced open a whelms.

cerpt, while the spirit of quiet meditation was nicely attained in the Sullivan music.

The very lovely quality of the women's voices was revealed in Smith's musical melodrama based on Mrz. Browning's "The Great God Pan," and to this Viola Brodbeck contributed solo passages, in which the coloratura was given with high technical proficiency. Her voice vied with the oboe, appropriately introduced by the composer to simulate "the reed by the composer to simulate "the reed by the river" of the poet and played with marvelous facility by Marcel Tabateau, the new and accomplished member of the Philadelphia Orchestra's woodwind choir. Susanna Dercum's voluminous and well-managed Dercum's voluminous and well-managed contraito gave the solo portions of Har-ris' "Morning," which had to be repeated. The variegated nature of the first part of the program had an attractive feature in the familiar "Pagliacei" prologue, sung by George Pownall Orr, a haritone mem-ber of the Orpheus Club, whose voice is rounded and full and of extraordinary sweetness. He did not repeat the Leon-cavello number when an excerc was excavallo number when an encore was es sential, but gave "The Creole Love Song" so well that it had to be, perforce, re-peated, Daniel Donovan, also a club member, sang ably in a robust tenor the solo part of Schultz's "Forest Harps," in which the Orpheus Club's ability in part singing was capitally demonstrated.

Mr. Woodruff had his forces well in hand and conducted with a quick firm beat, to which they responded unfalteringly with prompt attack and cessation of tone. Both in volume and shading the two clubs, singly and together, covered selves with distinction.

GORMAN MAY GET $4000 JOB

Former County Commissioner Slated for Charities Bureau

Frank J. Gorman, former County Commissioner and leader of the Keystone party, is slated as superintendent of the Bureau of Charities. The position pays Bureau of Charities. The position pays $4090 a year.

Mr. Gorman conferred with Mayor Smith last night, and after the conference his friends said that they expect him to land the job. The only other candidate has been William G. McAllister, at present superintendent of the United States army quartermaster's station at Broad street and Washington avenue. He has the backing of State Senator Edward W. Patton, of the 27th Ward.

Announcement is expected today of the appointment of James Gay Gordon, -r., and Michael J. McCullough as assistant district attorneys. Mr. Gordon has been slated for appointment for some time, in spite of opposition in the Organization to the appointment of a Democrat.

Farm and Garden

WM. H. BARRETT 4734 Duffield Street Landscape Gardening Balt 'Phone Frunkford 2041W

DEATH ENDS CHEERY MOLLIE FANCHER'S 50 YEARS OF SUFFERING

Brooklyn's Famous Invalid Spent Half a Century in Bed With Spirit Undaunted by Affliction

NEW YORK, Feb. 11,-Mollie Fancher famous invalid of Brooklyn, who had been bedridden for 30 years, is dead. Miss Fancher died at her home last night, it was learned today.

Meille Fancher colebrated her 50th year in bed on February 3. She invited Prest-dent Wilson to attend the celebration of the anniversary. Propped up in the bed to which she had been confined for half a century, the cheery, helpless cripple re-ceived searce of friends. The reception lasted from early afternoon until late at right. The next day it was said slo-was somewhat tired, but that a rest would quickly restore her.

Miss Fancher was thrown from a street allow Pancier was thrown from a street car when 16 years old. Since that time she has been constantly confined in bed. She was an ardent suffragist and a great reader. Three birds—two parrots and a canary—have been Miss Pancher's outstant companions for years.

Mellie Fancher was the possessor of marvelous psychic powers, which have puzzled the scientille world. She once received an offer of a fabulous aum from the late P. T. Barnum is she would let him exhibit her. Mr. Barnum agreed to fix up a luxurious private car for her to travel in, but the offer was refused.

Her powers as a clairvoyant came to a height about 1875. Although blind, she began to describe the appearance and the clothing of callers. She could tell the amount of money in a pocketbook, it was said, and once, when a page from a book was torn up, she was able to repd what was printed thereon, although everal of the pleces had purposely been eral of the pieces had purposely been thrown away.

Here is a list of her marvelous powers which have been voilched for by wit-

She could foretell the approach of storms, accidents and fires. She could accurately describe those who rang her doorbell while they stood out-She could tell the time of day if any ne took out a watch. She could read a book without opening

She could read the thoughts of people with accuracy.

She never slept, but almost every night

THIEVES MAKE A HAUL IN POLICE STATION'S SHADOW

went into a trance

House in Germantown Robbed of Articles Valued at $350

Every few months in Philadelphia thieves choose a house in the shadow of a police station in which to perpetrate a "daring rothers." The police of the Germantown station and their neighbors were the victims this time.

GUNBOAT HAT JOINS IN NATIONAL PROPAGANDA FOR PREPAREDNES

Armed With High Turret Bristling With Guns, New Fashionable Headwear Reminds of President's Call to Get Ready

Dove-gray, a furret towering high, Rewest against the misty sky, Bristling with a hundred guns, On, on, relentiously it comes, A super-dreadmought! No, ah, no!

The country is aroused at last! National preparedness is the watchword of the bour. There is to be a bigger and more efficient navy, a citizen army awaiting the call to arms and, finally, as conclusive evidence that this preparedness talk is not all bluff, the high and mighty lords of fashion have decreed that 195 shall see a revolution in styles along the lines of national defense.

It is the gunbout—the gunbout chapeau!

shall see a revolution.

lines of national defense.

And so the gunbout hat arrives. It is dove-gray—the fashionable shade of the season—is crowned with a formidable turret and briefles with guns—dozens and the national defense propaganda was naturally to be felt in this year's styles are supplied in the season, while the militimatic of the season, while the militimatic properties are supplied to the season of the season.

any, she could ear through the walls of her room, and describe strangers in the next room.

She could tell the name of a person who came to see her for the first time.

She could read the thoughts of next room.

She could read the thoughts of next room and refurning her room and refurning her rooms.

She could read the thoughts of next room.

She could read the thoughts of next room.

She could read the thoughts of next room and refurning her room and refurning her rooms.

She could read the thoughts of next room and refurning her room and refurning her rooms.

She could read the thoughts of next room and refurning her room and refurning her rooms.

She could read the thoughts of next room and refurning her room and refurning her rooms.

She could read the thoughts of next room and refurning her refurning her room and refurning her refurning her room and refurning her room and refurning her room and refurning her room and refurning her refurning her refurning her room and refurning her refurning her room and refurning her spread from city to city as the 1916 polleeman, who pulled a box outside when ashlons find their way across the country. he saw the smoke.

The gunboat hat cries "War! war! Pre-pare for war!" and patriotic citizens from coast to coast respond to the call, The gunboat hat will doubtless be followed by the dirigible hat, the Krupp hat, the submarine hat and a host of others no less impressive. It is suggested that hat pins will soon appear excharcely as sabrey, bayonets, lances and battle-axes. but of course these new elements will fol-low the new style more slowly.

The gunboat hat first came to the attention of Philadelphians in the window of Mawson & DeMany, 1115 Chestnut street, where an exceedingly fine specimen occupies a prominent position. Mas E. F. Davis, a buyer for the establishment, spoke of the new creation as follows:

third of these cruiser hats prompts the urchase of a treatise on "War and Miliplant put out the blaze unaided. The fire was in one of the sheds. The alarm was not turned in from the plant, but by a

FOUR FIREMEN HURT; TRUCK HITS ENGINE

Two Horses Shot After Being Injured in Crash at Fourth and Federal Streets

Four men were thrown from a fire engine which was responding to an alarm early today when the apparatus was struck by a motor-driven fire truck at 4th and Federal streets, and although none was seriously injured all were forced to go to the Pennsylvania Hospital for treatment. They are Lieutenant Joseph L. Moore, William McCall, a driver; Andrew Anderson, a fireman, and Mathew Egger, a hoseman.

The engine was No. 48, from the 7th and Carpenter streets station, while the truck was No. 4 from the 4th and De Lancey streets station, driven by William Kling. Both were answering an alarm from a stable, owned by Stephen Lamanna, at 213 Ellsworth street, and were approaching the corner of th and Pederal streets at such great speed that the accident was

"Harry," one of the horses of the fice engine, was injured so badly he was shot by agents for the S. P. C. A., while his team mate "Jim" was taken to the city van stable, but was later found to be so seriously injured that it was decided he should also be killed.

Both horses were favorites among the children in the neighborhood, and when it was learned both had been shot many of the youngsters wept.

The fire to which the apparatus was rushing proved to be a small one and was easily handled by other fire com-

BONES IN MINE 40 YEARS

Men Entombed by Fall of Rock and Coal in Harleigh Workings

HAZLETON, Ira., Feb. II.—Miners at work late yesterday in the Harleigh work-ings of the G. B. Markle Coal Company brought to light the bones of James Murish and Joseph Pearson entombed no years ago.

The fail of rock and coal that imprisoned them was so extensive that the company then operating the mine was unable to recover the bodies.

Scottish Concert and Dance

A Scottish concert and dance, under the direction of Miss Mary Dollan, will be held at Textile Hall, Kensington avenue and Cumberland street, on February 22.

EDISON, "THE WIZARD." 69 YEARS OLD TODAY

Famous American Inventor Hailed as World's Great. est Genius

NEW YORK, Feb. II.—Thomas A. Edson is 69 years old today. By Way of celebration he expects to spend is hours out of the 24 tolling in his laboratory—his of the 24 toiling in his laboratory-his regular daily stunt.

He relaxed enough last night to be present as the guest of honor at the dinner of the Illuminating Engineering Society. It was given at the Biltmore Hotel. Prominent technical men from all sections of the country were in attendance.

Despite his growing years Edison appeared as fresh as a girl at her first dance. He was as alert as the average man many years his junior, although plainly ill at ease over the honors which his friends heaped upon him.

A life membership in the society was bestowed upon the noted inventor by John W. Lieb. William H. Meadowcroft, Mr. Edison's secretary, responded, T. Commerford Martin, Edison's biographer, delivered a brief address.

STERN'S FEBRUARY SALE Automatic Bed Davenport $1 Q.95 Beautifully Carved, New Serpentine Design

Management of the Committee of the Commi

Week In offering these elegant Serpentine Automatic Bed Davenports we positively have the distinction of presenting to the public the most beautiful and artistic conception of this style of furniture ever seen. One movement opens it into a full size bed. And such upholstering; apart from its striking beauty it is the softest and most restful you have ever experienced. It is a truly impressive article of furniture. At the special price of $19.95 it is positively irresistible. Read the descrip-

Automatic Davenport A child can operate it. It built on an entirely new

The Construction

By day it serves as an elegant piece of library or tion throughout is the very parlor furniture. By night as best. Upholstered in union a full-size, comfortable bed, leather, which is the nearest approach to genuine leather highly polished.

The frames are made of se lected and thoroughly seasened solid oak. The construc-

THE FILLING

The Bed 6 ft. 2 inches long,
The simplest device on the Consists of high-grade tow covered with double thickness of cotton felt on top. The leather is securely fastened to an all-spring construction with patent double-pronged diamopd and tufting buttons. Cainter pull out. The most comfortable davenport ever made.

Buy of Stern-Pay As You Earn

ROOM BRIDAL 4 ROOM 4 ROOM 4 APARTMENT

Outfit $125 Outfit $189 Outfit $250 Outfit $345

712-714

HEPPE

The Steinway Pianola

The Wheelock Pianola

The Steinway The Weber The Wheelock The Stroud PIANOLAS

All genuine Aeolian-made instruments, containing the famous Aeolian patents, which have made the Pianola the most widely known, the most widely used and the most widely imitated instrument in the world.

Player-pianos are not Pianolas. There is but one Pianolamade only by the Aeolian Company in six pianos only. Four of these pianos containing the Pianola are on sale at "the House that Heppe built."

Until you have seen and heard the Pianola, you have not witnessed the greatest achievements in player-piano construction.

of the player-piano world is on sale at Henne's and includes or the player preme world is on one at reeppe a and includes

Steinway Pianola (grand)	1800 1150	Wheelock Pianola

Settlement may be in eash or charge account on our rental-payment plan-all rent applies to purchase. Write for large il lustrated catalogue.

1117-1119 Chestnut Street 6th and Thompson Streets

The Weber Pianola

The Stroud Pianola

C. J. HEPPE & SON