

VICTORY FOR MOTION PICTURES IN COURT OF NATION-WIDE EFFECT

Judge Barratt's Decision Destroys Absolute Authority of Censorship—"Virtue" Now Shown in Many States

REASONS FOR THE BAN

There was jubilation today in the motion picture world over the decision given by Judge Barratt, in Common Pleas Court No. 3, in upholding the right of motion picture manufacturers to appear from the decision of the State Board of Censors. The decision was given in the case of the photoplay, "Virtue," produced by the Franklin Film Manufacturing Corporation, of this city. In the picture are numerous scenes which the censors ordered eliminated.

LITTLE BANTAM ROOSTER SERVES AS ALARM CLOCK AND GUARDS CIGAR STORE

When Brownie was picked up in the street he didn't have a feather on his back. It was a rainy night, the kind that makes the world look blue and heartless. Brownie struggled through the heavy downpour gasping for breath. His tiny feet sank deeper into the mud with each step. Then he collapsed. Just as his last sparks of life were struggling within his little body, Jim, just a plain "roun" dawg, who had been watching Brownie with much curiosity, darted after him. Jim picked Brownie up tenderly and carried him into the kitchen.

JUDGE NEIL TO URGE PENNA. COUNTIES' HELP FOR MOTHERS' PENSIONS

Forty-seven Are Still Behind in Appropriation for Compensation Act Passed by Legislature Year Ago

ONLY 20 HAVE ACTED

Only 20 of the 47 Pennsylvania counties have raised money to secure the $300,000 appropriated by the 1915 Legislature to pay mothers' pensions, according to Judge Henry Neil, of Chicago, a former Philadelphian, who is here today to push the 47 "backward counties." Judge Neil, who serves without one cent of pay, is the father of the first mothers' pension act, and has been instrumental in having similar laws passed in 26 States in the past five years. The first bill was passed in Illinois in 1911. Already $12,000,000 has been appropriated for such pensions during 1916.

Mr. Neil is a firm believer in "Preparedness" of the type which cares for the children, so that men and women might be strong and healthy. He believes that child poverty makes adult inefficiency. Hence, he, the father of the mothers' pension act, and Representative Edward Keating, of Colorado, the father of the child labor bill, which will prevent interstate shipment of products of child labor, have co-operated in framing a new bill. This bill was introduced in the House last Wednesday, and provides for a commission which will study the causes of child poverty and the effects of that poverty in regard to adult inefficiency. The bill points out that more than 50 per cent of the men applying for enlistment in the army and navy are physically and mentally deficient, and that there must be some cause.

BLOOD GIFTS FAIL TWO

Two Women Die at Allentown After Futile Transfusion ALLENTOWN, Pa., Feb. 11.—Mrs. Margaret Ketterer, 22 years old, wife of Oscar J. Ketterer, and Mrs. Georgianna Smith, 34 years old, died at the Allentown Hospital, after unavailing transfusion of blood.

QUITS LEGISLATURE FOR BRIDE

Happy Home Has More Allurements for Pittsburgh Man PITTSBURGH, Feb. 11.—"The best wife in the world" and a happy home have more allurements for Attorney A. C. Stein than the glamour and prestige of political office, and have caused him to announce he will not be a candidate for re-election to the Legislature. He was married to a San Francisco girl December 28. During the last two sessions of the Legislature Mr. Stein was one of its most conspicuous figures, presenting many measures, among them being the mothers' pension bill. He was one of the leaders of the liquor interests in the fight against local option measures.

COMPENSATION CLAIM CONTESTED IN COURT

Referee Hears Protest Against Paying Workman Hurt in Cresson-Morris Plant

Evidence was taken today in the first contested claim under the Workmen's Compensation act by George C. Klauer, referee. The hearing was at 1200 North American Building. Mr. Klauer took the case under advisement, the law allowing him seven days to deliberate. The case was one of medical complexities. The complainant, William Hamilton, of 459 North 3rd street, had been employed as a machinist at the Cresson-Morris Company's plant, 15th and Allegheny, two days only when he was hurt.

1200 EMPLOYEES FROLIC

Bonwit-Teller Beneficial Association Holds "Dance at Vaudeville" Dancing and swaying to the rhythmic measure of a full string orchestra, 1200 members and friends of the Bonwit-Teller Employees' Beneficial Association frolicked and laughed and were happy last night at the sixth annual "Dance at Vaudeville," held at Mercantile Hall, Broad and Market streets. They danced and danced, and stopped only now and then to get their breath for the music was continuous, right on through fox trot and one-step, through hesitations and Paul Joneses on to that "Bontell Confusion," which was true to its name.

TWO POSTOFFICES NEAR THIS CITY ROBBED

Safes Blown at Red Hill and Woodbourne and Stamps and Money Taken

Two postoffice safe robberies within the last 36 hours in the vicinity of this city have aroused the police of southeastern Pennsylvania to a strict search for the perpetrators. The safes opened were both on line of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, one at Red Hill, Montgomery County, the other at Woodbourne, near Langhorne, Bucks County. Nitroglycerin was used in each case. Nearly $700 in booty was obtained by the robbers, who forced their way into the postoffices by breaking open the front door. One of the Red Hill postoffices stamps worth $200 and $150 in cash was taken. At Woodbourne the robbers got $238 worth of stamps and $40 in cash. The police and Government officials, who are also investigating, are convinced that the same men were responsible for both jobs. Stolen tools were used in each case to break into the postoffices. The robbers spent the night in the Maple Point Public School, where they forced an entrance after completing the Woodbourne job. A pile of cigarette stumps pointed to their presence there, but they stole nothing. Examination of the safes after the robberies convinces the police that the robbers were the work of expert safe-crackers.
