tions, not to mention the fascinating music. This feature of the shore reeserved. The craze for dancing is just as great ere as elsewhere, but owing to the strict Sunday laws everything stopped at midginht on Saturday, so every one sme early and stayed till the last minsts. It was quite impossible to realize that rain and wind were without, it was so gay and festive indoors, with erery one you knew about. Harry Lauder came in late in the evening in his kilts, and attracted much attention Among those spending the weekend at the Traymore were Mrs. Charles Brinton Coxe and her son, Mr. Eckby B. Coxe, Jr., and Miss Caroline Sinkler, of Charleston, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Vaughan Merrick, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Lovering and their son, Mr. Joseph F. Lovering, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Pardee and Miss Olive Pardee, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris R. Stroud.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Donner were observed on the Boardwalk, also Mr. George Widener, Mrs. Robert C. M. Brock and her son, Mr. Henry G. Brock, and Miss Mary K. Gibson, Mrs. Charles H Howell and her daughter, Miss Josphine Fitler Howell, Mr. and Mrs. J. Levering Jones and Miss Charlotte Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nason, Mrs. D. Braden Kyle and Mrs. Sydney Errington Martin.

The Indoor Tennis Ciub will hold a week's tournament beginning today at la headquarters, 53 North 23d street, and all the members are greatly intersied in it. Among the regular members are Mrs. Randal Morgan, Mrs. Charlie Harrison, Jr., Mrs. Harrison Caner, Mrs. Harry Wilson, Miss Clara Chase, Miss Bertha Benson, Miss Nadise Chase, Mrs. Roland Foulke, Mrs. Eddia Dale, Mrs. Hoxie Harrison Smith, Miss Elisa Fox, Miss Ruth Sul-Byan and Miss Gertrude Osthelmer.

The Daughters of the Revolution, you know, are to give an entertainment on Thursday afternoon at Witherspoon Hall for the benefit of the Battleship and Boy Scout Fund, Mrs. Thomas Potter, Jr., who is much interested in the affair, told me she was bothered about a mistake which was made in the Printing. The tickets read Tuesday, February 17, instead of Thursday, so she is afraid some people will go tomerrow only to be disappointed. It is apt to be the case, as so often one looks more at the day stated than the date. It would be a pity to miss the lecture which Mrs. Samuel Ammon will give on Continental Memorial Hall and the Fravelogue pictures, which I am told will be very fine.

Dorothy Norris will go down to Baltimore today to attend the fifth german of the Bachelors' Cotillon. Her cousin, Richard Thompson, will give a dinner in her honor before the cotillon at the Belvedere. Dorothy always has a wondarful time wherever she goes, and will surely make a hit in Baltimore, as she has in New York and Narragansett, to May nothing of Paris.

I hear that about 30 girls around Chestnut Hill have started a luncheon club, which will meet at the various houses at intervals through the season. Dettie Disston had the first meeting at her house, because she had one of the higgest houses, which is a good reason, Fou will admit. Mrs. Pat Grant, who was Marie Disston, is one of the chief instigators of the club.
