

FALL TO REOPEN FIGHT ON WILSON POLICY IN MEXICO

Senator Promises to Supply "Missing Links" in Lansing Report

CALLS IT INADEQUATE

Total Number of Americans Who Perished During Revolt Is 129

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Senator Fall, of New Mexico, served warning today that he would renew immediately his warfare upon the Administration's Mexican policy.

"I object to the Administration's eutellah diplomacy, this throwing out a lot of ink to conceal its real movements," said Senator Fall.

ASSAILS RECOGNITION

"The report fully justifies my resolution calling for the reason of the recognition of Carranza and amply demonstrates there was no early reason for such recognition."

"The report submitted by Secretary Lansing in response to the Fall resolution conveyed the information that 76 Americans lost their lives in Mexico in the years 1913, 1914 and 1915."

"In addition to this Secretary Lansing disclosed that 29 civilian Americans in those three years and 16 American soldiers were killed on American soil as the result of border troubles."

"Among the significant omissions in the report were the border incidents which Senator Fall insisted were listed to the United States marines who landed at Vera Cruz."

"Many expected a full and frank statement of the entire Mexican situation from the Administration, but Mr. Lansing, acting on the President's orders, dealt with conditions only in a general way and reported that much of the information called for could not be furnished because it would not be 'compatible with the public interest' to give it."

"Another notable omission was the correspondence which passed between the Brazilian Ambassador in Mexico City while he was representing the United States and the State Department."

"Behind the latest planned revolt are said to be Felix Diaz, nephew of the old dictator, and Senora Huerta, wife of the late leader, who died while a prisoner of the United States at El Paso. Senora Huerta is now at El Paso and Diaz is in Los Angeles. Both are under the eyes of Federal authorities."

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 18.—Another delay was granted, this time for the Pittsburgh and Independent Brewing Companies, in the Federal Grand Jury's probe of brewery contributions to campaign funds.

Subpoenas requiring production of records were attacked, the same kind as involved in the first legal fight made for the United States and Pennsylvania Breweries' association.

"The Federal Grand Jury reconvened, following Prosecutor James' return from Philadelphia, examined two witnesses, B. A. Mason, secretary of the Brewery Association of Western Pennsylvania, and John A. Kelly, office manager of the same association."

BRITAIN SELLS STEEL CORPORATION BONDS

Five Per Cents to Value of $22,800,000 Returned Through Morgan & Co.

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—An announcement was made today that J. P. Morgan & Co., for the account of the British Treasury, has sold to the United States Steel Corporation $22,800,000 of that corporation's first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds.

"The bonds taken back compose the lot of securities generally known as the Carnegie bonds and comprise part of the foundation for Scottish universities established by Andrew Carnegie."

DENY MORGAN WILL BUY BRITISH HOLDINGS HERE

Will Not Take Over American Securities Mobilized in London

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Cable dispatches from London stating that J. P. Morgan went to the British capital to take over the British Government's entire holdings of American securities at a price 10 per cent. below the ruling price on the New York Stock Exchange.

"The dispatch from London stated that by taking over these securities 'the constant depression in prices in New York, caused by the daily o-rings, will be stopped and England will establish a credit for several billion dollars in America.'"

It was pointed out this morning that it is not necessary for Great Britain to secure further credits in America as presently the British Government is in the immediate future, because that Government now has a liberal cash balance on its credit account in bank in this country, a result of the situation of the 1904-05 loan a few months ago.

LORD ABERDEEN SEES ASSURED HOME RULE FOR EMERALD ISLE

Former Lord Lieutenant of Ireland Says Eventually That Country Will Enjoy Autonomy Like Canada's

ERIN'S SERVICE IN WAR

Lord Aberdeen, who is adding his distinguished presence to the list of Philadelphia visitors together with Lady Aberdeen, was a little more laconic today about "things of paramount importance" than he was when he arrived yesterday.

It happens that he is a rare authority on Canada and Ireland for Philadelphia to question for he was once a Governor General of Canada and Lord Lieutenant of Ireland.

"Gradually the power of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland will diminish. Eventually Ireland will enjoy the same autonomy as Canada," repeated Lord Aberdeen.

"The observation that the Irish exchequer with its board of five members, two by the Lord Lieutenant and the fifth by the English Crown, was virtually controlled by the Government, Lord Aberdeen shrugged his shoulders."

"The first parish work was as an assistant to St. Joseph's, Frankfurt, where he was immediately after his ordination. He remained there until Holy Thursday, 1858, when he was named pastor of St. Joseph's, Philadelphia. After nine years in that city he was chosen to organize the Epiphany parish."

Penrose's Stand Increases Popularity of Measure in Senate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Advocates of Government manufacture of armor plate will make an attempt to bind the Democrats of the House to support such a measure. A caucus will be called next week for this purpose.

Sentiment for the adoption of a bill making appropriation for this purpose has increased, according to its advocates, since Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania informed the Senate Naval Affairs Committee that armor plate manufacturers would advance the price $300 a ton if the bill was passed.

SHONTS HAZY ABOUT 'YELLOW DOG FUND'

Interborough President Shows Defective Memory as to Important Details

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Theodore P. Shonks, president of the Interborough, who got $250,000 in one year from various sources, when he resumed the witness stand in the afternoon before the Thompson Legislative committee, showed a lack of memory on some important details.

"Only in a vague way," was the answer. It was for engineering these contracts that Shonks said the interborough directors would have a bonus of $150,000.

"When what was the purpose of the $100,000 fund for the Pelham Parkway Railway, Shonks said he did not know. He was asked if he knew the name of the contractor, talking Shonks by surprise.

DANIELS 'ROOKIE' PLAN FOR NAVY HITS A SNAG

If Civilians Are Trained, Where Will the Officers Come From? the Experts Ask

Where will the officers come from? This query is the answer of navy men to Secretary Daniels' plan for training civilians for the navy by giving them a month's cruise on battleships.

The news of the latest creative effort of the Secretary of the Navy was not taken kindly at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Officers there had no trouble in finding many flaws in the whole plan, which Mr. Daniels expects will turn 2500 civilians into as many navy men.

While the shortage of enlisted men in the navy is acute, the deficiency in the ranks of the officers is even more so, the officers say. And what they want to know is: How can a man learn even the elementary duties of a sailor without being an officer to teach him the reserve fleet at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, which would be available for such a purpose, is now short 100 officers and 2000 men.

Wherein lies the trouble? The present policy of Mr. Daniels is material first, then enlisted men and then officers, which is entirely wrong, according to the navy men, and should be reversed.

"Why not take a thousand men from the colleges and technical schools of the country and put them on the payroll of the navy as ensigns?" he asked. "If they were kept in the navy for four years they would be efficient officers, especially as they would have at their disposal the knowledge of those sciences that are useful in the service. At the end of that time, if they didn't want to continue in the ranks, they could leave. But, at any rate, we would have a splendid reserve to fall back on—a reserve of officers, which is what we need."

SOCIETY HAS BEGUN KNOCKING AT DOOR OF MASKED WIDOW

Brother Forbes Tells of Telephone Invitation From Main Line Denizen Who Insists on Entertaining

DRAWING ROOM TO LOOM

Society has begun to knock at the doors of the masked widow, at least so she and her brother announced today from their suite at the Continental Hotel.

It appears that the summons from society came in the shape of a telephone call from a well-known woman on the Main Line, according to the widow and her brother Forbes.

"After knocking this gem to English literature he gazed out the window. Her brother impatiently, suddenly announced that she was coming."

"I don't know how to say it and if the worst comes to the worst—" But brother Forbes divided the unfinished thought.

"You know," said Forbes, "I would feel most despicable were I to allow my dear sister to work in a mill at $1.75 per week when she has been offered the comfortable figure of $500 a week to sing in public."

"The widow's practical brother then took an inventory of the social situation, and after that his comments were getting thinner. "You can see we are bound to come to the end soon if we just keep on spending without replenishing—"

"Yes, I will sing," said the masked widow. "When they plunged into a typical English luncheon of chops and turnips and pudding, a pot of tea and other things to match."

"After noon they received a mysterious telephone call and brother and sister, the latter still concealed behind her mask, left the hotel quickly and entered a big brown auto. Brother Forbes said they were going to a music studio.

STOKES DECLARES PLATFORM SUPERIOR TO CANDIDATES

Indicates Purpose to Run for United States Senator

TRENTON, Feb. 18.—Governor E. C. Stokes, of this city, who has declared many times that his ambition is to become a United States Senator, gave his views today as to a platform declaration in the coming contest for United States Senator.

While not saying in so many words that he will become a candidate for the office in the primaries, he gave every indication of such an announcement.

After declaring "that this year the national platform will supersede candidates' views and then become the candidate's views," Mr. Stokes said the people cannot be kept in the dark. They have a right to know the candidates, but these, he said, can only properly be known through continued public utterances and contact with the people.

He warned Republicans of New Jersey of the attempt of a self-appointed combine to control party affairs and select the platform, and added that Progressives will not leave the party under a management from which they revolted.

British Vessel Narrowly Escapes Destruction on Arrival at Valencia

Two dynamite bombs, filled with enough explosive to have blown the ship to atoms, were found in the hold of the British steamship Rosebank, at Valencia, Spain, according to a dispatch received from that port today.

Whether the bombs were placed in the hold of the ship while she was being loaded in Philadelphia, or whether they were hidden there when she docked at Valencia is still a matter of conjecture. The ship arrived at the latter port on February 17.
