BALDWIN EMPLOYE, HALE, BUSY, AFTER 69 YEARS OF SERVICE

"Keep Straight and You Will Go Ahead," One of George F. Johnson's Mottoes

Don't Booze, Says Man Who Has Worked for 6 Decades

Don't booze. No man is qualified stand the test if he indulges in Cigarette-smoking is vicious.

Cigarettes, along with the pic-ture shows and automobiles, are driving the country to the devil.

Women should have the vote, provided they own property and pay taxes. Don't keep one eye looking toward the time clock.

And don't start getting ready for sunch on the company's time.

Way back in September, 1847, when lincoln was still a backwoodsman, a young man walked into the office of Matthias Baldwin, pioneer builder of locomotives.

"I want a job," he said.

He got it.

The whys and wherefores of his qualications for the job—that of engine tester—are not as important as the fact that he started with Baldwin the next day and has been there ever since, a day and has been there ever since, a record of almost 69 years of continuous service and a record the duplicate of which would be mightly hard to find. Action would be mightly hard to find.

Getting that Job was are most important part of the life of George F. Johnson—keeping it worried him not a bit. For his cardinal principles of business, made up mostly of keeping right and taking your pleasure on your own time and not the company's, proved able to stand the test more than six decades. for more than six decades.

To the average person the idea of working in one place for such a long time would be sufficient to harass him into an early grave. Not so with George F. Johnson. Work was to him, and still is, for that matter, delight and enjoyment; which is, in itself, a revelation to those the wonder why "su-sslety" and the wor-rld" don't hand them a living on

He left his home for a walk through the central business section last Saturday, and contracted a cold which quickly developed into pneumonia. His condition grew steadily worse in the succeeding days, and "apex" pneumonia, a highly dangerous affection, set in. The end came last night, with his daughter, Mrs. E. V. Lavell and son-in-law at his beside. law at his beside.

Mr. Pue was appointed chief auditor of the City Controller's office on February 25, 1884. He served in the office under sight Mayors, and for the last 20 years had been the chief of auditor for Con-troller Walton.

He had been in good health up to Saturday. He took pride in continuing his active work in the Controller's office. He put in long hours almost up to the time of his resignation, checking over the books of his department and sometimes visited the office on Sungays.

Mr. Pugh was a veteran of the Civil War, having fought with the 20th Regiment, Pennsylvanta Volunteers.

The funeral will be neld Saturday afternoon at the South 23d street address, and interment in West Laurel Hill Cemelery will follow. The Rev. Elliott Field, a relative, pastor of a Presbyterian church in West Hoboken, N. J., will officiate.

Pastor of St. Charles Borromeo, Oak View, Succumbs to Pneumonia After Brief Illness

The Rev. M. G. Scully, pastor of the hurch of St. Charles Borromeo, Oak lew, died suddenly today from pneu-cula, after an illness of five days. Father culy had been pastor of the church since farch 25, 1905, when he succeeded the lay, N. P. O'Brien. A cold which had troubled him for sev-A cold which had troubled him for sevital days became acute on Sunday and days iclans pronounced the illness pneumenla. He grew steadily worse until his reovery seemed hopeless and the last lies of the church were administered yearday afternoon in the presence of Father Francis J. Markee, or St. Philomena's flurch, Lansdowne, and the Rev. John J. Mozan, assistant rector of the church. Pather Scully was 84 years old. He are born in Quincy, Mass., and from there oved with his family to Girardville, Pa., ture he attended the parochial school. From Girardville he entered the Seminary of St. Charles Horromeo, Overbrook, always as ordained on October 17, 1881, by ushop Jaremiah Shanahan at the Cathe-lishop Jeremian Shanahan at the Cathe-tial on Logan Square. After his ordination, Father Scully was antitate at St. Michael's Church. personal charge of locomotives and kept lines open despite the efforts of Confed-erate generals, who poured shot after shot at the fearless engineer during wild rides from Memphis to Louisville and from Appomatox to Manassas.

Since the Civil War, and that was more than a half century ago, Johnson has been pursuing a quiet life, looking after the interests of the company and rearing two sons who followed in their father's footsteps and became engineers, and right good ones at that, through their father's teachings.

COINER OF SLOGANG.

Johnson, as a coiner of siogans, rivals Roosevelt. "Keep straight and you'll get ahead" is just as much relished by some as the "Fear God and take your own part" of the doughty Colonel. Or his "Dance, picture shows and automobiles are driv-ing the country to the devil" might be favorably classified along with similar sayings of "Billy" Sunday.

These mottoes might be taken as an indication of his remarkable possession of his faculties. For, although 89 years old, his faculties. For, although 89 years old, he goes to work every day at the office. He quit active work as tester of engines several years ago.

A success in the ideal sense of the word is George F. Johnson. And content with the fact that he is a real success, he is happy at his home, 1927 Fairmount avenue, looking into the future with as much pleasure as the impetuous boy just out of school who sings as he goes "the world is

Alittle learning is a dangerous thing

When the New Yorker bought Hiram's farm, he rejected Hiram's methods. He had theories of his own.

He got rid of the cows; pruned the orchard too heavily; threw the farm all out of balance.

"The trouble with me," he says, "was that I knew too much and not enough."

He has had four costly, nerve-racking years. But at last he is winning. He knows now that his neighbors were practical, and that he let his theories run away with him.

His case is not unusual. His story is a warning. He tells it well-Tenderfoot Farming-today, in
