PLEA OF EVANGELIST IN TABERNACLE AT DARBY

Nicholson Tells Revival Workers of Temptations Which They Must Conquer After Campaign Ends

TWENTY-EIGHT HIT TRAIL

Evangelist William F. Nicholson preached another stirring sermon in the Darby tabernacle this afternoon, the third in his series on "The Holy Spirit." He warned the active workers in the revival campaign of the dangers awaiting them after the end of the campaign.

He preached on the topic, "How This Life of Holiness and Fulness May Be Maintained," dealing particularly with the method of dealing with temptations which the devil will employ after the tabernacle is torn down to lead them back to their sinful and indifferent ways of living.

"It is easy enough to be Christian," he said, "when these meetings are in progress and the very atmosphere tends to make us want to live a Christian life, but when we get back to the humdrum of life, how is this blessed experience to be maintained?"

He insisted that his hearers must come to a definite conclusion now, and then he warned them that they must "cut out" some of the very things that have been dear to them in their lives. The evangelist insisted that they must not eliminate the things that are against Christ's teachings from their lives, but must fill the places made vacant with good works.

It was an earnest plea to the Christians of Darby, the western part of West Philadelphia and the surrounding towns of Delaware County to continue to be actively engaged in saving souls and improving the spiritual and moral tone of their communities.

It is a positive life as well as a negative life that the Lord requires, the speaker declared.

"This life of fulness and faith is one of reception," he continued. "Do I need love? Ask for it and receive it. Do I need joy? Ask for it and receive it. Do I need peace? Ask for it and receive it. Do I need comfort? Ask for it and receive it. No man can say, 'I have attained.' It is not attainment but obtaining."

"Rest in Me," Christ urged, he said, "and it is the gift every believer has. And we are to rest in Christ—not in circumstances, wealth, churches or communities. Rest in the love of Jesus, rest in prayer, rest in His Word, for every promise is as good as the great God who made it."

More than 200 Philadelphia singers who were members of the "Bible" Sunday choir last winter, were guests at the tabernacle last night and won much applause when they sang several selections. They later sang with J. H. Hemminger's Darby choir in front of the hotel, at Main street and Chester pike. H. C. Lincoln led the Philadelphia singers in the tabernacle and they made the "Glory Barn" ring with their songs. "Since Jesus Came Into My Heart," "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again," "In Jesus" and other popular revival hymns were sung in the street.

A delegation from the John C. Winston Company, Arch street, above 10th, attended the service in a body. Doctor Nichol, a tried a new scheme when he called for "ball hitters." He addressed the nervous workers to remain in their seats and gave the invitation from the pulpit. There were 24 persons in the "glory row" when the handbaking stopped. As each man or woman walked forward and took their stand as converts, the big audience applauded loudly.

EGGS LEAD TO ARREST

Two Men Taken in Railroad Yard and Held on Charge of Theft

Two thousand three hundred and four eggs, in crates, taken from a boxcar and piled in a cart early today, proved the undoing of Paul Snidley, 2320 North 6th street, and Edward Beldie, 1931 Lawrence street.

They were captured in the Philadelphia and Reading Railway yards, at American and Berks streets by Railroad Detective Edward Brooks and held in $400 bail each for court by Magistrate Glenn, of the 4th and York streets station.

Ever since the beginning of the world woman has figured in its destiny, as shown by the records of Eve, Cleopatra and Helen of Troy. And, getting down to March, 1916, it was a woman who caused temporary complications in the arrangements for the Fashion Show, which will be held at the Bellevue-Stratford, causing the models to go on a strike.

Unlike the workmen who quit work at the big industrial plants, they did not ask for better figures, for they are well employed in this connection, but their dissatisfaction was due to the glowing tributes showered upon one of their number by the chief model inspector, who was rehearsing them for the show, which

"If some of you church members think anything of your pastors, you'll stay away from the prayer meeting, because he'll drop dead if you come in."

"Church fights are the devil's things. If you're born of God, you won't have it in for the members of the other churches because their belief is different from yours. And some of you will be charitable instead of going downtown and talking about me like you do. Man isn't very much when you're thinking about God. If you're not a child of his, you're a child of the devil."

Tonight, Doctor Biederwolf will preach to the newspapermen of Montgomery county, and he will have a special sermon for the scribes.

"When we ask you, 'Are you a Christian?' you look up in surprise and say, 'Why, I'm a Methodist or Presbyterian.' Well, baptism, confirmation or joining church in any other way won't help you to be born again. But they are necessary, because God commands it. HARD COAL 'CONFAB'
MARKED BY CAUTION

Negotiations for New Agreement Resumed in New York by Miners and Operators

NEW YORK, March 10.—Extreme caution is marking the actual negotiations for a new agreement between the anthracite operators and miners in session here.

The operators present at the meetings are W. L. Connell, president of the Green Ridge Coal Company; W. J. Richards, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company; E. D. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, and Morris Williams, president of the Susquehanna Coal Company. The officials of the United Mine Workers, present are President John P. White, John T. Dempsey, of Scranton, Pa., president of District No. 1; Thomas Kennedy, of Hazleton, Pa., president of District No. 7, and James Matthews, of Shenandoah, Pa., president of District No. 8. Alva N. Markie, of Hazleton, an operator, presided and James A. Gorman, of Hazleton, secretary of the Conciliation Board, was secretary.

The first demand of the ten submitted by the United Mine Workers, to go into effect on April 1 next, deals with the provision that the next agreement between the miners and operators be restricted to two years, but this was temporarily tabled yesterday to enable an immediate discussion of the wage demand, which is for a 50 per cent. increase.

The representatives of the miners submitted statistics, which they asserted had been gathered by the Department of Labor at Washington, in proof of their contention that the increase in living cost in the last 10 years had exceeded the advances in wages won by the miners. It was contended that, whereas in the last 10 years house rents had gone up from 13 to 23 1-3 per cent., wages in that period had only advanced 5.6 per cent.

The joint committee will meet again at the Union League Club this afternoon.

PRINTING is purely a manufacturing business and one that is fraught with trouble from Genesis to Revelation. A job is never really sold until it is accepted and paid for. Every contract runs the whole gamut of chances that are liable to lead to a reprint. The binder may bungle. The pressman may fail to observe that a letter has fallen out of place. The paper may be unfitted for the purpose. The ink may fail to perform properly. And last of all, the electrotypes are liable to be unprintable. Why, then, in view of the countless hazards that loom up in a printer's horoscope, does he deliberately desire to run chances on his electrotypes? No one factor has more hidden features or offers more possible pitfalls than unreliable electrotypes. Good judgment should direct every first-class printer in Philadelphia to the door of the Royal Plant, where perfect performance is pledged and reliability guaranteed.
