MACKMEN REACH CHARLESTON WAY BEHIND SCHEDULE

First Squad Is Augmented By Farham, Mellinger and Castle

SAME OLD SEASICHNESS

By CHANDLER D. RICHTER

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 11.—The first squad of the Athletics, on route to Jacksonville for the spring training trip, arrived here last night, one day and seven hours behind time, owing to weather conditions. The Machinen were due here yesterday at moon, but the start was delayed by a day and seven hours were lost while the steamer Comanche lay at anchor in New York Bay waiting for the blizzard to subside.

The trip was uneventful and quiet, most of those aboard being seasok until yesterday afternoon because of the unusually rough sea. Three persons not originally scheduled as members of the Athletics party were aboard. They were Pitcher Farham, a recruit from Raleigh; Pitcher Roy Meilinger, from Cedar Rap-lds, and Castle, the new trainer.

Mellinger is strongly built, but is decidedly small in height. He does not stand above 5 feet 7 inches in height. Mel-linger comes highly recommended by Ira Thomas, who saw him work last season, and Secretary Joe Ohl says Mack expects him to surprise those who declare that a major league pitcher must be large.

It is an old theory—badly shattered by Dick Rudolph, of the braves—that a major league pitcher must be a six-footer or close to that mark, but Thomas declares he saw Mellinger perform an "iron man" feat none of the Glants would have necom-

In the first game of a double-header, Mellinger won easily, and went back on the mound for the second contest.

The game went 17 innings, with Mellinger on the winning end. This feat of although two runs in 26 innings in one afternoon caused Thomas to remain in Cedar Rapids a few days longer than he had intended. He was rewarded by seeing Mellinger pitch a 13-ining, 1-to-0 game two days later. Ira lost no time making a deal with Cedar Rapids, and tied this youngster to a contract after his wonderful record of pitching 39 inings to three days, allowing but two runs in the three days, allowing but two runs in the three
