

ILLUSTRATED Evening Ledger

TUESDAY
March 21, 1916

TIMELY SIDELIGHTS ON THE DAY'S OUTPUT OF NEWS FROM A THOUSAND SOURCES

Photo by Underwood & Underwood.

TRENCH IN THE BOIS DE CAURES, A CENTRE OF THE BATTLING NEAR VERDUN

This is one of the wooded knolls for whose possession both French and Germans have fought desperately on account of the partial shelter its trees afford.

LOOKING TOWARD MAUCOURT, TAKEN BY GERMANS, FROM FRENCH TRENCH

Here is revealed the round, sloping hills by which Verdun is virtually surrounded, and on whose sides the Germans have lost heavily under French fire.

HURRYING SOUTHWARD ACROSS DUSTY HILLS AND PLAINS TO JOIN IN THE HUNT FOR VILLA

The 3d Cavalry as it appeared leaving Fort Sam Houston, Tex., for Mexico. On the mounted regiments most of the work of running down Villa will fall.

Photo by International Film Service.

CALIFORNIA, NOT TO BE OUTDONE BY NEW ORLEANS, ALSO HOLDS ITS MARDI GRAS

Miss Rosa Macucci and Miss Katherine Purcell, both of San Francisco, in the costumes in which they represented the American flag and a Chinese doll. The latter won the first prize.

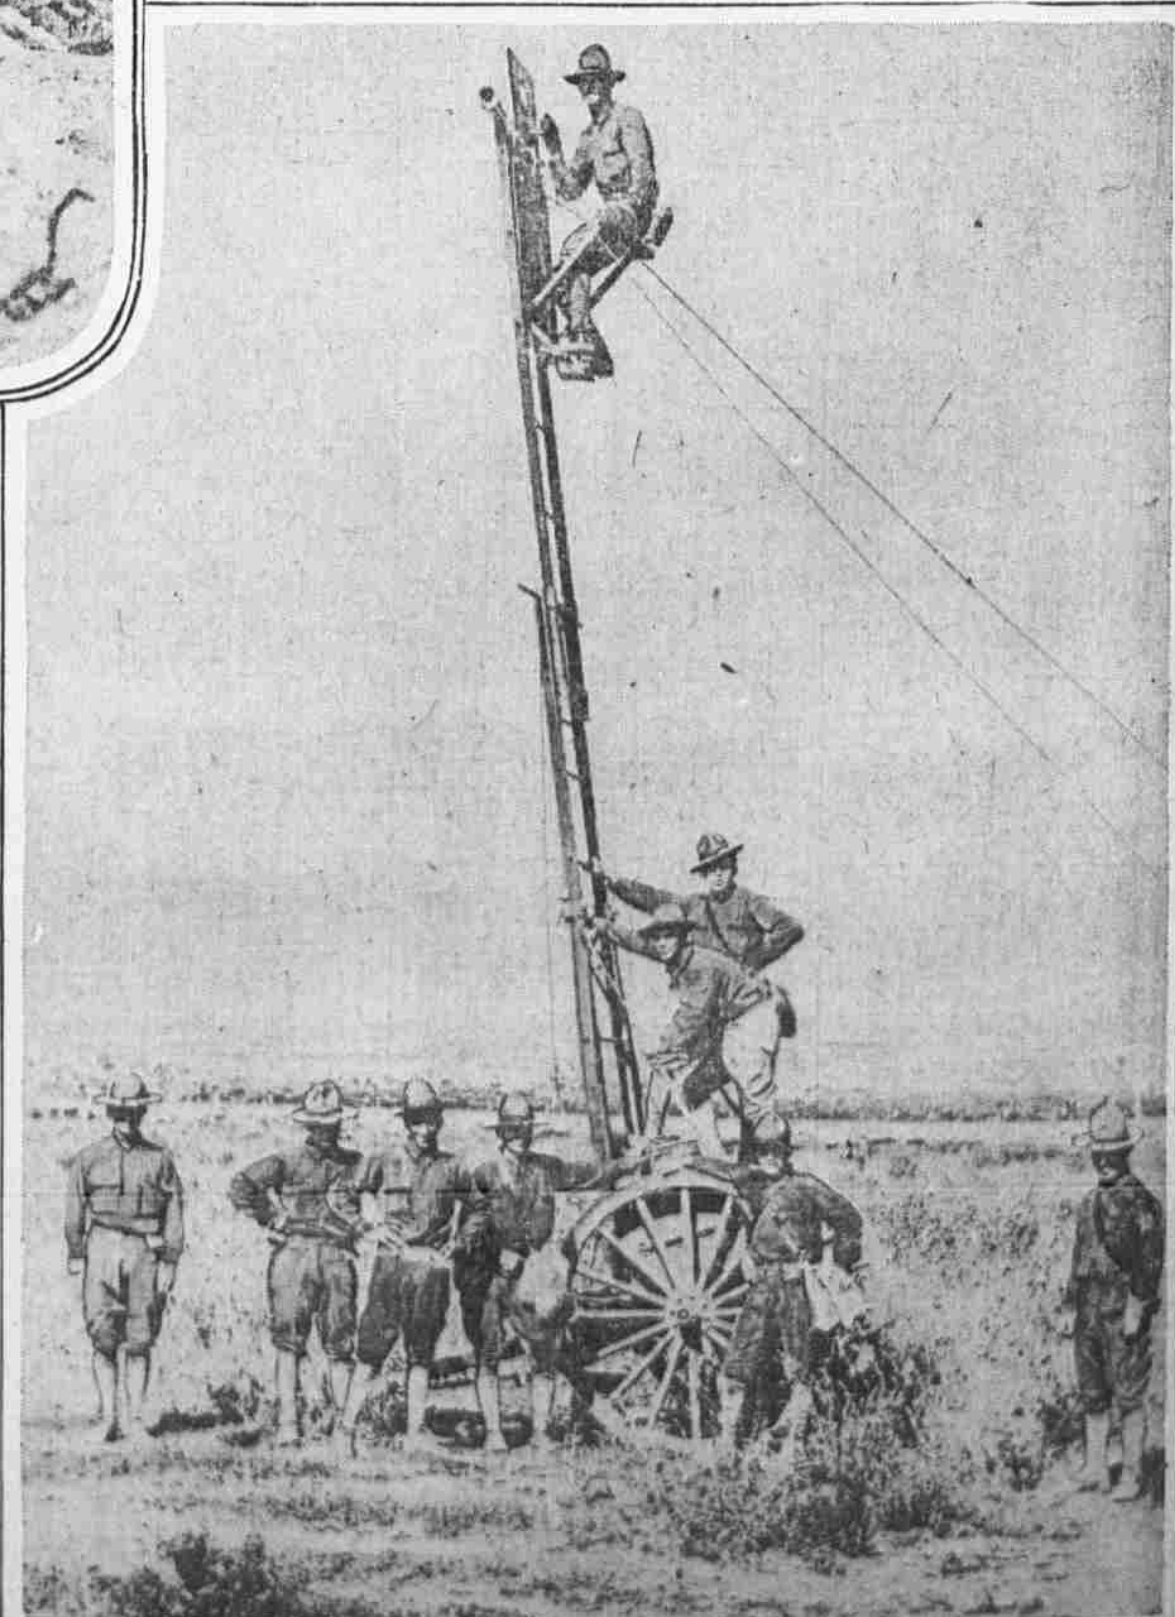

Photo by Underwood & Underwood.

WATCHING THE SOUTHERN BORDER

A movable observation tower from which tab is kept on movements across the Mexican line near Columbus, N. M.