

ILLUSTRATED

Evening Ledger

THURSDAY
March 23, 1916

TIMELY SIDELIGHTS ON THE DAY'S OUTPUT OF NEWS FROM A THOUSAND SOURCES

By Ledger Photo Patrol

ONE OF THE SQUADS OF WORKMEN RECRUITED IN THIS CITY DAILY FOR MUNITIONS PLANTS

This group, hired at an employment agency on 7th street, was photographed just as it was about to start for Bethlehem, Pa. Pole, Greek, Italian, Austrian and German alike, they are all going to make shells for the Allies.

Photo by Medem

STRIPES FOR FRENCH WOUNDED MEN
The two stripes on the lower part of the arm show that the wearer has been twice wounded. The upper stripes show that he has enlisted three times.

Photo by Medem

NO ENMITY BETWEEN CAPTORS AND CAPTURED IN A RUSSIAN PRISON CAMP

There is a lesson in this picture for those who hold that the antipathies between nationalities are ineradicable. Here Russian soldiers are engaged in a jovial tug of war with their Austrian prisoners, while their brethren are killing each other somewhere else.

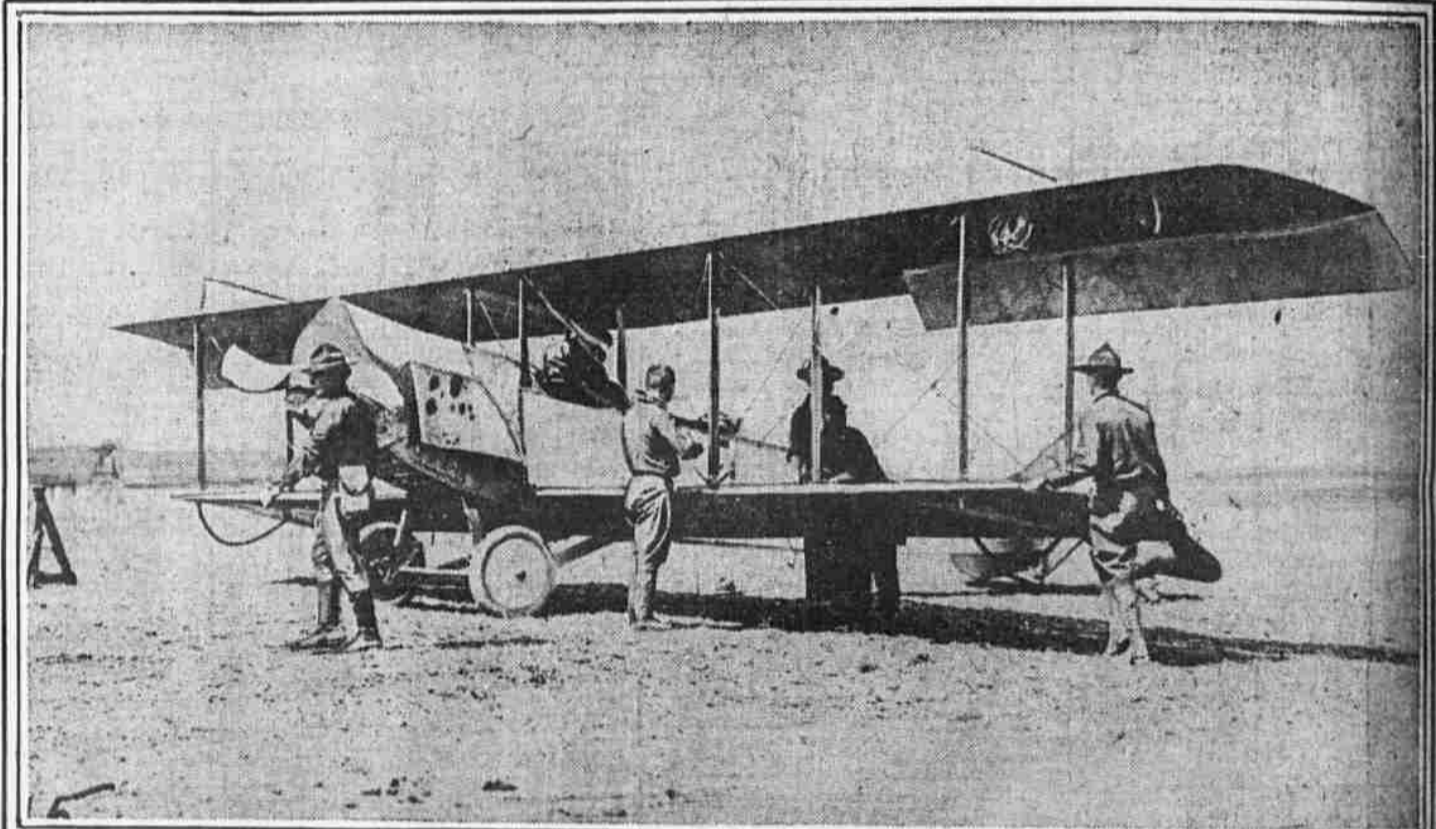

Photo by Underwood & Underwood

FLYING SCOUTS RUSH SOUTHWARD TO SPOT VILLA FROM THE AIR

Captain Benjamin D. Foulois, the first figure at the left, is commander of the aero squadron accompanying the punitive expedition into Mexico. Already one aviator is missing and another has had a bad fall.

Young girl's gown of tulle and lace, with garniture of French flowers.

Bridesmaid's gown of white tulle, with lace pantalettes and staff of white enamel.

Evening gown of pussy willow taffeta, over lace and striped dress skirt.

LIVING MODELS EXHIBIT TO AUDIENCE IN BELLEVUE-STRATFORD SARTORIAL MODES OF THE SEASON AT WALNUT STREET BUSINESS ASSOCIATION'S FASHION SHOW