EVENING LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, 'APRIL 14, 1916.

GIANTS ALWAYS WILL BE IN RUNNING FOR PENNANT WITH MUGGSY M'GRAW AS ADVISER

DID YOU BADER

WITH McGRAW'S MASTER HAND AT HELM, NEW YORK GIANTS CAN NEVER BE OUTCLASSED

14 *

Little Napoleon Still Baseball's Greatest Tactician-Has Gavvy Cravath Lost the Confident Style That Terrified All Pitchers

THE word is being passed around among the wise persons that the Glants do not belong. Although few simon pure experts have ventured to stand right up in meetin' and inform the trusting public that the men of McGraw do not look like pennant contenders, a murmur of inside stuff has been peddled to that effect. This whisper may grow to a roar, or it may die on the breezes of early summer. The Glants may develop or they may remain dormant-but come what may, the im from Broadway can never be called downright bad so long as John J. McGraw remains at the helm.

For John J. will still be the Little Napoleon of baseball when he retires. McGraw is the sort of a man who cannot tolerate failure, and when he concludes that his star is coming to an eclipse he will forsake the baseball firmament and spend his remaining years "somewhere" in the shadow of obscurity. But that day has not yet come. McGraw's is still the master hand. No one who has made a study of the two games played between the Giants and Phillies can question this.

The Giants do not look particularly strong. As a matter of fact they looked rather bad in the opening game. Yesterday their defense was vastly improvedbut their attack did not strike the true McGraw swing until the ninth inning. Loyal Philadelphia fans will not find much pleasure in recalling the events of that fatal ninth, but for the student of baseball it is significant.

McGraw's Master Hand Evident

Newspaper headlines tell us that Stock's error on Fletcher's hit brought victory to the Giants yesterday. The hit and the error were contributing factors, but add it all up and you will find that McGraw's generalship won the game for the New Yorkers. The players are simply pawns in J. J's offensive campaign.

Yesterday Mayer and Tesreau locked horns in a thrilling pitching duel for eight innings. For eight frames the visitors tried to break through the young sidearm hurler's defense without result. They tried waiting him out, only to find that his control was masterly-they tried slugging the ball, and only succeeded in lifting pop flies or skipping grounders into the mitts of his supporting cast For eight innings the Giant attack not only appeared weak, but it seemed listless

Suddenly, in the ninth, they were the old aggressive Giants. Their best hitten were up. This was the psychological moment. Doyle fell on the first ball to come over for a single. The reliable Fletcher picked out the second pitch and laid it down for a sacrifice. The Phillies were caught off their balance, and in his hurry Stock fumbled the ball. For a brief second the Phillies bumped the ceiling, and as Stock threw to Luderus too late to get Fletcher, McGraw saw that third was left unoccupied and brought Doyle on that pad. There was no chance to get the Giant captain, but Luderus took a chance and threw the ball for the bag. As there was no one there to get it, the pellet rolled to the grandstand and Doyle kept on to the plate. Fletcher made second on the play, and instead of allowing Kauff to hit, Mc-Graw signaled him to lay down a sacrifice, which put Fletcher on third.

The Phillies were upset and McGraw knew it. Had Mayer been given a chance to work on Merkle, the champions might have settled down; but this was no part of John J.'s plan. Merkle went to the plate with orders to hit and hit quick. He did so, with the result that a single was sent hurling through Niehoff's legs, a hit that would ordinarily have been fielded. Fletcher scored, and the damage was done.

It is this sort of baseball that has made McGraw famous. A quick lightninglike drive, get the other fellows on the run, and when they are running, make the supreme effort and put the bacon on ice. The Giants' half of the ninth inning yesterday was typical McGraw baseball; and no team that plays it will ever be outclassed.

Cravath Not Yet in Step

During the time that the Phils were in the South the heart of the local fan was gladdened from day to day by glowing reports of the condition of Cravath's batting eye. Pleasant as it may be to contemplate Gavvy at his best, it must be admitted that the noted slugger has done little thus far to reassure the cynical ones

It is not that Cravath has failed to propel the Spalding over the ramparts; nor yet that he has thus far failed to mangle the occupants of the left-field bleachers. It is that Gavvy is not showing his form at bat. The careless confidence of complete efficiency is not evident. The great pill punisher has always locked the part; to an opposing pitcher he has ever been the personification of batting power. When Cravath stood at the plate ominously swinging his bat low with one hand, spectators and players alike feit that something was going to happen-and something mighty unpleasant for the allens.

at the plate -he does not seem sure of himself. The swish of his bat is not as sharp as it was, and he does not seem to time the ball as well as he did a year ago.

It is his style that Cravath seems to have lost. He does not seem confident the plate —he does not seem sure of himself. The swish of his bat is not as rp as it was, and he does not seem to time the ball as well as he did a year ago. Probably within a month Cravath will get back in his stride. He is not a ingster, and it takes him an unusually long time to get in shape. Cactus has way been a late starter, and this year seems to be no exception. A string the starter and this year seems to be no exception. A string the starter and this year seems to be no exception. A string the starter and this year seems to be no exception. Bay, such a star operates in the capacity of a psychological unlift. He lends en-couragement, by his acts, to the rest of the starts rallies and helps to carry them along. If the Red Sox can still win a pennant without Speaker you can underwrite them as wonders. Bay, such a star operates in the capacity of a psychological unlift. He lends en-couragement, by his acts, to the rest of the starter value o youngster, and it takes him an unusually long time to get in shape. Cactus has always been a late starter, and this year seems to be no exception.

MAN'S WAY AND WOMAN'S WAY

NOW FOR LAND SAKE

0

GOWN

A SUTT HAVE A

Philadelphia Bowler Two Pins Shy of

First Place in A. C. B. Tourney WASHINGTON, D. C., April 14.-J. B. McClure, Washington, rolled 267 and took the load last night in the duckpin singles competition of the Atlantic Coast Bowling tournament. In the duckpin doubles, H. D. Halley and H. F. Krunzs, Washing-ton, rolled 641, displacing Jones and Dono-hue for fifth place in that class, Leaders in the tennin events are:

bue for fifth place in that class, Leaders in the tenpin events are: Doubles, Von Lossberg and Sweiger, Bal-timore, 1185; Dantz and Schwarbi, Buffa-lo, 1137; Lambert and Kline, Philadel-phia, 1135; Hartley and Barri, Phila-delphia, 1118; Burdine and Eckstein, Washington, 1111. Singles, Eckstein, Washington, 567; Barri, Philadelphia, 565; Solomon, Phila-delphia, 563; Krichton, Baltimore, 556; MacFarland, Richmond, and Lambert, Philadelphia, 565 each.

Philadelphia, 553 each.

Navy Lacrosse Team Defeats Penn ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 14.—The Navy la-rosae twelve won from the University of ennsylvania yesterday atternoon by 6 to 2.

A Sensible Cigarette

CLEVELAND'S "GREATS" WERE VALUELESS WITHOUT PILOT

Speaker. However, Should Give Club Psychic Herbert Augustine Chosen Pres-Uplift, Says Grant Rice—Superb Playing Was Often Wasted, However

Come on, ye slave merchants and ye

FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE

MORNING

CLOTHES

RIGHT

SELF A

For 1

hold-

Where for playing a game I love two hours each afternoon For six months in the year or thereabouts You are to pay me $15,000 or more and also May slip me a tidy bonus on the side;

am weary of the freedom I now It pains, it wracks, it sore distresses me; yearn for serfdom and the kale thereof-on and lead me to the bally auction block-t A great ball player on a club, such as Cobb, Speaker or Collins, is a moral force as well as physical one. Which is to say, such a star operates in the capacity of a psychological uplift. He lends en-couragement, by his or the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the star operates are operates and the star operates in the capacity of the star operates in the capacity operates the star operates in the capacity operates the star operate o allowed 2.91 carned tallies to the con For the last three seasons he has been at his best. In 1913 he yielded only 1.09 earned runs to the game; in 1914 he al-lowed 1.71; in 1915 he lowered this to 1.55. If this be slipping, then provide us with a slipping.

team. The Greater Part of Nerve Dear Sir-Do you know, in my opinion,

With an aggregation of the speedlest players obtainable-former stars of the various local high school teams, others recruited from fast semipro ranks-the newly organized Ledger A. A. plays its initial contest April 29. Manager Holt's mitial contest April 29. Manager Holt's rejuvenated Welcome A. A. will be the other 50 per cent, of the attraction and the contest will open the new Welcome Field, 33d street and Gray's Ferry road. On May 6 Ledger tackles another strong aggregation-Corley Catholic Club. Man ager William Jackson, of the latter team, has signed the best players of last year's team, which went through the season with but two defeats, and has added several semipro stars to his 1916 roster, Following its clashes with these clubs,

Ledger A. A. is planning to campaign through New Jersey and Pennsylvania in Sunday games, and local games on Saturdays throughout the season. Byrne, clever southpaw; Ed Flynn and Jack Spealman, right-handers, will do the twirl-ing, while Augustine and Miller will handle the shoots behind the rubber

0

0

 \odot

 \odot

0

oferorerorero

0:0:0:0:0

18.2

Armalite Shoe Sto

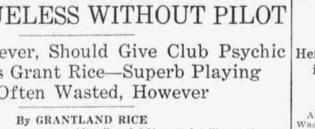

Hodel

No.

352

NEXT EVENING

Come On-Hurry

"They sold me like a slave."-Tris Speaker, money-changers; Come on, ye magnates of the block and such like;

Come on and bind me with your chains and hampen rope And lead me out into a vile captivity, what the greater part of Nerve in sport is? It is skill plus natural ability. I have found, with only a few exceptions, the nerviest players to be composed of those who have developed a natural abil-Ity into skill. When they have this com-bination they have all the nerve any one needs. I have rarely seen the case where an incompetent starter also had a lot of nerve under the strain. BYSTANDER.

ident-Shaner Made Baseball Manager At a meeting held yesterday in the Washington Building, 608 Chestnut street, by employes of the Ledger Company, an athletic organization, to be known as the Ledger A. A., was formed and officers elected, as follows: President, Herbert Au-gustine: vice president, Edward Flynn; secretary-treasurer, Walter Haffey, Harry haner was chosen to manage the basebal cam. The organization will take up al sports, but at present will centre its ef-forts on the diamond pastime.

FORM ASSOCIATION

Witt's Confidence Is His Greatest Asset

Pennant Fate "Dutchy" Witt, the young shortfielder whom Connie Mack will probably put in the line-up in the near future, has not had enough experience to cause him to lose any of the confidence that he developed as a minor leaguer.

It often happens that when a good minor player is tried out in the majors, he feels himself inferior to his opponents, and, therefore, lays himself liable to having the "Indian sign" put on him by the pitchers. But Witt does not suffer from this malady. Although a left-handed hitter, Witt says that he had just as soon face a southpaw pitcher, even one with a cross-fire, as a right-hander. "I was always taught to bit 'em no matter who was throwin' 'em." That is the motto Witt has adopted for himself, and thus far he has proved that he really doesn't care what the hurler sends up to him or who the hurler is.

Several Clubs Helped by Sale of Speaker

As we view the situation, the sale of Speaker benefits the White Sox, Tigers, Yankees and Browns more than it does any one else. True, the Red Sox are benefited $50,000 in cash and two players, but their chances for pennant honors are much slimmer without Speaker.

The difference between a pennant-winner and a runner-up is from $75,000 to $150,000. Of course, the Sox may win without Speaker, but it's doubtful. His great batting and fielding usually won-unaided-at least 10 games per season. Remove 10 victories from the 1915 total of the Red Sox, apply them to the losing side-and the team would have finished third in the 1915 race.

The Red Sox won the 1915 American League championship by a margin of two and one-half games. Without Speaker they never would have won. Minus the services of Speaker this year, the outlook for the Red Sox is in nowise bright.

The weakening of the Red Sox by the loss of Speaker enhances the chances of the four other teams that were conceded a chance for the honors. It brings the Sox nearer to-or perhaps below-the level of the Yanks, Browns, White Hox and Tigers.

In the "bookle" wagering before the Speaker sale, the Red Sox were 8 to 5 favorites. Speaker's absence has shifted the figures to 4 to 1-and there isn't much Red Sox money being offered.

Speaker, in 1908, Was Left Behind as Rental

The sale of Tris Speaker to Cleveland "for more money than was ever paid for a player, not excepting Eddie Collins," recalls the story of Speaker being left at Little Rock in 1908 as rental for the ball park there. The Boston club trained at Little Rock that season, agreeing to turn back a player to Mike Finn's club in payment for the use of the grounds. When the Red Sox left Little Rock

Speaker was left behind. That season Tris developed into a remarkable player and several clubs, in-cluding the Giants, made offers for him. Manager Finn might have sold him without violating any agreements, but he felt that Boston was entitled to first claim, so he sent the player back to the Red Sox for the sum of $500. Eight years later Tris, once a ground-rent player, is sold for the "record figure of baseball sales."

Ouimet Does Not Fear Professional "Call"

Francis Ouimet, the famous young Boston golfer, is highly praised in some quarters because he has opened a sporting goods store in the Bean City. The praise came apparently because the writers saw in Ouimet a fearless young man who was not afraid to endanger his amateur standing.

Indeed, there is no reason why Ouimet should fear anything of this nature, as the United States Golf Association recently defined an amateur, stating that only players getting compensation for their actual playing services would be declared professionals. Even golf-course architects may ply their trade without fear of their status being questioned.

The golf association did the right thing in defining an amateur as it did, but there is no reason why Ouimet should be a hero for doing something not tabaoed by golfers, although it is by a number of other branches of sport.

The deal that sent Tris Speaker to Cleveland recalls the fact that while the Forest City has never won a flag, it has Is the caddle's echo-"OUTER BOUNDS !" had more than its share of stars. The list includes such men as Lajoie, Bradley, Flick, Bay, Turner, Clarke, Joss, Bern-hardt, Chapman, Jackson, Hickman, Gregg and others, all in the last ten years. Cleveland has had some of the finest pitching, the hardest hitting and the most brilliant fielding we have ever seen, but there has always been some ingredient needed to mold a pennant cast. This missing ingredient, we should say, has been constructive leadership. It is a bigger part of winning baseball than most will ever know.

A Busy Fall

The announcement that Percy Haughton will again be in charge of Harvard's football machine indicates a fairly brisk autumn for this enterprising citizen. If the Braves should happen to get into a world series this briskness will be increased, but even this will not inter-fers to any great extent with Harvard's interest in the Pirates when he was here Wednesday, but declared nothing was said about buying out the latter's interest in the Pirates.

football progress. In Leo Leary, Haugh-ton has the greatest aide in the game-one who can well look after the task of starting the Crimson squad under proper headway. So even if the Braves become involved in another world series Haugh-ton will be able to go to Leary's help by the middle of October.

The Span of Walter Johnson

Walter Johnson is now upon the edge of his 10th year in the Major Frolic. And with his build and the easy pitch-ing motion he has the Weiser Wizard should be good for 10 years more. He is now only 28 years old, and no pitcher in the business works with greater case. He has a pitching motion without are. He has a pitching motion without kink—as smooth and as simple as a leve of machinery. They will tell you that here and there ease.

You can label

ANDY BURNS vs. KD TEXAS TOMMY O'KEEPE vs. BUCK FLEMING YOUNG M-GOVERN vs. JOE TUBER PRANKIE BURNS vs. GUSSIE LEWIS Joe Borrell vs. Eddie Revoire Adm. 25c. Bal. Res. 50c. Arona Res. 75c. $1.

LINCOLN A. C. 49th and Woodland av. Geo. Decker, Mgr. TONICHT HIGHTING BOB vs. LEO VINCENT You Billy Moras championship at Forest Hills this late summer. Watch him."

Quaker City A. A. Saith & Dauphin TOMORROW NIGHT-Side SHARP JOHNNY KELLY vs. YOUNG DIGGINS Adminaton, 250. Reserved seate, 500.

GAFFNEY NOT AFTER PIRATES:

Former Boston Owner Denies Trying

to Purchase Pittsburgh Club

NEW YORK, April 14.-James E. Gaffney, the New York contractor, who owned the Boston Braves when they won the world's series in 1914, has denied that he was negotiating to purchase the Pittsburgh Club from Barney Dreyfuss. Gaffney admitted that he had talked with

Gaffney said that he was still deeply interested in baseball and would like to get back into the game, but that the only cities in which he would invest in a club cities in which he would invest in a club were New York and Boston. It is understood, however, that Drey-fuses is anxious to sell the controlling interest in the Pittsburgh Club. With the retirement of Fred Clarke as manager. Dreyfuss' interest in the game has di-minished. In another season or two his other old stand-by. Hans Wagner, will realize so the sentiment which has keep retire, so the sentiment which has kep the Pirate owner in the game is fast

State League to Meet Today

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 14.-The Penn-sylvania State League will hold its schedule meeting here this afternoon.

disappearing.

DREYFUSS ANXIOUS TO SELL

Special Trains: Penna. R. R., leave Broad St., 12:34 p. m., West Phila., 12:38 p. m.--B. & O., leave 24th & Chestnut Sta., The saddest phrase on the golfing grounds 12:45 p. m.

Golfing courses are now opening up again. On with the grand old slogan-"Here, boy, bring me the niblick !" Admission. Grandstand and Paddock, $1.50. Ladies, $1.00

FIRST RACE AT 2:30 P. M.

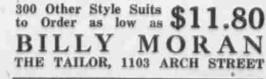

Including a Steeplechase

ANOTHER STAR CARD National A. C. National A. C. Frankle Conffrey vs. Stanley Hinchle AH SHUNG vs. DAREY CASPER SHAMUS O'BRIEN vs. EDDIE WAGOND FRANKLE FLEMING vs. LED VINCENT HAREY DONOHUE vs. JOHNNY NELSON

There are no German Dyes in this country to-day, but because I purchased 8060 yards of German Dye Riue Serges in plain and fancy weaves and stripes last August. I have over twenty styles of genuine German Dye Serges in stock! I am the only tailor or clothisr in Philadelphia who has them, and I will give you perfect fitting clothes in the latest Fifth avenue (New York) styles made of these materials.

the most beautiful styles at $2.50 that the NEWARK Shoe Maker ever produced. These perfectly benched creations have a wealth of style never yet seen anywhere in America in shoes at $2,50. They have a wealth of value never surpassed by ANY $3.50 shoe: and they have a wealth of confort that many of the highest priced shoes cannot boast of. Pick out your pair for Easter tomorrow.

Newark Shoe Stores Co.

HILA. STORES 1224 Market St., between 12th and 13th Sta. 2448 Kensingtan Are, bet. York & Cumberland Sta. 2731 Germantown Ave., bet. Lonight Ave. and Somerst Sl., 2423 South St., noar 4th, 2238 Korth St., noar 4th, 2239 South St., noar 4th, 2239 South St., noar 4th, 2230 K. Front St., bear Daughth St. Daughth St.

Open evenings to accommodate our customers. When ordering by mail include 10c parcel post charges.

Ask For No. 354-Superb Tan Oxford, in ince or button blucher: scientifically shaped ankle, insuring close fit, without bulge. Just the model for the man who wants a medium, neat toe,

Ask For No. 352-Here's the new mahogany shade in button or blucher. A remarkably beautiful model.

EVENING LEDGER MOVIES-BEAT IT, LUTHER, OR FLL CRACK YOUR CRANIAL CROWN WITH MY BALLY BRASSIE

OPEN EVENINGS

runs a game each season. In 1912, sup-posed by many to be his greatest year, Olympia A. A. Bread & Balabridge. MONDAY NIGHT-8:30 SHARP