The E-22 was one of the newest of British submarines, designed and ilt since the beginning of the war. Available naval registers give no statistics regarding her, but it is probable that she carried a crew of between 20 and 30 men.

It was pointed out today that the demands made by this Government of Germany applied to the treatment of "unarmed" vessels. According to officials of the State De-partment, if it is proved that Great Britain has given orders to her merchantmen to attack submarines without reference to the practice of visit and search, the United States will concede that German submarines may legally attack such merchant-men at sight.

The United States, however, insists that Germany shall not assume the warlike character of a merchantman, but must act only on "conclusive evidence." In a case of doubt, she must proceed on the assumption that "an armed merchantman s of peaceful character."

If that Government formed Germany. If that Government does not believe that it can accept the American viewpoint without quibbling there is nothing left, the President said, but to complete the program and break off diplomatic negotiations. Ambassador Gerard has made this very plain to the Berlin officials. There are no delusions there as to this country's in-tentions, the Ambassador has informed the President. He also has made it plain that the influence of the big German financial group is being thrown on the side of accepting the American viewpoint. Public opinion, the Ambassador has reported, unalterably is opposed to concessions, but the men who shape the financial affairs of empire have told the Emperor and the Imperial Chancellor that a break with the United States at the present time would be the gravest mistake of the war.

It was learned positively today that Gerard was able to get little out of his first conference with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg. His communication to this Government, received late yesterday left the President with no clearer idea of the German situation, it was said.

IL "MERITATO CASTIGO"

ROMA, 27 Aprile. Nessum comunicato ufficiale e' sta pubblicato teri sera circa la situazione alla fronte italo-austriaca.

In questi circoli politici e militari discute vivacemente sulla notzia data dal Giornale d'Italia di una grande offensiva austriaca che si starebbe preparando attivamente contro le linee italiane. L'auto-revola giornale romano diceva di avere avuto informazioni secondo cui tutte le ferrovie austriache che portano al confine italiano, e specialmente quelle che vanno da Graz ad Agram e da Lubiana a Tarvis, sono usate esclusivamente per il trasporto di truppe e di materiale di guorra.

Tutte le truppe che l'Austria ha a sua disposizione e che non sono impegnate in Galizia od altrove sono inviate in fretta verso il confins italiano. Esse sono state passate in rivista dall'arciduca ereditario Carlo Francesco, il quale e' stato nominato comandate in capo delle forze austriache operanti al confine italiano. Nei suoi discorsi alle truppe l'arciduca, a quanto affer-mano le informazioni provenienti da Gratz, le avrebbe assicurate circa la vittoriosa offensiva che si sta per intraprendere con tro l'Italia, offensiva che sara' il prejudi della pace. Il Giornale d'Italia dice anche che il governo austriaco ha emanato un pro-ciama alle truppe redatto nell'istesso senso, nel quale dice che sta per suonare 'ora del "ben meritato castigo" per l'Italia e fa prevedere una fine vittoriosa della guerra italo-austriaca. Il comunicato ufficiale austriaco pub-blicato ieri sera a Vienna e trasmesso qui da Zurizo, dice che le truppe austriache hanno ricccupato un punto di appoggio sulle pendici del Col di Lana e lo hanno nantenuto nonostante i contrattacchi degli italiani, mentre la sommita' del Colle e sotto un violento fuoco delle artiglierie austriache. Il comunicato dice pure che gli italiani hanno operato un attacco nella zona di Doberdo', ma non dice con quale risultato.

La notizia della rivolta irlandese ha prodotto qui profonda impressione. Gen eralmente si hanno parole di riprova zione per gli irlandesi che si sono prestati al gloco tedesco rivoltandosi contro l'Inghilterra proprio quando questa e' nella migliore condizione per domare la rivolta. Si dice che il papa e' fortemente contro coloro che iniziarono i disordini ed ha chiesto notizie al cardinale Logue, primate d'Irlanda, al quale ha domandato anche di far noto al clero irlandese che il papa si aspetta dai sacerdoti d'Irlanda essi diano un lodevole esemplo di lealta' alle autorita' costituite. Il papa ha dichiarato anche ad un prelato irlandese, che e' amico sir Roger Casement, che egli non puo' in alcun modo intervenire nel caso che Casement ala condannato a morte.

Telegrammi da Parigi dicono che i tedeschi attaccorano con poche forze le linee francesi a nord di Verdun, dopo un intenso bombardamento, ma gli attaccanti furono tenuti indietro da una fitta cortina di fuoco che le artiglierie francesi immediatamente distese rotra le loro trincee e le truppe tedesche. Si dice a Parigi che per il 6 maggio, natalizio dei principe creditario di Germania il kaiser vorrebbe o prendere Ver-dun o conquistare posizioni dominanti che assicurino la caduta della fortezza. Altri, invece, che hanno seguito l'ondeg-giare dell'offensiva tedesca che in questi giorni ha mostrato di volersi estendere, ritengono che il kaiser intende di abbanionare l'offensiva contro Verdun

Notizie da Londra dicono che la rivolta di Dublino puo' considerarsi come domata. Nella baia di Dublino sono apparse mata. Nella balla di Dublino sono apparse navi da guerra inglesi e la capitale irland-ese e' circondata da truppe. Il governa-tore generale ha proclamato inoltre lo stato d'assedio ed ha sospeso il diritti civili, cloe' il diritto di processo davati only 5000 Russian troops were included in the first detachment landed at Mar-

Irish-American organizations and socitles throughout the country have been active since the beginning of the war in various forms of anti-British propaganda. Washington authorities pointed out today that the present colossal campaign of telegrams and letters swamping Congress to prevent a break between the United States and Germany is the work of German-American and Irish-American societies in co-operation. The same or-ganizations have been behind the propa-ganda for an embargo on arms and ammunition.

LITTLE ITALY STARTLED BY AN EXPLOSION

"Cammorista," Shout Excited Residents When Oven Blows Up With a Roar

Margaret Zurillo turned on the gas in a big baking over in her husband's bakery shop, at $44 Christian street, late yesterday afternoon. Her husband called her from the front room, where there were dainty Italian cakes, candles, pastries and such. They talked of "ships—and many things."

Both went back to the rear of the first floor to light the gas, after a lapse of several minutes. The match had hardly flared up when the oven "houmed" and they were thrown to the floor.

"Ha!" shouted the excited citizens and ditizenesses of Little Italy, "Cammorista. And they ran to the shop just a minute too late to see the plate-glass window splinter over the sidewalk and the trays of food depositing their contents over the District Detective Bozarth, of the 2d

PAPERS SCORE OFFICIALS.

Official dispatches today reported the situation now comparatively quiet in the Irish capital. It is possible more fighting may occur while Government troops are rounding up the Sinn Feln rebels, but the arrival of troops from England ap-parently disheartened the rebels, who lacked machine guns. The Government has received assurances of support from scores of Nationalist leaders who deplore the outbreak at Dublin.

The London newspapers today launched t fierce attack upon Chief Secretary for Ireland Birrell and Lord Wimborne, demanding their immediate resignation. The Express, Daily Telegraph, and Post joined with the Northcliffe papers in declaring that Birrell's weakness and irresolution were responsible for the Sinn Fein uprising. The Express demands that Lord Kitchener be sent to Ireland as Lord Lieutenant.

"The Government," said the Express, "must jettison the ministers whose inaction made possible the scene that disgraced Dublin." Houses of suspects are being searched, and a number of newspapers have been suppressed by the Lord Lieutenant.

CASEMENT CASE SERIOUS. The case of Sir Roger Casement, the trying to smuggle arms into Ireland, is closely interwoven with the present insur-ection, and the armed clash in the streets of Dublin may have considerable influence with the Government in relation to Sig toger Casement

As a result of the present high state of feeling the trial of the Irish knight may be put off for some time, or at least until the unrest in southern Ireland has subsided somewhat.

The Express suggests the possibility that Sir Roger may be beheaded under the ancient law, if found guilty, but in other quarters the belief exists that it would be wiser to treat Sir Roger with leniency, as was the case in South Africa wher General De Wet, leader of the Boer rebels captured. Roger's case is different, however as regards the political aspect. It is un-derstood that papers implicating promi-nent Irishmen were found upon his per-

200,000 TROOPS IN IRELAND.

That the Government feared the upris-ing might spread into civil war was shown by the speed with which troops and artil-lery was moved into Ireland from Eng-land. There are said to be at least 200,000 soldiers on duty in all parts of Ireland at the present moment and preparations have been made by the War Office to send more if needed. In official circles belief is expressed that tranquillity will be restored in southern Ireland very soon, although the uprising will leave behind it more bitter hatred than existed before and in its wake will follow a condition of affairs that will make it necessary for England to maintain strong bodies of troops in the Island for any future emergency.
