DINERS BOOST STADIUM

construction of Athletic Amphithen-

tre and Motor Speedway Urged at Banquet

Speakers at a dinner, held last night in the Hotel Bingham to "boomt" the Philadelphia Motor Speedway project, emphasized the need of a stadium in this city to accommodate the Army-Navy game and similar athletic contests. The discussion was prompted by the anouncement that the plans for the automobile track embraced the erection of a stadium at West-

Among the speakers at the dinner were E. J. Cattell, city statistician; George M. Graham, Dr. S. Leon Gans and Will L. Finch. Ralph Bligham was toastmaster. Each speaker predicted the early realization of the speedway project and a note of general optimism marked the occasion.

SINGLE TAXER JAILED TO TEST PLAZA "GAG"

Police Arrest Man Attacking Loan Bills, as Per Arrangement-Hearing Saturday

Two sentences of protest against the loan bills were all that policemen on the City Hall plaza could stand from Thomas J. Connelly, campaign orator of the Single Tax party in Pennsylvania. Be-fore he was well into his third sentence they placed him under arrest on a charge they placed him under arrest on a charge of breach of the peace. The meeting had been arranged to test the police order against meetings on the plaza. Connelly was locked up fully half an hour. Then he was released on a "copy of the charge." In the night court Magistrate Beaten held him in $300 ball for a further hearing Saturday morning. Maurice Fels, brother of the late Joseph Fels, a Single Taxer, furnished the bond.

The Single Taxers, to the number of several score, walked from their headquarters, at 1403 Filbert street, to the plaza. Before their arrival an automobile, bearing placards announcing the meeting.

SEXTONS TO AID IN CLEAN-UP WEEK BY CLEANSING CHURCHES OF CITY

Episcopal Ass'n Plans Vigorous Work on Co-operative Basis in All Their Charges

Luncheon to Be Given Bishops and Clergy at Annual Meeting - Election of Officers

Clean-up Week is going to have the aid of the churches this year, physically as well as morally.

Both Director Datesman and Director Krusen today received letters from the Episcopal Sextons' Association, telling them that 50 sextons were going to do all they could to render that many churches dat as clean and spick and span and healthy as any forces could, and without asking any aid of the city in doing it. The plans to be followed are not quite omplete, but they will be a little later to-ay, when the sextons hold their annual

The religious services and the business The religious services and the business meeting which follows will be held in St. Paul's Church, Overbrook, of which the Rev. W. R. Turner is rector. Bishop Rhinelander will be the celebrant at the Communion. Then a two hours' business meeting will be held, and after that the sextons will entertain the bishops of the diocese and the clergy whose churches they represent at luncheon.

completed for the work to be done during Clean-up Week.
"Do the churches need cleaning?" James Taylor was asked today at his home, 1729 Arch street. Mr. Taylor is the present treasurer of the sextons' organization. He was its first president 12 years ago, at that time being verger of the Church of the Incarnation. Later he went to the Central North Broad Church, and now is not connected with any church, having suffered a paralytic stroke some time ago.

"Do they need it" he echoed, "I should say they do. And what's more, they're going to get it. We wanted to assist the city this way last year, but did not get around to it in time. This year we'll help each other. The churches not so well equipped will be aided by those that are. If a church hasn't the necessary electri-cal apparatus we'll haul a portable set of machinery around. We're going to use the

Mr. Taylor said that some churches were kept pretty clean, others not at all. He blamed the usual human causes, incompetency, laziness, lack of help and all the other faults that are to be found in all systems. For one thing he blamed the churches, in some instances, in not hiring churches, in some instances, in not hiring enough help and expecting too much from the people they do hire.

"Why not long ago," he said, "I saw an advertisement for a sexton. It recited all the things he must be, and when it came down to considering them all it seemed as if the requirements for this particular sexton were more severe than they are for the rector. And the last line gave the salary—$6 a week. Think of it!"

SALARIES OF SEXTONS. Mr. Taylor said the salaries of sextons run up as high as $65 a month, but the average was no higher than $35. "The ability you can hire for that sum," he said, "ought not to be expected to deliver

The reason for the Clean-up Week extra effort, Mr. Taylor said, was to set an ex-ample that the sextons meant to observe, as nearly as they could, all the year

PLAN TO STRIKE 1000 FROM ELECTION ROLLS

Commission Refuses to Eliminate 200 of 287 Names Assailed by Police

Petitions to strike 1000 names from the registration lists were filed before the Registration Commissioners this after-noon by the Committee of Seventy. Many of these petitions named voters in wards which were not canvassed by the police.

The Commissioners decided that 200 of the 287 names which the police sought to have stricken from the list in the 7th Ward, should remain on the list. The con-test of the remaining 87 between the Pen-rose-McNichol Vare-Smith followers will be fought out tomorrow.

It was shown in many cases in which complaint was made that the voter moved from one house to another in the same di-There were also indications of careless work by the police.

In the case of John Hall, of 704 Rodman street, 1st division, 7th ward, the people in the house said they had never heard of Hall. Subsequently it was learned that he had been registered as "Sandy" Hall. Among other names registered in the 7th Ward were John Monoghan and Isadore Stern, taken evidently from those of the Public Service Com-missioner and counsel for the Pentose-McNichol faction. Both names were stricken from the lists.
