ATHLETICS TO MAKE HARD TRY FOR FIRST DIVISION BERTH, BELIEVES CLARKE GRIFFITH

BRILLIANT VICTORY OVER JOHNSON CONVINCES GRIFFITH MACKMEN ARE POWERFUL

Washington Leader Admits Athletics Are Going to Make Great Bid for First Division Berth-Witt and Myers Star

WHEN Manager Clark Griffith, of Washington, brought his team to this city last Thursday he felt absolutely certain that he at last had a team which was going to take the lead in the American League race, and would be able to keep it. He also figured the Athletics a tail-end team, which was in the league to fatten the percentage of seven others. When Mr. Griffith left Philadelphia last night ne had changed his opinion.

Just prior to taking the train Griffith declared that the American League teams anticipating easy victories every time they face the Athletics are going to be sadly fooled, and as much as he dislikes the Mackmen (it being an old failing of "Griff" to roast the Athletics), he predicts that the team is going to make a great fight for a position in the first division.

Griffith picked Walter Johnson to repeat against the Mackmen, believing that he could cinch the final game and take the series. He received the surprise of his life when Johnson received the hardest drubbing he has received in several seasons. The old Mack machine batted Johnson hard at times, and often staged sational late railles on the peerless hurler, but they never mauled him as badly as Mack's reconstructed machine did yesterday.

The Mackmen made 13 hits and 4 runs before Manager Griffith pulled Johnson from the mound, and if it had not been for sensational plays the total probably would have reached 17 if the famous hurler had been permitted to remain on the mound. Johnson apparently had almost as much as he did in the first game of the series, but he faced a team with greater confidence than it had

Mackmen New Have Needed Confidence

EVERY game won by the Mackmen has increased the confidence and caused a noticeable improvement in the general work, particularly in fielding, but the moral effect of the triumph over Johnson yesterday will be greater than if four or five games were marked on the right side of the ledger against ordinary pitchers. The Mackmen have beaten the best hurler in the league, and the batting slump apparently is over.

With the Western teams here for the next two weeks, the Mackmen will need all the batting strength they can muster together, as Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland have been scoring a great number of runs and have been hitting the ball hard. The pitching in the West has been erratic, and this may be the cause of the great averages and large score games played on the far end of Ban John-

The Athletics have nothing to fear from the West, if the young hurlers continue to show consistent form. New York and Boston are rated as strong hitting teams, but they were unable to average better than three runs per game off Mack's pitchers in 13 games, with two large score defeats included. Joe Bush, Elmer Myers, "Mi" Crowell, Jack Nabors and Tom Sheehan have proven themselves capable of carrying the pitching burden, and the failure of Wyckoff and Bressler to round into form has not been noticed. These veterans will have a fight on their hands to earn regular turns on the mound when they strike their stride, as the youngsters are improving so rapidly.

Witt and Myers Star in Downfall of Johnson

WHILE virtually all of the Mackmen aided in the downfall of Washington's mighty hurler, two recruits, Lawton Witt and Elmer Myers, were the most IN POOR SHAPE, TOO! prominent factors, though the veteran Lajole and Amos Strunk also did yeoman work. Myers held the Senators in check throughout the game, and if "Shag" Thompson had been accustomed to playing left field Griffith's men would have been shut out. "Shag" is rather timid about going after drives close to the bleacher wall and allowed Barber's high fly to get away from him. It bounded into the bleachers for a home run, Rondeau scoring ahead of him.

Thereafter, Washington never had a chance against the great speed and sharp breaking curve ball of the up-State lad. Only four hits were made by the Senators and two of these were scratches, while Myers grew stronger as the game progressed. The most pleasing feature of Myers' work was the control he showed in using his side-arm curve ball. Myers has a wonderful side-arm ball, which he mixes well with the over-hand curve that has excited so much comment, but until the late innings of yesterday's game had not been able to control it. This no doubt was due to lack of confidence. After beating Johnson, Myers should have plenty of it.

The sensational work of Witt is the talk of the town today. The schoolboy wonder looked better than in any previous game and showed signs of developing into the player we predicted he would be. There has not been a better all round exhibition of short-stopping given in this city in many a day. Davy Bancroft has ord of 1776 points was smashed by Russhown flashier games in the field, but seldom does a shortstop shine in all departs. I guess that

Witt Hit Everything Johnson Pitched

HE SLAMMED everything Johnson shot up to the plate and finished the day with a perfect average, getting two doubles, a single and a long sacrifice fly. Prior to hitting the sacrifice fly, Witt laced two long drives to the fence which were foul by inches. If either had dropped in fair territory he would easily have his lung-testers, boiled down his machines made a triple, which would have given him the greatest single day performance a little tighter to the floor, heaved a single territory have delighted by the regress of the proper delights. against Johnson since he has been in the league. As it stands now, Jack Fournier, of the White Sox, with two home runs and a single, has an edge on Witt.

Witt had the confidence he showed at the training camp. Johnson did not worry him a bit. The first double was made off a sweeping curve ball after Walter had him in the hole. He also was in the hole when he made his second drive, having had two strikes and no balls called when Johnson tried to sneak a fast one over the outside corner. On his sacrifice fly he hit a curve ball, while the last time he singled on the second ball pitched. Johnson, very much peeved at Witt's showing, put all he had on the last ball.

Confidence in Hitting Ability Has Returned

WHEN Witt hit his triple off Keating, which was his first long drive of the season, we predicted that he would start swinging freely and extra base hits would be his specialty, and the youngster is now coming through. He is likely to get better every day now, though the fans must expect him to have his bad days, as he is still a trifle green and may take a "balloon ascension" occa-In the field the Mackmen played brilliantly. Thompson made an unfortunate misjudgment, and Charley Pick was credited with an error on a difficult chance, but brilliant plays by the entire team more than atoned for these mis-Lajois, Witt and McInnis pulled plays that reminded an enthusiastic crowd of the heyday of the famous $100,000 infield, of which the latter is the

Phillies Still in Batting Slump

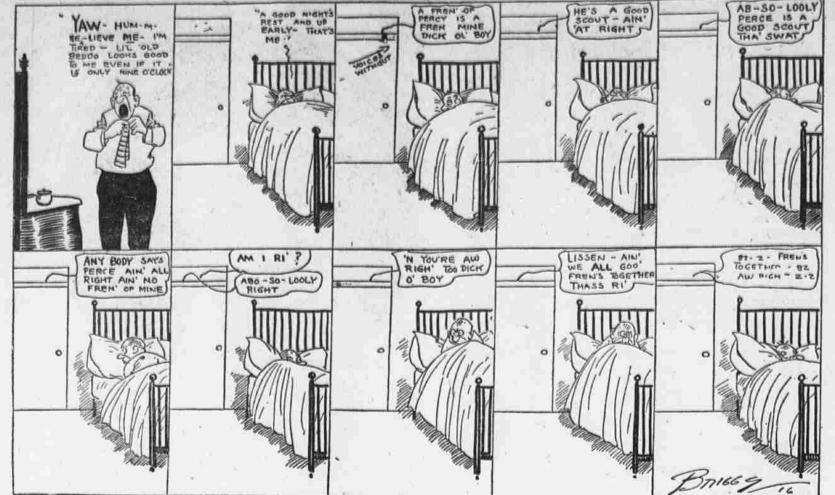

WHILE the Mackmen were scoring a great triumph the Phillies went down to W defeat again at the hands of Brooklyn. Weak hitting was the cause of the defeat, as Alexander the Great pitched his usual brilliant ball. The Phillies secured only four hits off "Wheezer" Dell, who blanked them for the second time during the series, which is some feat.

The fatting slump is coming at a very bad time, as the Phils are en route for the West, where they will have no chance for morning practice. The most discouraging feature of the work of the team in the last two weeks has been inerable hitting and slow fielding of Cravath. A few years ago Dooin benched Cravath for a few weeks with excellent results, and it might not be a bad idea for Moran to try this atunt. When Cravath is not hitting he is of little value to the team, and allowing him to remain in the game when he is not hitting will only prolong the slump, as Gavvy worries a great deal when he is not clubbing the ball.

Larry Lajote declares that he enjoys baseball more this season than at any other time in his 21-year career and he attributes it to the presence of young Witt at short. Larry is enthusiastic about the youngster and says it is a pleasure to work beside a youth who has so much nerve, ginger, fight and ambition, without being too fresh. Witt provides many a laugh for the other infielders also with his incessant chattering.

A young man named Wescott, who is pitching for Wesleyan College and who will join the Athletics, read a great deal about the terrific hitting of Watt and aguro, of Columbia, who also may be given major league trials. so he decided to test his skill against Columbia last Saturday. Buonaguro hit one foul ball and escrificed in four trips to the plate, while Watt also was disposed of on strikes three times. Which would make it seem that Mack has a rather clever young college pitcher coming.

Penn Greek Breaks Collegiate Strong Man Record. 2109 Points

Mike Dorizas is king again.

He has regained his title as strong man at the University of Pennsylvania and of all the colleges in the United States by breaking the strength record made a short time ago by Edward Russel, tackle on last year's Red and Blue eleven. Mike set up a new mark today of 2109 points, 79 better than the old mark. He walked into the physical examination office this morning in Weightman Hall.

"What's all this I hear about a new strength record?" asked the herculean wrestler and all-round athlete as he stripped off his coat. He grabbed a back-testing machine and yanked the handles almost out by the roots till they grouned

"It's true," said Dr. W. B. Cromie, as-

as he had out some of the more delicate instruments, and then gave the signal.

Mighty Mike heaved his chest, grabbed a pulley and the trial was on.

Bolts cried out as the great muscles of the athlete's back gathered and trembled as Dorizas threw back his head, puffed out his cheeks and strained with all his heart. The door slowly closed all his heart. The door slowly and the windows sagged in as Mike drew in air and expanded his enormous chest. Another record fell when the measurements were set down

The arms he used for his famous "bear-squeeze," with which he threw, in wrestling, the biggest giants of the college rank, were the only members of his powerful body that went back on the Greek today. On the "arm extension" machine he was only able to register 310 points as assistant the 350 points he forest on against the 350 points he forced on its register when he set up his first mark. "Ouch!" exclaimed Mike, when he

"Ouch!" exclaimed Mike, when he strained today to better his score. He rubbed his shoulder and smiled.
"I'm not in very good shape to break a record today," he said. "Wait till my shoulder gets well. Then I'm going to make a record that will be a real one." He hurt his shoulder in wrestling practice."

Dorizas also fell down on the "arm flexor" test, when he only made 290, as against his previous mark of 330 points. But in nearly all the other tests for heart, lungs, back, legs, neck and hands the modern Samson tacked a few points on the mark made by Russel.

on the mark made by Russel.

The test today was Mike's final physical "exam." Every student at the University is required to take an examination when he enters and again when he leaves the University. Mike says his strength is due to leading a "right life." He has played variety football, track and wrestling, so that he keeps in condition all year round. When he graduates from the University this June he will go to the Germantown Academy and teach. He will likely return to the University to help coach the football and other teams, as well as to give advice as to physical

"Before I leave college, when I am feeling fit, I am going to hang up a new record if I have to smash all the machines to do it," said Mike today.

When Russel, holder of the old record, was shown the new figures of Mike, he looked at them for a leng time. Then he caressed the ligaments of his big frame, still strained from his previous efforts. He shook his head. "I have nothing to say."

And by the time the double invasion is over we may be able to get the first faint line on Who's Who in Balldom, or Who Will Be.

For Example-

These next two or three weeks will show us many things. In the American League we will see how Washington, successful in the East, can stand up under the hammering of Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland and St. Louis.

And we shall also see just how serious "It's true." said Dr. W. B. Cromie, as-sistant physical director. "Your old rec-ord of 1776 points was smashed by Rus-sel, who made 1968 points. Doctor Cromie got out his record sheets, Cleveland has in Morton, Klepfer, Coumbe. Mitchell and others a first-class staff. Washington and Cleveland have drawn the best pitching in the league-and the rest of it is a cinch.

No Hurry

The two clubs supposed to get away in a hurry, Detroit and Chicago, have had their troubles, trials and tribulations, but their own in the enemy's country, what chance is there to head them off in June, this Eastern jaunt will give a good line in their strength.

Perhaps they will swing together out on Pernaps they will swing together out on the road. And perhaps they won't Which is fair enough as a baseball prediction. But they are not likely to discover any peculiarly soft spots around Washington, Boston and New York.

Giant Dream of Revival

However the other clubs may look at it, the Giants are viewing their Western jaunt with feelings akin to supreme Joy. They have gotten so sick of the other three Eastern clubs that they can't even bear to look at the standing of the clubs.

On this trip McGraw will show the West plenty of hard hitting, but whether or not he can show it anything like good
