CORNELL IS FAVORITE NRACE WITH HARVARD

araity and Freshmen Crews feet on Charles Today. Changes in Seatings AMBHIDGE, Mass., May 20.—The card and Cornell varsity eight-oared a as well as the freshman eights, will on the Charles this afternoon.

on the Charles this afternoon.

In press will go into today's race with inventa-hour change. Andrus, who has rowing at No. 4 in the Cornell varsity has an infected hand, and his place taken by Neims, a man of about the abuild, and weighing 180 pounds.

In shift in the Harvard shell was at ill pesterday it was thought he would be te to row against the Ithacans.

Cornell's varsity erew is a favorite for tay's his race, while the freshman eights a both unknown quantities. The Cornell raity is known to be powerful, but Harrd's craw has been going finely of late, a the Crimson feels that it has a chance win if the Cornell eight shows the least to of smoothness when hitting the stroke ove the $2-to-the-minute mark.

There is no doubt that Harvard has imoved greatly since the race with Princea. Coach Herrick feels that his crew has most an even chance, and that in any sent the race will not be a runaway. He so thinks that if the Harvard shell gets ead at the start it will hold the lead

Beautiful Homes at Bala-Cynwyd

Built by day labor, there is no middleman's profit in the erection of these beautiful homes. Every house different. The plots run from 50 to 75 feet front and 150 feet or more in depth. Architecturally, judged either from the exterior or the interior, these unusual homes will be found not to lack one detail that lends to beauty, comfort or refinement. From the annunciator in the dining room and the main bedroom, connecting with the kitchen, to the tiled bathrooms with the pedestal wash basin of solid porcelain, and the built-in porcelain bath tubs, no detail of high-class building has been overlooked. The houses are in a high-class, exclusive neighborhood, at Latches Lane, Upland Terrace, Union Avenue and Edge Hill Road—in the very prettiest part of Bala-Cynwyd. Come see them today. Take Pennsylvania Railroad to Bala or Cynwyd, or Market Street Elevated to 52d Street—then Bala car to city line—a five-cent fare.
