

ILLUSTRATED

Evening Ledger

WEDNESDAY
May 24, 1916

PICTORIAL SUGGESTIONS FOR CLEAN-UP WEEK, WITH A DASH OF WAR AND A GLIMPSE OF THE SUFFRAGISTS

SOUTH 5TH STREET SHOWS URGENT NEED FOR THE CLEANERS-UP

BAJNBIDGE STREET HEAPS UP ITS PILES FOR THE COLLECTORS

THESE TWO ARE DOING THEIR BIT

KATER STREET CAN BE MADE A CLEANER PLACE FOR THE KIDS TO PLAY IN

GUTTERS RUNNING WITH FOUL WATER DON'T HELP THE LOOKS OF NORTH 9TH STREET

HOSTILITIES RENEWED WITH INCREASED FURY ON THE AUSTRO-ITALIAN FRONT
A detachment of Bersaglieri has just captured in a hut in the Tyrol a wounded man suspected of being an Austrian spy. A bandage is around his head. His small daughter weeps as the Italian soldiers take him away to an unknown fate.

SUFFRAGISTS, WITH BANNERS FLYING, LEAD A CHARGE UP THE CAPITOL STEPS
Returning from a 38-day tour in which they carried the message of the Woman's Congressional Union across the country, this band of feminine agitators stopped at Washington to demand of the lawmakers what they had to say about it.