Spite of Early Morning Bad Weather, the Two Out-ofdoors Affairs Yesterday Proved Extremely Successful—Funny Times at Girls' Camp in Chevy Chase

Verify the ponies ponied and the dolls at the ponies and the dogs dogged and, at the ponies and the dogs dogged and, at the ponies there, everything was lovely and a follows: Mr. Frank Williams, chairman; Miss Mary E. Curran, Miss Katharine Rothrock, Mrs. William H. Woodward, Mr. Rolla W. Westerday. At first, you know, we yesterday. At first, you know, we have proceed the policy of the Overbrook School for the Blind. The committee in charge of the affair is as follows: Mr. Frank Williams, chairman; Miss Mary E. Curran, Miss Katharine Rothrook, Mrs. William H. Woodward, Mr. Rolla Mr. and Mrs. Webster L. Maitland. and the dolls would take cold, to say ing of the animals; and, my dears, phone calls which started in by $:30 ne morning and kept up till noon! my dear, isn't this weather wretched? y you heard whether they are going have the pony show, and what about Woodwards' party; anything doing " So it went. Then Mrs. Wooded called and said, rain or shine, things of proceed there, because much of the ming could be done inside the if the weather made it necessary, then Billy Clothier phoned from his that all was to go on as usual out wynnewood. So our minds were setand we put on our second best frocks hats and shoes and topped them all m rain coats and top coats and sports as and sweaters and off we went. And as crowds at both places—well, as I have garto and once again remarked, where arr all come from and where they get in the money from is a puzzle to me; but per do and it gets, so what I remark the matter is neither here nor there,

FETE TO BE GIVEN IN ANY EVENT OF WEATHER

Preparations for Large Affair at Merion Go on Apace

If it rains tomorrow and Saturday the arge Fete Champetre to be given at Merior for the benefit of the Mater Misericordiae Hospital will be changed from a rustic fete into a delightful indoor affair. The spacious porch of the convent will be trans-formed into an old-fashioned market day fair, while the school dining room will be used as a dainty restaurant, with flower decked tables, and the wide corridors and parlors transformed into delightful little shops, where all sorts of beautiful things will be displayed.

Even if the camel and monkey will not be allowed within the convent walls, the amusement centre will be held in a large room on the main floor. The gipsy tent, wherein Miss Roberta Browning and Miss Charlotte Mulcay will read paints and tell all sorts of delightful things to their visitors will also tors, will also be set up "inside," and the gipsy maids will give a royal welcome to any one who comes their way. But the committee and other prominent women in charge of the affair are hoping for clear skies and real May weather, and with the beautiful school grounds for a setting it would indeed be a shame to hold the fete indoors.

In order that no one will miss the show.

taxies will meet trains at the Merion sta-tion, and 52d street trolley line at the Bala terminus, when for a nominal charge visitors will be carried direct to the con vent gates.

Archbishop Prendergast and other prominent ecclesiastics will visit the fete during the days, the Archbishop expecting to motor out on Friday.

An interesting announcement was made at this week's meeting at Merion when Miss Katherine A. G. Scannell, one of the most active aides at the Market day booth, informed those present that she had per-sonally called upon the Archibshop, Bishop McCort, Monsignor Gerald Coghlan, the Rev. Father Davey, S. J., rector of the Gesu, and President of St. Joseph's College, and secured from each the order for their Saturday's marketing. Orders will be received for marketing even after the fete closes. Orders will also be received for delicious homemade bread, biscuits, cakes and candies. Mrs. Leonard A. Hickley, Mrs. Jo-seph F. Gallagher and Mrs. M. P. Quinn are in charge of the cake and candy booth and will be assisted by a bevy of young girls,

At the cigar and cigarette booth, Mrs.
J. J. Bannon will be assisted by Mrs. Winfield Scharpe, Mrs. Herman Vetterlien, Mrs.
George H. Gilchrist, Mrs. Thomas Brady,
Miss Marie Quinn, Miss Margaret Bannon,
