Worcester Manufacturer and Detroit Man Say Republicans Will Nominate Him

Colonel Roosevelt will get the Republican nomination—that is, if Massachusetts and Michigan qualify as true weathervanes in the political atmosphere, and two representative business men from those States have accurately gauged the situation.

The two men are John Bath, a manufacturer of Worcester, Mass., and R. W. Donahue, of Detroit, who are in this city today.

Mr. Bath said: "There is a belief amounting to conviction in Massachusetts that the next President will be a Republican. I think the majority are strong for the period by the last new considered virtually cosevelt, who is now considered virtually Republican. This is because he is a rm believer in preparedness, and has made this the outstanding issue of the campaign."

Mr. Donahue said: "Michigan has always been a strong Rooseveit State, and there is no doubt that it is so now. There is an undercurrent of antagonism to him. mostly among the members of the 'Old Guard,' but this is not considered of great strength. Ford's aspirations, if he has any, are regarded as a joke. As between Ford and Roosevelt, the Colonel would carry the urban districts and some of the rural districts, and Ford would carry a few of the rural districts. rural districts. There is a strong sentiment for Governor Ferris for President. He is regarded as the Lincoln type of man."

This might permit the convention reaching the business of nominations late on Thursday if the Resolutions Committee can agree upon the platform Wednesday night and Thursday morning. It is not beleved that there will be any great difficulty in reconciling the various elements so far as the platform is concerned. Even the "dyed-in-the-woo!" high-tariff, protection leaders admit that the platform must utter strongly progressive sentiments, and there is no question but that this will be so.
With only 53 contests to be settled, the lowest in many years, it is expected that the National Committee will have the tem-porary roll made up not later than next Saturday. Word reaching Republican headquarters here indicates that all con-vention arrangements are about completed. That the Republicans recognize that the

Business Is Good, However, and Brisk

Traders in virtually all lines, with the exception of cotton yarn, woolen and wholesals grocery dealers, are enjoying unusually good business this week, according to the Weekly Trade Review of R. G. Dun & Co. Cotton yarn dealers and woolen houses are both making excellent sales, however; but the activity is not quite what it was for some months. Wholesale and jobbing grocers report a fair amount of business and collections satisfactory, but retailers are pretty well stocked, which accounts for the quiet tone of the market.

Of other lines of trade, the report says, in part:

Business with the cloak and suit manu-facturers is generally quiet. Shirtwaists manufacturers have had a good season. Manufacturers of boys and children's clothing have had a satisfactory season. Retailers of men's and women's furnish-ings have large stocks on hand, but antici-pate a good summer trade. Schmidt, pitcher of the Fern Rock team, has shown himself to be a wonderful twirler. While only a youngster, he has made a name for himself in the league, and seems to delight in striking out veterans who face him. With a little more training Schmidt will make a great pitcher.

Liyster, formerly of the Pive Points team of the Northeast League, is playing a fast game at second base for Lawndale. He is a partion-larly fast fielder and covers a lot of ground.

Fred Muhi has improved wonderfully at short stop for North Philadelphia this year. His bat ting has also improved, and he can alway be depended upon to hit safely when it out in the Georgia-Alabama League. "Ty was pretty raw material then," he said, "but he could hit, run and throw to beat the band. Dave Robertson and young Sisler both were stars in college and neither required any training or teaching to speak of. Habit and Environment Habit and environment also have their share along sportive ways. On the average you can take first-class batsmen and drop them with the White Sox or Yankees and in about two weeks they will forget how to swing. These clubs always have been light hitting machines and the habit of old days seems to attack newcomers.

Clark Griffith can get pretty good pitching out of any man he finds. Neither the Glants nor the Tigers have any trouble about getting hitters. Ball players come to these two clubs and begin to hit about the time they get settled.

But Januines can' the time they get settled.

But Jennings can't get any pitching, no matter where he goes or what stars he brings to camp. Here is an instance at hand—Lee Magee last season in the Fed circuit outbatted McKetchnie over 60 points. But Magee with the Yanks is under .200, and McKetchnie with the Giants, after a last, hitless start is now 60 minus https:// lean, hitless start, is now 60 points beyond Magee. The Yanks have had good pitching all along, even in their days of woe and sorrow. They still have the pitching. But to figure as flag contenders they must get better hitting. The batting eyes are there beyond a doubt if only the ancient habit can be dispersed.

Harry Spangler, of Wyndmoor, who was seriously indured in the game with La Mott last Saturday and taken to the Jewish Hospital, is rapidly recovering. Spangler slid into second base, his spikes catching in the bag.

Pitchers are seldom good batters, but Sam Cavis, of Jenkintown, is a demon hitter. In the game with Genside last week he collected three safeties. He has made at least two hits in every game he played.

Burgess Andrew Graham, of Jenkintown, has offered a gold trophy to the leading batter of the league. The best game and the most exciting was that played last Saturday between Ambier and Bethayres, when the champs won out by scoring one taily in the sixth session. Several times both teams got men on bases, but brilliant plays mut off runs. Wodock Scholz and Evans, of Ambier, figured in a lightning double play in the third.

The Suburban League has two clubs tied for first places neither the E. G. Budd team nor the North Phillies yet having lost a game.

Riley, the Central High School player and leader in the batting of the interscholastic League, played his first game with the Cholten-him champions last Saturday, and he filled in a weak spot in the team. He got two hits off Bradley.
