THE WEATHER

Official Forecast

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Unsettled tonight and Tuesday, with probably thunder showers; gentle to moderate shifting winds. Showers and thunderstorms covered the middle and north Atlantic States and the Ohio, upper Mississippi and lower Missouri Valleys during the last 24 hours, and con-tinue at a few places in those districts this morning. The rainfall was generally light or moderate. Partly cloudy weather is re-ported from the cotton belt and from the Far Western States. The temperatures are generally above the normal throughout the Eastern half of the country, while seasonable conditions prevail in the Far West. The excess averages about 10 degrees in the Middle Atlantic States.

Kansaa—Fair tonight and probably trenday, not much change in temperature. GRAIN BELT WEATHER FORECAST.

played in the wheat market this morning under renewed selling, because of further the lower market at Liverpool. *

The cash situation also was a bearish factor and there seemed to be a tendency among operators not to go long for over the holiday, owing to the fear of further disturbance of peace rumors.

May opened at $1.06%; a loss of % cents, and then dropped to $1.08%; July started at $1.08% to $1.08%, a drop of 1 cent and then fell % cent further, while September, after initial sales at $1.09% to $1.08%; declined 14 cent. Liverpool cables caused the markets there to be weak on free arrivals and prospects of larger receipts, with increase in stocks. The receipts at Minneapolis and Duiuth today were 463 cars, and at Chicago 100 cars. This day a year ago was a holiday. The receipts at Winnipeg amounted to 1028 cars, compared with 303 cars a year

Corn was % to 1/2c. lower at the opening. The easier tendency was caused by the fav-orable weather for the growing crop and the decline in wheat. The receipts here to day were 148 cars.

Oats started quiet and easier and losses of 吳 % %c. were recorded. Reports from the crop country showed favorable weather. The receipts here today were 232 cars.

Electric Light

The basic discovery of the possibility of electric light was made by Sir Humphry Davy in 1810, but for the next 50 years the developments were solely scientific and no practical use was made of them. In 1862, however, an arc light was installed in a lighthouse at Dungeness, and this is gen-erally believed to be the first electric lamp in regular service.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENT

Choralcello, After Week of Trial at the Tioga, Shows Great Possibilities

By the PHOTOPLAY EDITOR

A new musical instrument, indeed a new method of evolving sound, doesn't happen every day. It has never happened to the movies before. But just now, out at the Tioga Theatre, such an instrument for such a purpose is being successfully demonstrated. It is the choralcello. It is also an organ, a plano, an orchestra, and some things yet unnamed, all rolled into one.

things yet unnamed, all rolled into one.

The most startling thing about the choralcello is not its sound. That is full and beautiful, a combination of organ tones, string, harp, reed and brass, an ordinary piano and a piano indefinitely prolonged in tone. One would almost say that the same effect could be achieved by a very fine organ, a large orchestra of virtuosi and a piano, except that there are qualities in the tones and their lengths that couldn't be produced by that combination. These qualities are novel, and remarkable, but they are not "the" thing.

The real novelty about the choralcello is

they are not "the" thing.

The real nevelty about the choralcelle is the principle of sound production. It achieves its tones, not by percussion—with its resulting qualities and limitations—but by magnetic vibration. Piane wires are vibrated by electric magnets at any speed or violence desired. Heavy bars of iron, similarly vibrated, produce celle effects, while bands of steel throw out remarkable organ qualities. Wood, aluminum, a variety of substances, thus scientifically vibrated, produce other ranges of tones.

Last evening, through the courtesy of Manager Stamper, of the Tioga, a goodly gathering was diverted with a musical program of solos and duets, supported by the choralcello, and by music from the choralcello, and by music from the choral-
