PETTY'S ISLAND TRACT PURCHASED BY CRAMPS

Ship Company May Extend Plant to Unused Land Across River

Plans for transforming Petty's Island, in the Delaware River, from a fallow strip of unused land into a thriving commercial centre took definite shape yesterday in the purchase of 45 acres of the Island by the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Building Company, of Kensington.

Confirmation of the sale was made by H. Birchard Taylor, assistant to Henry S. Grove, president of Cramp's. He said title to the property was taken from the Pensauken Terminal Company, the syndicate headed by George C. Priestley, vice president of the Crew-Levick Company, which took over the Island recently.

According to Mr. Taylor, the Petty's Island purchase was made in line with the expansion program of the company, and was necessitated by Cramp's being unable to extend its facilities on the Kensington side of the river. While the disposition of the land has not yet been decided on, it is understood the company plans to build a large drydock. large drydock.

Immediately following the Cramp purphase came the rumor that an additional plot had been bought by the Crew-Levick Company upon which that company would erect an oil refinery. Officials of the company refused to comment on their part of the transaction last night in view of the fact that both Mr. Priestley and his co-partner in the deal, F. R. Hammitt, were out of town.

Police Court Chronicles

Four men. Four bottles of alcehol.

Four cops.
This was the combination which caused the trouble.

The men bought the alcohol somewhere, no one knew exactly, and took it to a va-cant barn. They drank it until they reached the stage of trying to dance on the ceiling. Then a cow objected and chased them. The cops joined in the chase, too, but lost the Then all is blank.

When the men found themselves again they were sitting on benches in Vernon Park, Germantown, singing. But those who heard it said it wasn't that. The bluecoats, who had lost the trail before, happened along again. They gathered in the quartet after a scuffic and mobilized all before Magistrate Pennock at the Germantown station.

The prisoners gave their names as Bill Dolan, Fred Kess, John White and Joe Smith. Even the uttering of their names was a severe test under the circumstances. They knew vaguely that they were arrested and attempted an explanation which sounded as much like a lot of wild turkeys in a boiler shop as anything fise.

Dolan and Kess collapsed from their own exertions. They were sent to the Philadelphia Hospital.

Smith, when he soberd a little, said that the alcohol was found near a drug store. He declined to become more specific and wanted to sing.

As the guests at the House of Correction

As the guests at the House of Correction frequently complain of the lack of amusement there, the judge sent Smith and White there fo entertain them until July 9.
