ATLANTIC CITY GUESTS WHILE AWAY RAINY DAY AT HOTEL FUNCTIONS

Card Parties, Impromptu Musicales and Other Entertainments Delight Visitors When Weather Is Capricious

BRIGHT WEEK PREDICTED

ATLANTIC CITY, June 8.—Even if the ain falleth alike on the just and the unust the visitors to this resort at times weljust the visitors to this resort at times welcome a storm—provided it does not last too long. It gives them a chance to shirk social duties and attend to neglected correspondence and minor things that are forgotten when social galeties prevail. Although the rain yesterday prevented promenading on the Beardwalk, there was no gloom in the big hotels, for card parties, impromptu musicales and other entertainmonts were healthy planned to while away impromptu musicales and other entertainments were hastily planned to while away the hours by those who had to stay indoors. It was a northeast storm, much dreaded here, and although its official designation was "a secondary development of the storm that caused so much damage in the South," it did not develop to any great extent. Happily it has blown over now and clear sunshiny June days are predicted for the rest of the week.

When it raise here the "weather map"

When it rains here the "weather map" on the Boardwalk is visited and studied carefully by hundreds of visitors. They all want to see how the weather is in their own home town and they study the conditions carefully and seem to be happy when the rest of the country is getting a downpour or even light showers.

Dancing contests seem to be the rage at certain hotels and on the piers. Prizes of silver cups and frequently cash prizes are given to the successful contestants at these affairs, and as each couple of dancers have numerous friends who "root" for them, these events are financial successes. Last night a novelty was given at one of the piers. It was a jitney dancing contest, the prizes being 500 tickets, good for rides on any of the litney busses running in this city. There was a goodly crowd present, and the contests were as spirited as if the prizes were of solid gold.

When anything objectionable bothers the residents of this city they make a strong kick, and in most cases the objections are quickly removed. The cottagers and resi-dents of Chelsea have been much annoyed by the fumes and black smoke coming from a huge furnace, used for the melting of asphalt. Yesterday they made complaint to the authorities and today the plant was re-moved to another part of the island. After the city crematory had been re-moved to Crab Island and the incineration of all refuse started there, with the ma-chinery formerly used at the city plant, the courts have declared that the new contractors obtained the contract illegally. It is a tangle which will take lawyers some time to untwist, but in the meantime the plant will continue at the new stand, as every one here is in favor of it.

The Boardwalk will receive better police protection this year than ever before, al-though it is a well-known fact that there is much less disorder on that great highway, with its millions of promenaders in the summer, than in any city in the world. In the years gone by there was no distinc tive head of the men who patrolled the Boardwalk. Now a man has been ap-pointed to take entire charge of the force on duty. Walter Holvick, the man who has been given the new position, is a detective who has been on duty on the Boardwalk for many years and who understands thoroughly how crowds should be handled.

Many conventions are scheduled for the rest of this month and they will add to the big crowds here. The Shield of Honor, a fraternal insurance order, is now holding its convention. The members of the New York Bankers' Association arrived here late last night and will be in convention for two days, ending with a banquet on Friday night. The big convention and exposition of the Master Mechanics and Car Builders begins next week. Inasmuch as the delegates to all these conventions bring their wives and families with them, it means much to the city just before the maddening rush of the summer comes.

To celebrate the first anniversary of the opening of the Hotel Traymore, a ball will be given to the attaches of that hotel next Monday night. More than 1000 people will be present. Preliminary work on the new million-dollar addition to that hotel has been started.

Mr. and Mrs. James Connelly, of West Chestnut street, have taken possession of their Chelsea cottage and will remain until

Mrs. Anna B. Addis, of South Broad street, has taken apartments for the summer, and will entertain extensively during her stay here.

United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, is here for an extended stay and will not attend the Democratic national convention this year, although he will be in close touch with the leaders of the party at all times. With his wife he is comfortably located at a beachfront

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hope, of Philadelphia, are here for a three months' stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland S. Morris and children, of Spruce street, are at their Chelsea cottage for the summer.

Widespread interest was taken today in Widespread interest was taken foday in the announcement that the Rockefeller Foundation will soon establish a "School of Public Health" at some university in the East, as it is believed that the merger of the medical departments of the University of Pennsylvania, Jefferson Medical College and the Medico-Chirurgical College will lead to the building of the institution here.

This will be in line with the amalgamated effort to again place Philadelphia in its former position of eminence as the foremost medical centre in America.

The Rockefeller Foundation Committee has had the University of Pennsylvania under consideration for some time, and it is believed that the tripartite amaignmation will clinch the matter.
