MEDICO-CHI ENDS UNDERGRADUATE SCHOOL CAREER

Commencement Today Last Before Merger With Jeff and Penn

DEGREES GRANTED TO 229

The passing of the Medico-Chirurgical College as a separate undergrasiuate school of medicine, dentistry and pharmacy was marked today by the graduation of the largest class in its history. The 35th annual commencement was held at noon in the Academy of Music, after which the institution lost its present identity and next fall will be merged with the University of Pennsylvania and the Jefferson Medical College as the graduate school of the merged institution.

The building at 17th and Cherry streets is directly in the path of the Parkway and will be razed. All of the legal articles in the merger have been prepared and are awaiting signature by representatives of the three institutions involved.

DEGREES FOR 229.

Degrees were conferred on 228 grad-untes today, 83 of whom are in medicine, 78 in dentistry, 55 in pharmacy and 12 in pharmacoutic chemistry and one degree of doctor of pharmacy was conferred on a post-graduate student. The doctorate ora-tion was delivered by former Justice of the Superior Court W. W. Porter.

David Milne, president of the board of trustees of the college, presided and con-ferred the degrees. The Rev. Dr. David M. Steele, rector of the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany offered the invocation and beneficion.

The graduates were presented for their degrees by the deans of the various departments, as follows: Medical, Dr. Seneca Egbert; dentistry, Dr. I. N. Broomell; pharmacy and chemistry, Dr. George H. Meeker.

Included among the 229 who received degrees are students from every quarter of the globe. Sukumar Basu is from India. Guillermo Castellanos from Mexico. Juan S. Font from Porto Rico, Shahin Movses Shahinian is from Asia Minor, and Leopoldo S. Vaccaro from Italy. All of the foregoing are medical students. In the deatal department Victor J. Baynes is a native of Bombay, India, where his brother, a recent Medico-Chi graduate, is now practicing; Rigoberto Blanco, Jr., is from Bolivia, in South America; J. Mamimiliano Ricardo is from the Dominican Republic, and three young dentists are from Cuba, Alonso G. Alfaro, Jose M. Roposo and Rodriguez Guillerno. Thirty Companies and Dozen Visiting Over From Montgomery Gather at Perkasie PERKASIE, Pa., June 9.- Delegates PERKASIE. Pa., June 2.—Delegates from 35 fire companies of Bucks County assembled here today in the third annual convention of the Bucks County Firemen's Association, which will continue until tomorrow night. The first business of the convention is the election of officers. The election this year is awaited with unusual interest, for Oscar Heyer, of Southampton, who has been president of the body for a number of years, refuses to run again. Instead, he is a candidate for the post of fire marshal. Because of this there are a number of applicants for the presidency.

As a result of an enthusiastic meeting of the directors of the orchestra, held at the Bellevue-Stratford yesterday, it was de-cided, in view of the co-operation suggested by the younger set, to form that element of music-loving Philadelphians into a junior adjunct to the main body of guar-antors.

Miss Frances A. Wistar, chairman of the Women's Committee, has been ap-pointed to take charge of the details in-voived in the organization of this younger Interest manifested by the general in the plan for the permanent endowment of the great musical institution of Philadelphia is growing daily, according to the directors. To permit others than the guaranters themselves to share in the foundation it has been decided to ask popular characteristics to the endowment fund. If Interest manifested by the general public subscriptions to the endowment fund. If the $500,000 aimed at is secured, the books may not be closed, but a total of $750,000 or even $1,000,000 may be attempted.

The guarantors themselves are entering into the campaign with great spirit. Only four days have been devoted to the canvass, and only about one-third of the 31s guarantors have been heard from in response to the appeal for increased subscriptions. Most of these have subscripted themselves. Most of these have subscribed themselves voluntarily to contribute annual donations from 40 to 50 per cent. higher than their former donations

An underwriting syndicate, composed for An underwriting syndicate, composed for the most part of directors of the Orchestra, has been organized, and the 24 directors themselves have been formed into a com-mittee to obtain popular subscription. The meeting yesterday, at which Alex-ander Van Rensselaer presided and acted as host at the ensuing luncheon, threw no light on the identity of the approximate light on the identity of the anonymous donor who has consented to make good the running expense of the Orchestra during the five-year period allotted for the raising of the endowment. So far as learned, Mr. Van Rensselaer and Leopold Stokowski, and the donor himself, are the only persons who know the name of this munificent patron of the Orchestra who has voluntarily shouldered a yearly finan-cial burden of $50,000 to $75.000 that Philadelphia's musical prestige might be main

Arthur Judson, manager of the orchestra says he has no idea of the donor's identity. He adds: "Every one is going out for more guarantors. Cyrus H. K. Curtis, Edward Bok, Mr. Van Rensselaer and others have pledged themselves to increase the number of supporters. There are many per-sons who, while not guarantors, are interested in the orchestra. We will appeal to them."
